SEE TAX COST OF 'SECURITY' OVER BILLION A YEAR

Federal Aid Alone to Be 500 Millions.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 14.—[Special.]—With the Townsendites definitly routed, the battle in the house on the economic security bill will be confined, it developed today, to the system of compulsory old age benefits for which employers and employés would be taxed eventually 1 billion 200 million dollars a year.

The Republicans will concentrate their attack on this feature of the measure, contending that the compulsory old age benefit system is unconstitutional; that it would be so great a burden to industry and labor as possibly to retard recovery.

Under the terms of the bill the federal aid to the state systems of gratuitous old age pensions would cost the federal treasury eventually 500 millions a year.

Taxes Employer and Employé.

Federal taxes to maintain the federal system of compulsory old age benefits would be levied on employés, beginning at 200 millions in 1937 and rising to 600 millions in 1949, and on employers in the same amounts.

To maintain the state unemployment insurance systems federal taxes would be levied on employers only, beginning at 200 millions in 1936 and rising to 600 millions in 1949.

The total annual levy of excise taxes on industry and labor for all purposes under the bill would begin at 200 millions in 1936 and rise to 1 billion 800 millions in 1949 and thereafter.

The house is now in process of passing the administration bill establishing these systems for mitigating the shock of future depressions. Under the terms of this measure the federal government and the states would enter into a coöperative arrangement to provide pensions for persons 65 years of age or over and unemployment relief for persons who lose their jobs.

In addition there is to be federal aid for state care of dependent children, for maternal and child health, for crippled children, for child welfare, for vocational rehabilitation, and for public health.

49¾ Millions First Year.

Out of a total appropriation of 91½ millions for economic security for the next fiscal year the bill authorizes federal aid to the states for old age assistance amounting to 49¾ millions. With the number of aged persons steadily increasing, a fully developed system of old age assistance, it is calculated, will cost the federal government and the states 1 billion dollars by 1960. For old age assistance the federal government is to match the donations by the states up to $15 a month per person.

That is, if a state pays an aged person $10 a month, the federal government will add $10, so that the beneficiary will receive $20 a month. If the state pays $20 a month, the federal government will add $15, making a total of $35 a month.

This federal aided state system of gratuitous old age pensions will provide care for those who are now old and dependent. But to assure support for the aged as a right instead of charity there is provided an exclusively federal system of old age benefits to be paid monthly to every person 65 or more years old in an amount proportionate to the total amount of wages received by him before attaining the age of 65.

Begin in January, 1942.

The payment of these benefits is to begin Jan. 1, 1942. A person who is then 65 years old and no longer employed, whose pay has averaged $50 a month for five years, would receive $15 a month for the remainder of his life. A $250 a month man would receive $25 a month. Those who are now young, however, would receive larger benefits by the time they are eligible. Thus a person now 20 years old, who works the next 45 years for an average of $50 a month, would retire on $35 a month. Or if his pay should average $250 a month he would retire on $85 a month.

The old age benefits are to be financed from taxes imposed equally on employers and employés. Beginning with 1937, the employé would pay 1 per cent of his wages and the employer 1 per cent of his pay roll into the federal fund for old age benefits. For the wage earner and the employer the tax would rise gradually until in 1949 and thereafter it would

POST REACHES LAFAYETTE, IND., ON FLIGHT EAST

Supercharger Quits in 8 Hours.

Lafayette, Ind., April 14.—(AP)—Wiley Post's third attempt to crack the transcontinental airplane speed record by way of the stratosphere ended here today when, plagued by supercharger trouble, he brought the Winnie Mae down on Purdue university airport.

Streaking away from the Burbank Union air terminal at 7:27½ a. m. Chicago time, Post averaged 231.48 miles an hour, landing here at 3:40 p. m., having been in the air 8 hours 12½ minutes.

Over this college community the sturdy ship which has set around the world marks failed him. After circling the university field four or five times Post came down on a six foot skid attached to the bottom of his plane's fuselage in what airport attachés termed a "sweet landing."

Landing Gear Dropped.

Post had dropped his landing gear just after his California takeoff to cut wind resistance to a minimum.

"Get my hat off," were Post's first words. He was wearing a visored aluminum helmet and a 16 pound rubber fabric suit in which he received oxygen.

"Will you try again?" he was asked.

"I don't know," Post replied. "I don't want to talk about it at all."

More than 150 Purdue university students and townspeople jammed around the plane. Souvenir hunters displayed a bit of paint they had scratched off the ship. Within a short time trafic was tangled for blocks about the field.

Mechanism Is Damaged.

Post said a clutch on one of his superchargers was stripped. He remained at the field for some time superintending the placing of wooden skis on the wheel-less ship so it could be stowed into a hangar. He indicated he would remain here awaiting arrival of landing gear to be fitted on the ship.

Post told those who helped him out of his flying togs that he was somewhere between Cincinnati and Chicago when the trouble in the supercharger developed. He turned back, intending to land at Chicago, then remembered the Lafayette airport.

The erstwhile Oklahoma farm boy who established two around the world marks carried no radio sending equipment in his plane and was not heard from or seen from the time of his takeoff until he was forced down.

Depends Upon Radio.

He flew through the stratosphere at an average altitude of approximately 33,000 feet. He depended mainly on a radio receiving set for plotting his 900 mile course by tuning in broadcasting stations.

The flight was designed to test the feasibility of superspeed air mail and express flights across the continent above weather disturbances. Roscoe Turner set the present west-east transcontinental record of 10 hours and 2 minutes in Sept., 1934.

Post was forced down Feb. 22 in the Mojave desert 125 miles out of Burbank by motor trouble which later he alleged was caused by sabotage. On his second attempt to set a coast-to-coast record he came down at Cleveland because of depletion of his oxygen supply.

Flying Conditions Bad.

Post said flying conditions today were unusually bad. Despite a barrage of questions thrown at him continuously, he refused to comment on anything except to say he probably would stay here for three or four days.

On this trip Post carried 150 pounds of mail. The Winnie Mae's two superchargers enabled the Wasp engine to maintain its full rating of 550 horse power up to 30,000 feet. Above that there is a gradual falling off in power.

The stratosphere, in general, is a dry rarefied layer of atmosphere within which the temperature decreases very little with increasing altitude, and there are no storms. Post believes because of this freedom from atmospheric disturbances found at the lower levels that aviators in the future will fly to great heights to reach a maximum of efficiency.

Bar Jubilee Use of King's $16,000,000 Tableware

LONDON, April 14.—(AP)—Guests at a state banquet in Buckingham palace May 6 in honor of the king's jubilee will not eat off the king's famous gold dinner service after all. It has been decided that the service, which with the rise in the price of gold is now worth approximately $16,000,000, is too valuable to risk its getting scratched up. Instead it will be placed on exhibition in the banquet hall for the guests to admire while dining off more prosaic china.

THE HOG TROUGH OF WASHINGTON

45 Mile Gale and Cold End Balmy Sunday

A 45 mile an hour gale blew in from the northwest late last night, bringing colder weather and driving spring to cover at the end of the first warm day of April, which drew out thousands of Chicagoans to the parks and boulevards. By early morning temperatures near freezing will prevail, according to Forecaster C. A. Donnel. He predicted cool weather would continue today and tonight, but expected that by tomorrow the mercury would begin to rise. After that no more cold is in sight.

At midnight the temperature at the Municipal airport weather bureau was 40. The mercury reached its highest point of 64 at 2 p. m., the first time this month it has exceeded normal. After the sun set the mercury fell slowly to 56 at 10 o'clock. In the next forty minutes, as the wind whipped around to the northwest, the mercury dropped seven degrees.

Wind Smashes Glass.

Attendants at the airport said the wind maintained sustained velocities of 35 and 45 miles an hour, with gusts as high as 53. A 50 mile an hour recording was taken from the anemometer at the Tribune Tower, just as a plate glass window in the tower public service office was blown in.

The cold yesterday was general through the northwest and was reaching down into the middle west. At St. Paul high winds and the cold dropped the mercury 31 degrees in six hours. Blowing down into southeast Wisconsin, they drove the quicksilver at Milwaukee to 34 at 11 p. m.

Park police reported the heaviest trafic of the year. On the highways outside the city, county policemen found their work cut out for them at the busy intersections.

Zoos Attract Thousands.

Extra police were needed to keep a crowd of 10,000 at the Lincoln Park zoo in order. An equally large crowd filled the Zoölogical gardens at Brookfield.

West parks police estimated some 35,000 persons, most of them children, visited Humboldt, Douglas, Columbus and Garfield parks. Attendance at the Easter lily show in the Garfield Park conservatory was placed at 20,000, and several thousand also viewed the flower show at Washington park.

DALL DENIES HE'LL MARRY EX-WIFE OF ELLIOTT ROOSEVELT

New York, April 14.—(AP)—The Daily News quotes Curtis B. Dall, former son-in-law of President Roosevelt, as denying a reported romance with Mrs. Elizabeth Donner Roosevelt, former wife of Elliott Roosevelt.

"Why, I haven't seen Betty in two years," Dall was quoted as saying. He added, according to the Daily News, that he found himself "in the embarrassing position of denying an engagement to a charming girl."

Dall's mother, Mrs. Charles A. Dall, also was quoted by the Daily News as denying the romance, explaining that her son and the former Betty Donner are "very good friends because they were in the same family."

Dall was divorced by the former Anna Roosevelt at Reno last July. She married John Boettiger shortly afterward. Elliott Roosevelt and the former Elizabeth Donner were divorced in Nevada in 1933. He has remarried.

TRAPPED BY FIRE, POLICEMAN LEAPS 3 STORIES; DIES

Policeman Edwin Peppard, 30 years old, of the Marquette station, was fatally injured early today when he leaped from the fourth floor of a burning tenement building at 1207-09 South Damen avenue. He had been trapped in a corner of the building by the flames after he had assisted other policemen in routing out thirty residents, all of whom escaped unscathed.

A 4-11 alarm was sounded for the fire, officials fearing that the 45 mile wind sweeping over the city might spread the blaze to other structures in the vicinity. After a fight of an hour it was announced that the flames were under control and that the damage had been confined to the third and fourth floors of the building.

The flames, breaking through the roof, were sighted by Peppard and Policemen Joseph Carroll and Frank Janousek, his squad partners. They ran into the building and were joined a minute or so later by two other policemen, Arthur Richter and Frank Braddock.

All ran to the top floor and found the flames raging on the south side. The residents were roused and all but Peppard ran for the stairs. He was trapped in the front of the building. Richter said he saw Peppard's clothes catch fire and that he leaped through the window just before firemen put up their ladders.

Peppard was taken to the County hospital, where he died two hours later. He was married and resided at 4817 Cortez street.

The tenants of the building were mostly Negroes and Mexicans. The loss was estimated at $5,000.

Ransom Trap Set in Vain for Boy's Kidnaper

Thirty government agents and several squads of police abandoned, at 8 a. m. yesterday, a fifteen hour vigil they had maintained over a dummy package that had been placed near California and North avenues in the hope that a ransom note author who wrote that he had possession of Richard Max Perrot, 4 years old, would attempt to seize it.

The boy has been missing since April 4. The note was received by his father, Max Perrot, 4110 Maplewood avenue, on Wednesday. It demanded a ransom of only $150 and bore some marks of having been written by a crank. On the slight chance that the writer might really have the boy, however, the watch was established.

Passerby Stumbles Into Trap.

Following orders in the note, the dummy package was placed near a vacant concession stand at the entrance to Humboldt park. It was untouched through the night. At about 7 a. m. it was picked up by Edward Munson, 70 years old, 513 North State street. He convinced the police that he took the package only out of curiosity, as he left a nearby café in which, he said, he had been playing cards all night.

Slight hope was held last night by the investigators that Richard would be found alive, the general opinion being that the note was a hoax.

Since the boy's disappearance there had been a persistent theory that he was kidnaped and held prisoner by a moron. Several witnesses reported that on the day Richard vanished from home they saw him walking with a tall, thin, shabbily dressed man.

Drowning Theory Gains Support.

Most of the police were inclined yesterday to believe that Richard was drowned in the north branch of the river. Playmates of the boy told of seeing him fall in, but retracted this story. Police dogs, which were put on the trail of the lad on Friday, all followed his tracks to the river bank and then quit.

Yesterday four police dogs followed a trail that led from the child's home to the river bank through the back yard of Albert Braswell, 2558 Aubert avenue. Braswell told Sergt. James Giblin that at noon on the day Richard left home he and another boy went through Braswell's yard to the nearby north branch.

Sees French Army Train for War at Rhine

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

METZ, France, April 14.—Down from Paris on the blue train—so called from the uniforms of the passengers—headed for the frontier which has become the front as wartime atmosphere sets in at the Gare de l'Est!

The new Gare de l'Est is not the grimy station the American doughboys knew, but the good-bys are the same. While we were making ours a troop train slipped by with men hanging out of the windows. They were waving and shouting.

In my wooden third class coach uniforms are in the majority. My fellow passengers are conscripts called back from leaves to join their outfits on the eastern frontiers. They are quite glum about the extra three to six months' service ahead of them according to their classes.

Soldiers Leave Train at Nancy.

They stare sullenly out of the windows as the sodden fields of Marne and Meuse departments roll by. To the conscripts Meaux, Château Thierry, Bar-le-Duc, Chalons are just names on stations.

At Nancy the soldiers scramble for the doors. The rest file out at Luneville, a big garrison town and junction point.

The next stop is Strasbourg, asleep under a Gothic moon, and the end of the first lap for me and Rosalie. Rosalie is a bike.

By 9 o'clock the next morning I am following the brewery trucks through the cobbled streets of Schiltigheim, headed north on a 150 mile swing along the frontiers of the former German territory of Alsace-Lorraine. Slipping through a horseshoe chain of forts guarding Strasbourg, I roll into the open country just in time to see a company of soldiers deploying in the field. They are learning how to defend the approaches to the forts in case of a sudden attack from across the river.

Women Work in Fields.

For 40 miles the road runs through level orchard land, paralleling the Rhine. Women are working in the fields because young Wilhelm, who wears a French uniform despite his name, will not be back in time to help with the spring planting.

I have lunch at the village inn at Herrlisheim, looking across the flats at the blue ridges of the Black Forest on the other side of the Rhine. Near the village of Buenheim a turreted casemate bristles with guns, rising from a plowed field. There is another straight ahead and a third at the edge of a forest.

This is where the main line of fortifications slants down to the Rhine. The casemates are surrounded by what at first appear to be vineyards, but on closer inspection turn out to be new barbed wire. The forts are occupied night and day. A sentry with a helmet and bayoneted rifle stands on guard at one of the casemates.

Two machine guns jut through a slot aimed at the Rhine. The barbed wire, fifty yards deep on both sides of the dugout, bars the approach. Alongside a road are spiked chevaux-de-frise.

Farm House Billets.

Five miles farther on, at the village of Buenheim, a company of bicycle soldiers, newly arrived, is billeted in farm houses.

At Lauterbourg the frontier turns

EUROPE'S 'BIG 3' POWERS UNITE TO AVERT WAR

Adopt Program and Arraign Germany.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

STRESA, Italy, April 14.—The prime ministers of England, France and Italy concluded their four day conference here today with the issuance of a seven point resolution. It embodies a readjusted program for maintaining peace and limiting armaments in Europe, and also soundly arraigns Nazi Germany for undermining public confidence and shaking world hopes for a peaceful order.

The resolution proclaims the solidarity of the three western powers and emphasizes their complete unity of views on the steps which are to be taken to confront the condition arising from Germany's unilateral repudiation on March 16 of the military clauses of the Versailles treaty. According to statements made after the closing session of the conference the world war allies believe they have regained the initiative now in maneuvering with Germany, and that their solidarity is such as to promise tranquility for the future in Europe.

Points in Peace Program.

The peace program of the resolution, based on the salvaged Anglo-French proposals issued on Feb. 3, is briefly as follows:

FIRST—The pursuit of a common line of conduct before the league of nations in discussing the French appeal against the German treaty violation.

SECOND—The negotiation of an eastern European security pact on the basis of recent information given Sir John Simon, British foreign secretary.

THIRD—To strengthen the position of Austria.

FOURTH—To proceed with the negotiation of an air convention.

FIFTH—The regulation of armaments.

SEVENTH—To oppose by all practicable means any unilateral repudiation of treaties.

Plan Five Power Pact.

With regard to the air pact, the resolution says the powers agreed to continue a study of the question with a view to drafting a five power pact including England, Italy, France, Germany and Belgium. It also adds that in addition bilateral agreements between certain signatories might also accompany the pact.

Accompanying the seven point peace program of the former allies is also an Anglo-Italian declaration in which the London and Rome governments reaffirm all the obligations assumed under the Locarno pact of 1925. The two nations declare it is their intention to fulfill them if need arises. This reaffirmation by England and Italy is said to be a warning to Germany that both powers are behind France in opposing any Nazi attempt to refortify the demilitarized zone in the Rhineland—that is, between the Rhine river and the French frontier.

Permit Increase in Arms.

The resolution setting forth the new directives for peace on a basis of the altered conditions brought about by Germany's jumping over the traces and resuming military conscription announces that the three powers are considering readjustments of the peace treaties limiting the arms of Austria, Hungary and Bulgaria. These countries will be permitted to increase their armaments in accordance with the advocacy of Premier Mussolini of Italy.

But the statesmen, in view of the French insistence, decided that diplomatic exchanges must first be had with the little entente [Jugo-Slavia, Czechoslovakia and Rumania]. They suggested that any increase of armament of these Balkan states in order to resist expanding Pan-Germanism in their direction should come about by mutual agreement and on a basis of regional security pacts.

The final declaration of the resolution, which constitutes point number seven in the peace program, stresses the anxiety which Germany's repudiation of the Versailles treaty had caused in Europe. It pledges the three countries to "oppose by all practicable means any unilateral repudiation of treaties which may endanger the peace of Europe," and announces that all will act in close cordial collaboration.

Anxiety Is Emphasized.

The language used in arraigning Germany as a treaty breaker is considered strong, perhaps stronger than England had been expected to indorse. It betrays the anxiety, particularly on the part of the British and French, about Reichsfuehrer Adolf

Hitler's far reaching pretensions to build up Germany's military strength as announced to the British foreign secretary in Berlin.

Hitler said he wanted an army of 550,000 men, a navy which is 35 per cent of the size of Britain's, and air parity with France and England.

After referring to German repudiation of treaty clauses at the moment when a friendly negotiation for a settlement of armament parity was about to be undertaken, the resolution asserts that Hitler and his government are responsible for halting the progress which was about to be realized toward arms limitation

Hopes Shaken by Nazi Action.

The resolution says:

"The magnitude of the declared program of German rearmament, already well in process of execution, has invalidated the quantitative assumptions on which efforts for disarmament had hitherto been based, and has shaken the hopes by which those efforts were inspired."

The resolution states that despite this changed condition in Europe, however, England, France, and Italy are earnest in their desire to sustain peace by establishing a sense of security and are ready to join every practicable effort for an agreement on arms limitation.

To Premier Mussolini the conference was an uncontested accomplishment, for in the third point of the peace program he put over his insistence on building higher bulwarks around Austrian independence.

Another Parley in Rome.

The three powers reaffirmed past declarations in favor of Austrian independence as already announced, and called a subsequent conference to be held in Rome May 20 to give effect to the Danube security pact.

Curiously, Hitler's promise in a telegram to Simon on Friday that he would sign a nonaggression pact even if other signatories had mutual assistance pacts in addition to it, was dismissed with a three line statement which said that it would be a good thing to continue the negotiations for an eastern security pact.

This probably is because of Hitler's explanations yesterday that he really had promised nothing very new, and also because any development of his offer to sign such a pact would be neglected diplomatically.

In the British delegation it was emphasized that the resolution contained no new commitments for Britain. But at the same time, the British pointed out that Germany need not expect that the maneuverings to split the three European powers which fought her in the war would succeed.

Mussolini Is Jubilant.

"England is not changing friends," British circles said. "She is sticking to her old friends, but she wants to enlarge the circle."

Mussolini in plain black clothes appeared jubilant when he returned to the mainland from Isolla Bella about 1 o'clock after the final session ended.

He, Prime Minister MacDonald, and Simon were luncheon guests of Premier Pierre-Etienne Flandin and Foreign Minister Pierre Laval of France.

"The work of the conference must be considered with satisfaction," Mussolini said after the luncheon. "The vigilant, watchful, and active solidarity of the three powers is such as to secure tranquility and peace in Europe."

France to Keep Big Army.

Laval, in another statement, emphasized that France would have to keep a strong army under present circumstances.

"We have successfully finished our work," he said. "We are maintaining peace with much sacrifice. France must still keep strong and the French people must remain firm, and above all we must have confidence."

"I am glad the conference is over and especially glad it has been so successful. We have demonstrated our solidarity," MacDonald said. "It was not merely diplomatic solidarity but also a demonstration of our purpose to insure the peace of Europe. I believe the conference has made a lasting contribution to the solution of that problem."

The delegations began leaving Stresa immediately after luncheon. Mussolini returned to his country seat at Rocca Caminato, near Forli. Laval and Simon went to Geneva for tomorrow's meeting of the league council, which will hear France's appeal against Germany's violation of the peace treaty. Flandin and MacDonald left for Paris.

League Will Act on France's Protest Against Nazis Today

[Copyright: 1935: By the Associated Press.]

GENEVA, April 14.—France warned the world against a "reign of force" in protesting Germany's rearmament to the league of nations today as the league council assembled to decide what shall be done about it.

No specific penalty against Berlin was demanded in the French document, but it suggested application of sanctions to future violators of the Versailles treaty. A united front, Paris warned, must be maintained against treaty repudiators if the world is to be kept from war.

Seek United Front for Peace.

Despite the French memorandum and a document adopted by three powers at Stresa, the keynote here on the eve of the council meeting was that of a united front for peace rather than a united front against Germany.

Both the French appeal to the league here and the communique at Stresa are deemed as constituting urgent bids to Germany to participate in binding European peace arrangements. Both, too, are seen here as emphasizing the need for accords that must be lived up to if Europe would avert a reign of force.

The reaffirmation of Britain and Italy at Stresa that they will fulfil their pledges under the Locarno treaty to guarantee peace on the Rhine is considered a powerful influence in Europe's efforts to prevent war.

The Locarno agreement, formulated just ten years ago, entails military assistance from Britain and Italy in the event of unprovoked aggression upon Germany.

Likewise, should France be attacked, Rome and London are also pledged to go to her assistance. The aggressor is to be determined by the league.

Calls Situation "Grave."

France, in her memorandum, stigmatized Germany's act as a threat to international order and said the league council should "consider the most suitable measures for remedying the situation thus created."

France characterized the situation as grave and expected that the league council "will take decision concerning the present state of affairs to safeguard the future."

The prevailing view in Geneva tonight is that while France attacks Germany's action, she leaves the door wide open for negotiations with Germany.

The council is expected to appoint jurists or a council committee to study methods for dealing with any future treaty repudiation. League officials expressed the belief that an agreement could be formulated to interpret the league covenant so that a nation violating a treaty could be isolated economically and financially just as war debt nations would be.

BERLIN STRIKES BACK

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, April 14.—The French memorandum to the league of nations council evoked a prompt and scornful official communique in Berlin today. It said:

"If France believes it is necessary to recall the obligations forced on Germany one need only to recall France's solemn and voluntary obligations in the Locarno protocol to take immediate steps toward disarmament.

"The statements of the French ministers for years revealed that France never seriously intended to carry out the disarmament obligations."

Doubts Paris Assertion.

As to the obligations Germany assumed when she joined the league, Germany recovered freedom of action when not a shadow of hope was left that the other nations intended loyally to take steps to realize the military statute, the communique states.

The communique doubts the honesty of the French disarmament professions, pointing to Frances' millions of trained reserves and the activities of French armament works.

Girl Flyers Seek Training for Service in War Time

A proposal that the government establish a training school for women pilots in order that women may serve as observation pilots in time of war, was made yesterday by the Chicago Girls Flying club at the instance of Miss Mable Cunningham, 2252 West 111th place. Miss Alice Adamec, 2119 South 57th court, Cicero, is president of the club, which consists of twenty licensed aviatrices. Four stewardesses of commercial airlines out of Chicago also propose that women be trained by the government for observation work.

SEES FRENCH TROOPS TRAIN FOR WAR NEAR RHINE

west, leaving the Rhine to become a German river. Wissembourg, picturesque resort town in the Vosges mountains, is filled with soldiers. I halt there for the night.

I tackled the Vosges this morning. For five miles I pedaled upwards steadily, and then coasted twenty miles down a hairpin forest road inside the German border most of the time. At Bitche there is an artillery range.

Here in a no man's land of shaved hill tops honeycombed with under, ground fortresses and with fields bristling with barbed wire hundreds of French soldiers are living under war time conditions a pistol shot away from the German border. New barracks are under construction.

Trenches Being Dug.

At Bitche I hired an automobile because of the heavy rain. Out of Bitche the road crawls through a line of dugouts along the crest of the hills. Everywhere barbed wire has been laid or is being laid. My driver said that in some positions trenches are being dug to support fortresses.

At Rohrbach the line of fortifications apparently fades away, leaving a hole about twenty miles wide. This supposition was confirmed by lines of finished dugouts which are being burrowed into the hilltops as far as the eye can reach.

Because of this breach in the line of fortifications, the villages between Rohrbach and Sarreguemines are strongly garrisoned and defensive positions are being established wherever there is cover. In one village the soldiers apparently are billeted in every house. Sentries with fixed bayonets patrol the streets.

Beyond Sarreguemines the line of fortifications swings north, following the German border, but the highway crosses it again about ten miles from Metz. At this point, spiked chevaux-de-frise have been set up parallel to the road. Metz itself, the goal of my journey, looks as if it were under military occupation.

NORTHEASTERN ARCTIC PASSAGE OPEN TO FREIGHT

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

MOSCOW, April 14.—A northeast passage through the Arctic ocean from Murmansk to Vladivostok which men have tried for four centuries to conquer and which has swallowed up hundreds of intrepid explorers will be opened to regular freight trafic this summer.

This was announced today in connection with the fifteenth anniversary of the founding of the All Union Arctic institute and the first anniversary of the epic airplane rescue of the Cheliuskin expedition from a Siberian ice floe. The announcement was made by Prof. Otto Schmidt, leader of the Cheliuskin expedition, now head of the northern sea route administration.

Four freighters, two from Murmansk and two from Vladivostok, will make the voyage this summer, said Schmidt. The routes have been divided into four sections. In each section ice breakers are to be stationed. An ice breaker will precede each freighter through its section and then turn it over to the ice breaker of the next section. These voyages fulfill the dream of a short route to the far east.

PRESIDENT KEEPS HANDS OFF IN MORTGAGE ROW

New York, April 14.—[Special.]—Despite appeals to President Roosevelt as a stock and bond holder, owners of homes in the Sunnyside Gardens development on Long Island have met apparent defeat in their efforts to stave off foreclosure.

Alexander M. Bing, president of the City Housing corporation, in which President Roosevelt, his mother, and wife are listed investors, said tonight:

"The residents of Sunnyside Gardens have refused to make their mortgage interest payments, and there is nothing left for us to do but foreclose. I have had no communication whatsoever, directly or indirectly, with the President. It is true that Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, as well as the President's mother, are members of the advisory board of the corporation, but President Roosevelt has not communicated with me."

The residents, estimating that of 500 houses in the development only 23 were free and clear, called their "strike" to enforce a demand that interest on about 3¼ million dollars in first mortgages be reduced from 6 to 3 per cent, and that about 1¾ millions in second mortgages be refinanced.

A meeting of the committee engaged in the effort to obtain lower payments, met at the Park house, Long Island City, tonight, to discuss the "strike."

SENATOR SPEEDS MOVE FOR STATE SCHOOL RED QUIZ

Hutchins Ducks Walgreen Issue, Says Baker.

A general investigation of Illinois educational institutions for the purpose of ridding them of radical teaching was predicted yesterday by State Senator Charles Baker [Rep., Monroe Center] as University of Chicago trustees and alumni promised their aid in obtaining an open hearing on charges against that institution.

Although immediate action on the situation was spurred by the charges of Charles R. Walgreen, head of the national drug chain system, that the University of Chicago is a center of subversive propaganda, it was learned yesterday that alumni and trustees of both Chicago and Northwestern university have been considering the removal of out and out radicals from faculties and student bodies.

Hutchins Avoids Open Hearing.

On Saturday Robert Maynard Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago, rejected Mr. Walgreen's offer to submit proof of radicalism at the Midway before an open meeting of the board of trustees. Mr. Walgreen precipitated the present dispute by causing the withdrawal from the university of his niece, Miss Lucille Norton, "because she had been exposed to subversive propaganda" in her classes.

"President Hutchins has apparently chosen to duck the issue," said Senator Baker, who announced he would ask for a senatorial investigation of Red propaganda in colleges and schools of Illinois. "His refusal of a fair and open hearing on Mr. Walgreen's charges indicates that the only means of bringing this entire condition into the open is through a legislative investigation of the Midway institution and other schools."

Presents Resolution Tomorrow.

Senator Baker said the resolution is being drafted for introduction before the senate at Springfield tomorrow and that the first step in the inquiry, if approved by the legislature, will be to call in Mr. Walgreen and President Hutchins. Edward Hayes, former national commander of the American Legion, whose appearance at a patriotic meeting on the Midway Thursday night ended in a riot, will also be asked to appear.

President Hutchins' refusal to hold an open meeting of the trustees to review the situation was criticized by alumni of the university who are sharply divided over the issue of campus radicalism. One group maintains that the right of the university to "academic freedom" must not be questioned and that its teachers should not be criticized.

Active interest in the criticism of the university by patriotic organizations has been taken by another large group of alumni.

Welcome Fair Inquiry.

"We feel that the activities of a very small group of faculty members and students have brought unfair notoriety to the university," said a spokesman of this group, which has the support of a bloc of trustees. "We would welcome a fair inquiry into radicalism on the Midway. We do not wish to injure the inherent right of teachers and students to fair inquiry into political economy and philosophy—but we cannot, in fairness to the vast majority of students, teachers, and alumni, permit a small group to agitate for the overthrow of the government."

A similar attitude was expressed by Northwestern university alumni. The trustees of Northwestern set in motion nearly six weeks ago plans for housecleaning in the faculty.

Faculty Refutes Charges.

Three members of the University of Chicago faculty, in statements issued yesterday, challenged charges that the university is a hotbed of radical teaching.

They are Frederic Woodward, professor of law and vice president of the university; Charles E. Merriam, chairman of the department of political science, and Arthur H. Compton, professer of physics, who is distinguished for his researches into cosmic rays.

In substance, each of these commentators held to the theme that the university examines communism, Fascism and Socialism, as it examines other political movements, from a scientific viewpoint. Each also held that to avoid such studies would be unworthy the traditions of scholarship.

"As a citizen who is in a position to know facts," said Mr. Woodward, "and not merely as an officer of the university, I deeply resent the charge that the University of Chicago faculty is teaching communism or that students are dangerously exposed to communistic influences.

No "Isms" Being Taught, He Says.

"I have been on the staf for nearly 20 years. I have never known a member of the faculty who taught, advocated, or believed in the overthrow of the government by force.

"Any one who thinks we are teaching communism, or Fascism, or any other 'ism' completely fails to understand the spirit of the university. We naturally devote far more attention to the study of American institutions than we do to any others. We study also both communism and Fascism, but we study them just as we study Einstein's theories, with as much critical objectivity as possible."

After pointing out that he had been in continuous service at the university for 35 years, Mr. Merriam said:

"During all those years I have differed with many persons on many questions of policy, but have yet to find any responsible persons who challenged our devotion to the development of American democracy."

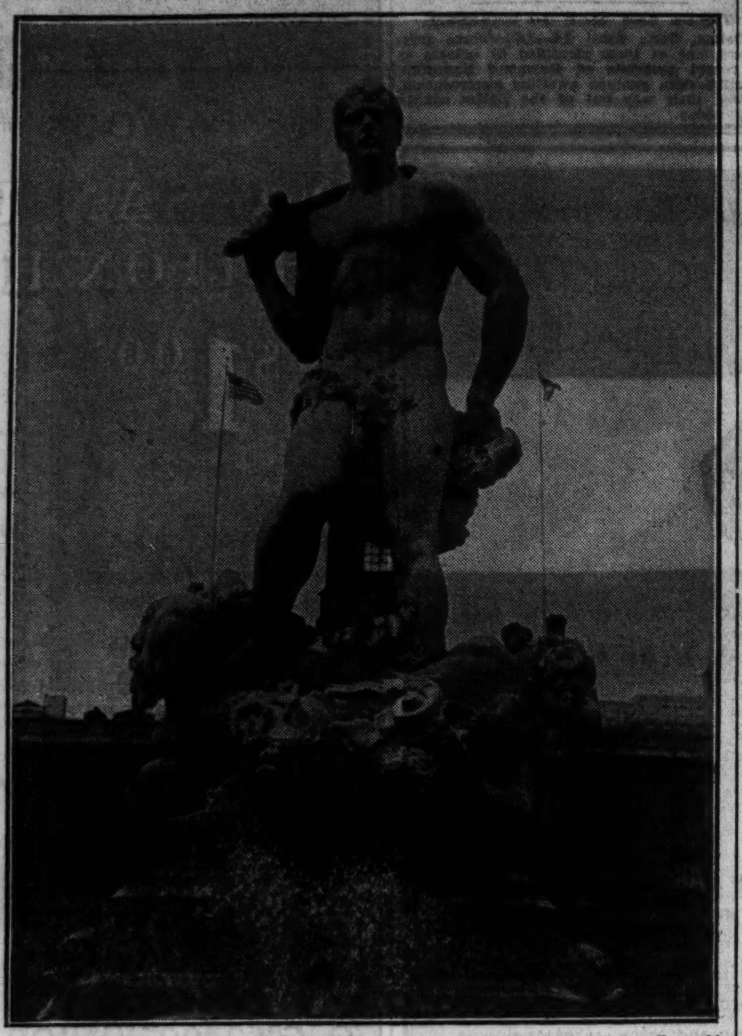
Compton Backs Free Discussion.

Dr. Compton declared that it was important to the country to have centers where all kinds of suggestions for betterment could be discussed freely on their merits.

"If the valuable features as well as the shortcomings of such proposals as Socialism and communism were not thus objectively discussed by those competent to judge their merits, it would mean that the nation would remain confined by outworn dogmas or be controled by new demagogs."

A university that did not permit the discussion of radical viewpoints, Dr. Compton asserted, would become "intellectually stagnant." He added that he considered the university fortunate in having a "well informed and well balanced" group of men on the faculty.

CLASH OVER "CIVIC VIRTUE"



New York's statue of "Civic Virtue," over which Mayor La Guardia and Frederick MacMonnes, sculptor, have started a dispute. The sculptor suggested it would be better and cheaper to move Park Commissioner Moses than to move the statue, which has not been included in plans for restoration of City Hall park. [Associated Press Photo.]

Sculptor vs. Mayor

New York, April 14.—[Special.]—Frederick MacMonnies, sculptor, does not approve of the proposal of Mayor La Guardia to move the statue of "Civic Virtue," also called "The Rough Guy," whose stone feet rest on the heads of two women, fashioned to depict vice and evil.

The sculptor had suggested "it would have been more esthetically correct, and surely more economical, to have left 'Civic Virtue' where it is and moved Mr. Moses" (Mr. Moses being the park commissioner whose plans for the restoration of City Hall park have no place in them for "Civic Virtue").

The mayor's letter, written April 3, but not released until tonight, was in answer to one of protest from Mr. MacMonnies, dated March 15.

The sculptor said it would cost about $25,000 to move the statue to Foley square, "and probably the same amount to relocate it again in an approximate site, later on, when the reign of sanity in the arts has been restored.

The mayor replied:

"I am one of your most ardent admirers," the mayor wrote, "as to civic virtue. (I mean the statue, of course.) Why talk about it? Every great artist is entitled to just a few sins. It just is not 'indovinato.'"

U. OF C. 'RED PERIL' CITED 23 YRS. AGO BY PROF. SHOREY

Warning Repeated in '32 by Famed Scholar.

The danger of the University of Chicago becoming a center of radical activity was pointed out by the late Prof. Paul Shorey, famous classical scholar and head of the Greek department on the Midway, as long ago as 1912, it was revealed yesterday.

In a letter published in the Daily Maroon, campus student paper, on May 15, 1912, Prof. Shorey took exception to a radical meeting in Kent theater on the campus, in which students and faculty members participated.

"The students are habitually taught to use 'progressive' and 'advanced,'" Prof. Shorey wrote five years before the Russian revolution and twenty years before the New Deal. "They use these as undiscriminating terms of praise and confound in one sweeping condemnation of 'conservatism' the rational conservatism of fundamental principles of civic liberty and order with the shame-faced apology for iniquitous privilege.

Cites "Hypnotic" Influence.

"Under the hypnotizing influence of incessant and uncontradicted assertion the younger generation is brought to believe that there are no arguments that will bear scrutiny in defense of conventional and traditional opinions in regard to debated or debatable questions of ethics, sociology, political economy, literary criticism, education, the relation of the sexes, the rights of property or of contract and the punishment of crime."

Prof. Shorey, in 1912, expressed confidence—unjustified in the light of actual happening—that some organized effort would be made "to keep radical propaganda within limits and to present to the students of the university the temperate statement of the grounds of a reasoned, conservative faith in the inherited common sense and laws of the world, unconfused by alliance with particular forms of unjust economic exploitation."

Twenty Years Later—No Change.

Twenty years later conditions had not changed, for on Aug. 7, 1932, in an interview with James O'Donnell Bennett, published in THE TRIBUNE, Prof. Shorey even more vigorously condemned propagandizing in the schools.

"Many teachers of undergraduates are more and more abusing their privileges by imposing personal propaganda upon their students," Prof. Shorey said then. "I have heard eminent professors of history declare frankly that their only interest in the teaching of the subject was its use for the inculcation of radical social and economic theories. This unfair procedure has resulted, not alone in universities but in high schools, in the systematic inculcation of a dogmatically mechanistic and atheistic evolution as the last word of modern science and philosophy."

Would Forbid Propaganda.

"I should forbid all revolutionary propaganda in the schools," Prof. Shorey continued. "I should allow only habitual propaganda of the elementary fundamentals of law, order, morals, and American constitutional government. And I shoudn't call that propaganda but training.

"I don't think a teacher has a right to inculcate opinions outside of his own subject or opinions subversive of the existing order. If he wants to do that he should do it somewhere else. But I would not limit his freedom of speech. I would only ask him to hire a hall.

One of the most revered professors on the university faculty and recognized internationally as a scholar, Prof. Shorey died April 24, 1934, at the age of 76.

U. OF MICHIGAN CHIEF ACTS TO CURB REDS; TO DISCIPLINE PUPILS

Ann Arbor, Mich., April 14.—(AP)—Alexander Grant Ruthven, president of the University of Michigan, said today there would be no more radical activities on that campus.

Declaring the reputation of the university had been endangered "by the perversive activities of a few professional agitators," he declared disciplinary action was due for students "who are known to have interfered with the proper conduct of university affairs."

At the anti-war demonstration staged by the National Students' league on the steps of the library April 4 several students pledged themselves not to bear arms for the United States in the event of war.

Fraternal organizations appealed to President Ruthven and to Gov. Fitzgerald to take action against the demonstrators. One organization in Grand Rapids said its student loan fund would be closed to students refusing to promise to bear arms.

"The university has no desire to curb freedom of speech, but as a state supported institution devoted to education it proposes to continue to fulfill to the utmost its obligations to the state and to the cause of genuine education," President Ruthven said.

SEEK U. S. FUNDS TO SEPARATE 107 GRADE CROSSINGS

42 in Chicago Area Would Cost $6,910,000.

BY HAL FOUST.

The Illinois highway department has submitted to the United States bureau of public roads a list of 107 proposed viaducts and subways for the intersections of railroads and highways. These projects are suggested for construction as part of President Roosevelt's program to spend on such improvements 200 million dollars of his 4 billion 880 million work relief appropriation.

The list, announced yesterday by Ernst Lieberman, state highway engineer, was made up after the department studied data on the volumes of rail and motor trafic, the number and nature of accidents, and the physical characteristics of suggested viaduct sites.

The twenty-two Cook county structures in the list are estimated to cost $4,550,000, and twenty in the metropolitan area counties of Du Page, Will, Lake, and Kendall are put at $2,360,000.

Other Projects Advised.

These proposals for the Chicago district are in addition to Mr. Lieberman's previously announced recommendations for federal funds for completion of the outer link bridge, for an elevated highway in Randolph street from Des Plaines street to Paulina street, and for five grade separations at highway intersections in the metropolitan area.

MANNHEIM ROAD and the North Western railroad yards in Melrose Park, replacing the present narrow wooden structure with a trestle that would also cross the Lake street highway; $500,000.

ASHLAND AVENUE and the Chicago terminal tracks at about 89th street; $200,000.

ROUTE 53 [new east-west highway] and Wabash railroad, near Orland Park; $150,000.

147TH STREET and Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad in Dolton; $250,000.

MANNHEIM ROAD and the St. Paul railroad in Franklin Park; $400,000.

CICERO AVENUE and the Illinois Central railroad, near 31st street; $150,000.

25TH AVENUE, Brookfield, and the C. B. & Q. railroad, near Ogden avenue; $80,000.

GREENWOOD AVENUE, Park Ridge, and Chicago and North Western railroad, north of Touhy avenue; $150,000.

CICERO AVENUE and the C., B. & Q. railroad at Ogden avenue; $75,000.

The Du Page county projects, with their estimated costs, follow:

ROUTE 59 and the C., B. & Q. railroad west of Naperville and north of Ogden avenue; $80,000.

ROUTE 53 and Illinois Central railroad north of Lombard; $90,000.

ROUTE 47 and the C., B. & Q., near Bristol; $80,000.

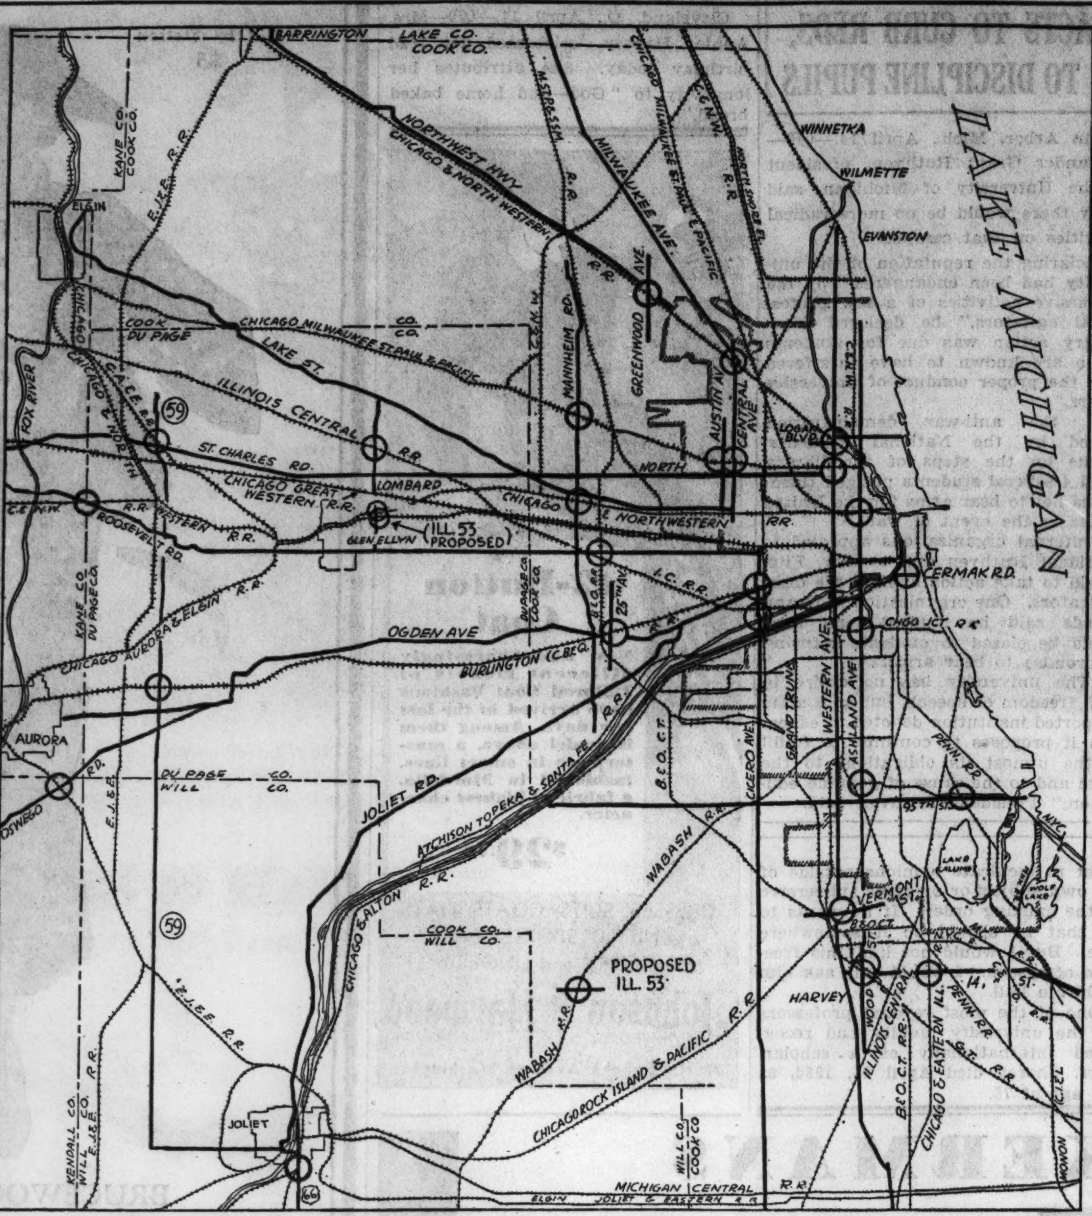
OSWEGO ROAD and the Elgin, Joliet and Eastern, southeast of Aurora; $70,000.

Grade separations at highway intersections also are proposed for construction with federal funds. Those suggested include two on the projected extension of Skokie road at the Rockland road north of Lake Forest and at Grand avenue in Gurnee west of Waukegan, to cost $100,000 and $160,000, respectively.

Another would break the serious bottleneck at Roosevelt and Mannheim roads in Westchester with a $150,000 structure. A $150,000 grade separation is proposed for the death crossing of Skokie road and the Evanston-Elgin highway. The fifth would be built at the Lincoln highway and the Oswego road south of Aurora, to cost $85,000.

The state is working also on railroad grade separations under two previous "easy money" allotments.

PROPOSED GRADE SEPARATIONS



The circles indicate sites for railroad grade separation construction or reconstruction proposed by the Illinois highway department. They would be financed from President Roosevelt's work relief appropriation. Forty-two such structures, to cost an estimated $6,910,000, are suggested for the metropolitan area counties of Cook, Du Page, Lake, Will, and Kendall. The map shows those urged for Chicago and immediate vicinity.

WIND SCOURGES PRAIRIES WITH NEW DUST FOG

Storm Blankets Kansas; Fells Trees in Iowa.

Dodge City, Kas., April 14.—(AP)—Borne on a stiff northwest wind, a heavy dust storm rolled over the plains today.

Densest in western Kansas, the grimy fog extended in varying degrees of intensity as far west as Denver and eastward to the Mississippi river.

Midnight darkness prevailed in Dodge City while the storm was at its heaviest. A 40 mile an hour wind eddied and drifted the dust like snow.

Storm Blankets Kansas.

Reports to the United States weather bureau said the storm covered the entire state of Kansas, all of Missouri but the southeastern corner, and most of Nebraska, Texas, and Oklahoma.

In Nebraska one death was blamed on the storm. Glen O'Brien, 25, of Benkelman, Neb., was killed in an automobile-motor truck crash.

At Springfield, Colo., trafic was stopped by sand and silt that lowered visibility to a few feet. A Wyoming air service plane that left Pueblo, Colo., for Denver this afternoon was forced to return.

A dust storm generated in the west swept across Iowa on a high wind which uprooted trees and broke store fronts in scattered areas. The air cleared after two hours.

Pray for Rain.

Guymon, Okla., April 13.—(AP)—Worshipers thronged the Methodist church here today to seek divine deliverance from a plague of dryness that has withered crops and brought choking dust storms to the high southwest plains.

As farmers, business men, children, and aged men and women knelt together in prayer for rain, moisture laden clouds replaced the sullen, yellow fog that had hung in the air for weeks. The clouds departed later, however, without leaving rain.

Declare Damage Exaggerated.

Optimism rose above despair even in the area worst affected. Officials and farmers insisted damage to wind-eroded acres was not permanent. Public physicians declined the offer of the American Red Cross to send nurses to care for ill inhabitants, declaring stories of illness caused by the "black blizzards" have been exaggerated.

"Our land has not been permanently damaged," said I. R. Bryan, who farms 160 acres in a badly blown section northwest of here. "Good soil extends to a depth of eighteen inches to two feet in this country, and the wind cannot blow all that away."

HIT-RUN VICTIM LEFT TO DIE AS TRIO IN CAR FLEES

Three young men sped away after an accident yesterday afternoon, leaving behind them at the entrance of Sherman park at Garfield boulevard, near Loomis street, the body of Hans Dahl, 69 years old, 5653 Emerald avenue, and a headlight from their automobile. Dahl died in the South Town hospital shortly after being struck by the car while crossing the drive.

The automobile careened into a lamp post, breaking off the headlight, but the driver continued east in Garfield boulevard. The stockyards police will attempt to trace the car thought the broken headlight.

This death and one other increased the Cook county motor death toll for 1935 to 266. Until 4 p. m. yesterday, 217 had been killed since Jan. 1 in automobile accidents within the Chicago city limits and 4,103 injured. The other death:

Arthur Bruhn, 34 years old, 1840 Elston avenue, a shipping clerk. Killed instantly when he leaped from the speeding automobile he was driving in St. Charles road and Prospect avenue, Elmhurst, yesterday morning. Police believe Bruhn did not see the jog in the highway and leaped when he saw the impending crash into a tree.

Bandits Drill for Hour on Safe and It's Empty

Providence, R. I., April 14.—(AP)—Seven masked and armed bandits held up the watchman at a laundry here today. Then four of them spent more than an hour drilling into the safe only to find it empty.

To Appear in Play

Bebe Daniels, Ben Lyon, and Skeets Gallagher, motion picture stars, stepped off the same train in the Illinois Central station yesterday afternoon, to appear together on the legitimate stage in Chicago. They will play in "Hollywood Holiday," a comedy, to open on April 21 at the Selwyn theater. Miss Daniels, who off-stage is Mrs. Ben Lyon, wore a smart black cloth coat with silver fox capelet. She led her small daughter, Barbara Bebe Lyon. Mr. Gallagher was accompanied by his wife and two children.

SEN. McCARRAN'S HOP HERE HALTED BY WEAK HEART

United States Senator Patrick McCarran of Nevada yesterday failed to appear at a meeting of the Chicago Post Office Clerks union in the Palmer house, where he was scheduled to address them on labor legislation he was backing in congress. Leo E. George, president of the National Federation of Postal Clerks, explained that the special plane bearing the senator and George from Washington was forced to turn back shortly after the takeoff because of the senator's heart, which could not stand the altitude.

AUSTRIAN POLICE QUELL ROYALISTS' CHEERS FOR OTTO

6 Waiters on Pilgrimage to See "Emperor."

VIENNA, April 14.—(AP)—Six jobless café waiters started a pilgrimage today to far off Steen-Ockerzeel, Belgium, where Austria's "king emperor" Otto lives in exile, and their departure occasioned a monarchist demonstration which had to be dispersed by police.

There was no rioting but the refusal of police to permit a crowd of monarchists shouting "God save the emperor" to form a procession puzzled neutral spectators who a week ago saw the Hapsburg archduke Eugene receive the government's homage at the army's spring parade.

Carried "Golden Book."

The waiters started on their journey laden with a "golden book of loyalty," in which the names of leading monarchists have been inscribed, and with a little sack of earth from the chateau south of here where the archduke Otto was born.

When the waiters arrive with book and sack, the pretender to the Austrian throne will have one more thing in common with the inhabitants of this once imperial city: like them he will have waited for a long time for a waiter to arrive with his order. The six pilgrims from the coffee house capital expect it will take them about three months to walk across Europe to Otto's Belgian retreat.

One of Many Honors.

Their pilgrimage is one of many planned to honor Otto in the next few months. In May a caravan of automobiles carrying a delegation of Austrian world war veterans is scheduled to travel the same route to bring Otto the assurance that Austria's people want him on the throne.

Since the abolition of elected municipal governments in Austria more than 400 communities, through their new authoritative administrations, have named Archduke Otto honorary citizen. This number is expected to be greatly increased before the summer is over. Loyal monarchists hope that Otto himself may come to Austria before autumn.

Two Killed, Three Hurt in Train-Auto Crash

East St. Louis, Ill., April 14.—(AP)—Two persons were killed and three injured today when their motor car was hit by a freight train at a grade crossing at Monsanto, Ill., three miles south of here. The dead: White Dimond, 30, East St. Louis director of work relief for the IERAC, and Mrs. Myrtle Heidenrich, 26, Maplewood Park.

SIMPLICITY KEY AT INAUGURATION OF KELLY TODAY

Mayor Bars Celebration; It's Signal for Work.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Simplicity will mark the inauguration of Mayor Edward J. Kelly in the city council chamber this evening. It will not be a celebration of his record breaking election on April 2. To him it is the beginning of four years of work for Chicago.

There will be a crowd as is usual on such occasions and there will be many flowers, but the only ceremonies will be a brief address by the mayor and the swearing in of those few aldermen who have not already taken the oath of office.

On the rostrum with the mayor will be his wife, Mrs. Margaret Kelly; his mother, Mrs. Helen Kelly; County Chairman P. A. Nash and Mrs. Nash, and State's Attorney Courtney and Mrs. Courtney. It is expected there will be only one former mayor present, Edward F. Dunne. Carter H. Harrison, who five times occupied the mayor's chair, has declined to break his rule against attending such gatherings.

Calls Democratic Works Parley.

This afternoon, in preparation for the resumption of general assembly activities at Springfield tomorrow, Mayor Kelly has asked all Democratic legislators from Cook county to meet with him in his office to discuss the program of public works legislation he considers necessary as a result of his two recent visits to Washington.

The mayor desires to talk to the state lawmakers at this time also because he plans to leave for California tomorrow night. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Kelly and by their close friends, Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City and Mrs. Hague. The quartet probably will be gone over two weeks. This will be the first real vacation Mayor Kelly has had in more than two years.

Before leaving for the west coast Mayor Kelly will attend the Cubs' opener at Wrigley field.

The organization of the new city council probably will be brief. The committee on committees, with the new slate in almost complete form, will be back from Miami today and it is considered certain that its report will be accepted without protest.

New Committee List Complete.

En route to Chicago yesterday, Chairman Jacob M. Arvey said that the new committee list was complete except for the personnel of the newly created steering committee. That list, he said, will be made up by Ald. James B. Bowler, who will head the committee and also is scheduled to assume the office of president pro tem of the council now held by Arvey.

The committee list as it stood yesterday and which is expected to be subjected to only a few changes in a final conference today, is as follows:

WANT A MOUNTAIN LION? SENATOR FROM IDAHO WILL FIX IT

Washington, D. C., April 14.—(AP)—If in need of a mountain lion, just call the senate's "mountain lion" exchange.

Barely had Senator Walsh [Dem., Mass.] made it known that a student of Dartmouth college wanted a "puma lion" for a pet than newspaper men remembered that out west—say Idaho, where Senator Pope comes from—any mountain bred rancher will pack a mountain lion into a crate and deliver him at a rail head for $50 to $150.

When newspaper men confronted Senator Pope's office with the idea, it presented no problems to amount to anything. It was recalled that a number of westerners catch 'em for sport—plus the state bounty. Some make their winter's grub stake at it.

"But pooh, pooh, on this puma business," was the comment from the Idahoans. "Out west they're cougars or mountain lions."

MIKE COVAHEY GOES FISHING, HOOKS A HAWK

Baltimore, Md., April 14.—(AP)—Mike Covahey and a giant fish hawk—complete strangers socially—went fishing together. Before a lively afternoon was done, Mike had hooked the hawk and the hawk had hooked Mike.

The fish, unhooked, observed the affair with interest.

Mike had been casting for a long time from the banks of a stream and had gained nary a nibble. With fisherman's fortitude, he cast again.

Suddenly the hawk swept down, dug into the bait with its talons, and rose into the air. Mike tugged, and discovered he was flying a lively "kite."

After a brief tug-o'-war, man won over bird and an angry and doubtless disillusioned fish hawk set about to do a bit of "hooking" on its own.

Covahey's clothing was clawed and ripped before he was able to tie the bird. He took it home to his chicken coop for all the neighbors to see. Later he released the hawk.

Firemen Rush to Capitol; Sightseers Get a Thrill

Washington, D. C., April 14.—(AP)—Week-end sightseers at the capitol got an added thrill today when a fire alarm brought roaring trucks to the building. The blaze was a minor one in a wastebasket in a lavatory just off the rotunda, which, however, was filled with smoke before the fire was extinguished.

WOMAN FOUND DEAD.

Galesburg, Ill., April 14.—[Special.]—The body of Mrs. Nels E. Johnson, 67, was found in her home last night. She apparently had killed herself. She disappeared a year ago and was gone six months before she was discovered in Chicago, a victim of amnesia.

Marlene Dietrich Hits Plays Broadway Offers

Hollywood, Cal., April 14.—[Special.]—"Compared with the Gay White Way, Hollywood is a paradise of virtue." Thus did Marlene Dietrich express today her disapproval of current Broadway plays, as she returned from a month's vacation in New York. "I cannot understand why motion pictures are attacked," the actress said, "while nothing is done about plays which so flagrantly defy the conventions."

WOMAN VICTIM'S 10 MONTHS' HUNT NETS 2 ROBBERS

Costly Search to Go On Till Third Is Caught.

Drawn by the attractions of A Century of Progress, Mrs. Lorraine D. King, 28 years old, a wealthy widow, came to Chicago last summer from her home at Rome, Ga.

She spent the first day viewing the numerous exhibits, and the following morning—June 24—went to a bus depot to arrange for extension of her excursion ticket. There she met one "Edgar Johnson."

They arranged a meeting in the loop that evening, and at the meeting, Mrs. King was introduced to two of "Johnson's" friends. In the course of the conversation, Mrs. King remarked that she had about $5,500 in bonds she wished to sell. "Johnson" immediately offered to direct Mrs. King to an attorney, and she assembled her bonds at her hotel.

Robbed and Abandoned.

Accompanied by the other two men, Mrs. King started out with "Johnson" in an automobile. Instead of meeting the attorney, Mrs. King was driven to Des Plaines, where the three men robbed her of the bonds, $3,000 in jewelry, and $211. Leaving Mrs. King by the roadside the three men drove away.

Mrs. King's calls for help were heard by state highway policemen who brought her to the detective bureau. She recalled that "Johnson" said he was living at the Roosevelt hotel, 1158 South Wabash avenue.

Detectives hurried there and found him just about to depart. He was arrested and identified as William Smith, 32 years old, of Wilmington, N. C. Part of the loot was recovered in his luggage. Mrs. Smith remained here to prosecute Smith, and on July 26, he was sentenced to 1 to 20 years.

Traces Down Robber No. 2.

Mrs. Smith had also obtained the license number of the automobile the robbers used. It was traced to the Chicago home of relatives of Gordon Fluker, 29 years old, of Birmingham, Ala. A picture of Fluker was obtained and Mrs. Smith identified it as robber No. 2.

She caused several hundred reproductions of the picture to be made, and personally visited Birmingham and many other southern cities, leaving them with police officials. In between her many visits to these southern towns, Mrs. King came to Chicago. She would attend the regular show-ups of criminals and then urge the police to further search for the robbers.

Three weeks ago Mrs. King was visiting in Nassau, when the chief of police of Birmingham sent word that Fluker had finally been arrested. Mrs. King immediately notified Chicago authorities that she would press for Fluker's extradition.

Yesterday Mrs. King reached the end of her ten months' search. She appeared at the detective show-up, and from half a hundred suspects picked out Fluker as one of the robbers.

"I have spent several thousand dollars in sending Smith to prison and in causing Fluker's arrest," declared the persistent Mrs. King. "I shall spend as much more to find the third man."

TWIN GIRLS HERE CHRISTEN TWIN ZEPHYR TRAINS

With 44 pairs of twins as guest passengers, the twin Zephyrs of the Burlington railroad sped into the Union station yesterday from Aurora and were christened by Marian and Frances Beeler, 12 year old Chicago twins. At 7 a. m. today the streamliners will carry 120 members of the Chicago Association of Commerce to St. Paul and Minneapolis for a preliminary run over the route to which they will be assigned next week. The 44 pairs of twins, first of 468 pairs to apply for the ride, were taken to Aurora yesterday morning where the second Zephyr arrived from a western exhibition trip. Side by side the twin speed trains streamed into Chicago for the christening ceremonies. Next week the trains will be placed in regular service between Chicago and the Twin Cities on schedules that will enable Chicagoans to travel to Minneapolis and St. Paul, transact a full day's business and return the same night.

200 GROUPS HERE JOIN MOVEMENT TO UNITE JEWRY

Rabbi Wise Assails Nazis Before Congress.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

More than 200 out of 300 Jewish organizations in Chicago had responded by late yesterday to the American Jewish congress campaign toward consolidation of all organized Jewish action. The congress met yesterday in convention at the Palmer house. It was attended by about 800 leaders of the organizations allied through their congress memberships.

Sigmund W. David, son of Judge Joseph B. David of the Superior court, was reëlected Chicago president.

Rabbi Wise Denounces Nazis.

Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, of New York, national president and founder of the congress, delivered the principal address. He pleaded for Jewish unity and asked the coöperating organizations to forget small differences in the larger interests of righting inter-racial wrongs and in stimulating love for the new Jewish national homeland in Palestine. Rabbi Wise denounced the Nazi treatment of Jews in Germany and declared the Jew would never turn back from "aggressive war of self-defense against all Hitlerism."

"I want the day to come," said Rabbi Wise, "when no Jew shall live in Germany—not one. I want the day to come—although I shall not live to see it—when the Jew will be a regretted memory in Germany, just as their presence was a blessing and an ennoblement in every sense."

Praises Christian Defenders.

Rabbi Wise praised American Christian leadership for its prompt defense of the persecuted Jews of Germany. He credited this leadership with staving off actual slaughter of 100,000 persons during the anti-Semitic drive. Bishop Francis J. McConnell, of the Methodist Episcopal church, Bishop William T. Manning of the Episcopal church and Dr. John Haynes Holmes, all of New York, were singled out by the rabbi for their conspicuous appeals for Jewish safety in Germany.

Other speakers included Rabbi Solomon Goldman of Temple Anshe Emet, Pine Grove avenue and Grace street, and Rabbi Samuel M. Blumenfield of Chicago.

Rabbi Goldman asked the congress to apply the ancient principle of the "brother's keeper" in its program. While it is necessary to provide the unfortunate with food and shelter, he said, yet it is also an equal responsibility to provide opportunities for cultural advance. The flare-up of anti-Semitism, said Dr. Goldman, has brought new unity to the Jewish people.

ENGINEER CHIEF TO SPEAK.

Dr. Ralph E. Flanders, president of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, is to speak at a dinner of the Chicago division of the society on Wednesday at the Hamilton club. Dr. W. L. Abbott, chief operating engineer of the Commonwealth Edison company, will preside.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Winter-Kills; New Plans.

April 14, 1935.

APPROXIMATELY 350 acres of land will be used in testing various varieties and strains of crops on a field basis at the Tribune experimental farm near Plano and Yorkville this season. Winter killing of legumes on the farm has made it necessary for the manager to revise his 1935 planting plans slightly.

In experimental field No. 4 plans may be shifted so that Corean lespedeza will be tested out on a field basis in combination with red clover, timothy and Kentucky bluegrass sown with oats.

White Silvermine corn, maturing in about 110 days, will be grown as a commercial crop, as originally planned in field No. 8. In field No. 9 Corean lespedeza will be tested in a mixture containing timothy, white clover, alfalfa, and sweet clover. Oats will be seeded as a nurse crop for this experimental pasture mixture.

Field No. 12 will be used in growing commercial hybrid corn for silage. In field No. 14 Western Plowman will be tested.

Experimental silage corn will be grown in field No. 16. Here the farm manager intends to plant 4 acres of Golden Beauty, 4 acres of Hybrid No. 172—a strain that made a good showing in the farm's test plots last year—and four acres of some native variety.

Webb's Will County Favorite corn will be tested in field No. 19.

A few changes have been made in field No. 21, where Mr. Thurow originally planned to test cow peas on a small scale. Here corn will be planted instead, because cow peas are scarce and high priced. In the south end this same field, 15 acres originally intended for oats, will be summer fallowed to kill Canada thistle. The thistle infested patch will be limed and seeded to alfalfa in August. Field No. 22, where 20 acres of corn were to have been planted, will be sown to oats and then seeded with a mixture of red clover and timothy.

Twenty acres of Gopher oats were seeded in field No. 23 on April 5. A mixture, timothy and clover, was seeded with the oats to be left for meadow. The remaining 45 acres will be planted to a hybrid corn.

One acre each of Cayuga, Illini, and Dunfield soy beans will be tested in field No. 24. Immediately south of the soy beans will be three 5 acre corn plots of Hybrid No. 616, Will County Favorite, and Hybrid No. 13. The latter hybrid made an excellent showing in the test plots last season.

Forty acres of clover were winter killed in field No. 26. This portion of the field will be used in growing White Silvermine corn. The same variety will be grown on another 40 acres in field No. 26. Thirty-five acres of Webb's Will County Favorite will be produced in this field, and the remaining 35 acres will be sown to Silvermine oats, a late variety.

The southeast 20 acres or field No. 27 will be planted to Illini soy beans, and the remaining 60 acres will be sown to Iowa oats.

ASSAILS NAZIS' INTOLERANCE TO CATHOLIC YOUTH

Cardinal Hits 'Heresy of Nordic Religion.'

BRESLAU, Germany, April 14.—(AP)—Cardinal Adolf Bertram in his official diocesan organ sharply attacked today what he called Nazi intolerance toward Catholic youth organizations and assailed "neo-heathenism."

Taking his main text from Matthew, "Beware of False Prophets," the cardinal condemned the "heresy of the so-called Nordic religion" which he banned as "an iniquitous affront to our Lord and Savior and our religion."

"As sure as there is only one God, one eternal judge, so sure it is the divine revelation brought by Jesus Christ is the only abiding truth," he said. "Woe to him who dares to assail this foundation of moral order."

The church, he said, can never be a national church according to Nazi ideas. The cardinal concluded by denying Catholic youth organizations were pursuing political ends and he exhorted them to "stand firm."

PADERDORN, Germany, April 14.—(AP)—Father Mueller, a Roman Catholic priest, was sentenced to five months imprisonment today for making allegations concerning local Hitler young women's organizations said to be untrue.

Four Saved from Blaze; Fine Etchings Are Burned

New York, April 14.—(AP)—An exhibition of etchings by foremost American artists was destroyed in a fire that razed the building occupied by the MacDowell club today. Four tenants on the top floor of the three story building were carried to safety down an aerial ladder. Seven firemen were temporarily overcome by smoke.

BRITISH FASCIST CHIEF BITTERLY ATTACKS JEWS

LEICESTER, England, April 14.—(AP)—Sir Oswald Mosley, British Fascist leader, voiced his organization's policy toward Jews today with an attack rivalling, if not surpassing, some of Adolf Hitler's anti-Semetic outbursts. The stormy meeting was marked by repeated scuffles between Black Shirts and booing hecklers.

"For the first time I openly and publicly challenge Jewish interests in this country," the tall and handsome leader of the Black Shirts declared. "Commanding commerce, commanding the press, commanding the cinema, dominating the city of London, they are killing industry with their sweatshops. These great interests are not intimidating and will not intimidate the Fascist movement of the modern age."

Police thwarted an attempt by anti-Fascists to march on the hall where Mosley was speaking, dispersing the procession after a brief clash in which sticks swung and several were struck down. Black Shirt stewards ejected many hecklers, who set up a din of boos and jeers in an effort to drown out Mosley.

Helene Costello of Films Denies Break with Cuban

Hollywood, Cal., April 14.—[Special.]—There is enough marital grief in one branch of the family, according to Helene Costello, motion picture actress, who today denied there has been a break between herself and her Cuban husband, Arturo del Barrio. Helene is staying with her sister Dolores, while the latter is attempting to adjust domestic affairs with her husband, John Barrymore.

"Here's payment in full for theft of your car"

"IT'S a pleasure," said American Auto Agent Whitfield King, "to deliver this check to you, Henry. That's what you paid us your premium for.

"Now, aren't you glad you paid that extra $1.00 for the 'Rental Reimbursement Coverage?' That takes care of the $61.80 that you spent in taxi fares and for renting other substitute transporation during the last month. And now, tomorrow, you'll start riding in that new car.

"If you had carried just an ordinary policy, you would have had to wait another month for this money. American Auto is, in fact, the only company I know of that pays its total theft losses within 30 days.

"I suppose," queried Agent King, "you will want me to issue a full coverage policy on your new car?"

"My insurance is in your hands," replied Henry. "I know you will always take good care of my insurance interests and there's only one thing I ask, be sure it's the American Auto."

ENDEARING WORD AND A BIG SMILE TAKE $25 PRIZE

"Just Acting Natural" Is Her Politeness.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

Levetta Belle Calhoun, 32 years old, colored attendant in a loop restaurant women's washroom, was passing out soap and towels unaware that opportunity was knocking on her door, when THE TRIBUNE'S politeness reporter asked her for a phone slug.

"Course I got a phone slug, dahlin'," said Levetta Belle, flashing a mouth full of white teeth in a big smile.

For that smile, and the term of endearment which Levetta Belle lavished on the reporter, she wins the day's $25 politeness prize awarded by THE TRIBUNE. Her household at 4238 Michigan avenue, where she is the sole support of four persons, she said will thus be enriched by what Belle calls "just actin' natural."

Tears of Happiness.

She was amazed when the reporter returned to her later and told her she would be the recipient of the prize. When she fully realized the truth, she stared at the reporter, while two tears gathered in her eyes and slid down her cheeks.

"Why, honey," she said solemnly, "it's God's work. That's what it is."

She went on to explain what $25 would mean to her. Her 64 year old mother was seriously ill with pneumonia, she said. She had wanted to call a doctor the previous night, "but didn't have the money." She opened her purse and revealed the medicine she had bought during the day. It had cost $1, a lot of money to Belle.

The other members of Belle's family living with her include a brother who is out of work and his 7 year old son. The family came to Chicago from Helena, Ark., in 1920.

Belle Has Competition.

Several persons encountered by the politeness reporter gave Belle serious competition for the award. In a drug store at State and Randolph streets a tall, gawky youth with unruly blonde hair and a grin placed a menu in front of the reporter.

"What is the veal stew like?" he was asked, after a pause.

The youth smiled, his eyes twinkled, and his nose wrinkled.

"It's—it's like veal stew, I'm afraid," he said.

"Well, then," the reporter said, studying the menu, "if I get the deviled ham sandwich luncheon, can I substitute something else for the coffee? Can I have tea?"

Fails to Ruffle Him.

"Sure," said the youth, "I'll give you tea."

"No, wait, I guess I don't want that. Make it chili, and be sure to bring me extra crackers," the reporter said in a cantankerous tone.

"You bet," said the boy, bringing chili and two packages of crackers.

He almost won the prize.

One other instance of courtesy, with a homey touch, rivaled that. A conductor on a Grand avenue street car, ushering in his customers, who included two women with children, cried cheerily:

BRITISH CHURCH LEADERS ATTACK TRAFIC IN ARMS

Charge Trade System Leads to War.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 14.—Bearing the signatures of sixteen prominent church leaders of Great Britain and Ireland including the archbishops of Canterbury, York, Dublin and Wales, a memorandum vigorously denouncing the trafic in armaments has been forwarded to the British government's arms inquiry commission.

The document, details of which were issued tonight, bitterly protests against the present system of the manufacture of and trade in armaments as "provocative of war"

The British commission, which was appointed as a result of the revelations in the investigation at Washington, D. C., was addressed as follows:

"It is repugnant to Christian morality that profits of an industry should depend on a degree of suspicion of hostility existing between nations and the condition of things which make this possible is not only objectionable on general principles, but adds difficulties to any attempts to make a peaceful settlement in the world."

The church leaders declare they are "gravely disturbed" by the allegations that the armaments industry used its financial strength to impede negotiations of treaties to limit and reduce arms, employed propaganda, and in some cases divulged practices indistinguishable from bribery and corruption to increase profits.

Although admitting their inability to deny or affirm the allegations, the churchmen suggest that the future manufacture of and trade in arms should be controled by an international authority. They also request that profits be eliminated and the closest national and international supervision be enforced.

In conclusion they promise to support the commission's efforts toward preventing abuses.

be 3 per cent of wages and 3 per cent of pay rolls.

It will be for the state to determine how the unemployment fund shall be raised, whether by a tax on employers' pay rolls entirely or on employés as well as employers, or by some other method. It will be for the state to determine how much an unemployed person is to receive and for how long. But the bill provides that a state shall not deny unemployment compensation to a person because he has refused to take the place of a striker or refused to accept a wage less than the prevailing wage, or refused work necessitating him to join a company union or to resign from a labor organization or to agree not to join a labor organization.

For the financing of the unemployment insurance system an excise tax is to be imposed on employers "for the privilege of having individuals in his employ," as the bill expresses it.

Pay Roll Tax Starts at 1 per Cent.

The tax would be levied on pay rolls beginning at 1 per cent in 1936 and rising to 3 per cent after 1937.

The Republican minority indorsed the old age pension system in principle, but declared the $15 a month contribution by the federal government wholly inadequate. The compulsory old age benefit system, the minority argued, is unconstitutional.

On the subject of unemployment insurance the Republican minority said:

"On account of the deplorable condition in which the employer finds his business at this time, the tragic condition in which the employé finds himself, due to the ever mounting cost of the necessities of life and the failure of wages to keep pace with these costs, and the fact that the number of unemployed is constantly increasing, there is doubt in our minds that the legislation proposed will result in any general benefit at this time.

"However, we favor the principle of unemployment insurance. These titles [unemployment insurance] of the bill aid those states desiring to establish such insurance and, therefore, we resolve all doubts in favor of this legislation."

CHILD, 9, HIDES BROKEN SPINE FROM PARENTS

Hollywood, Cal., April 14.—(AP)—The legend of the Spartan youth who remained silent while a fox in his tunic gnawed at his vitals had a modern counterpart here today.

Greta Karen Hale, 9, daughter of Alan Hale, film actor, lies in a hospital with a broken back.

Her injury was aggravated by the fact that for two days she attempted to conceal it.

Dr. E. W. Tice, attending physician, said the little girl may have to remain in a cast much longer than usual because of her heroic actions.

Last week, when visiting friends in Glendale, Greta fell down a flight of stairs. X-rays showed two broken vertebræ in her spine.

Mrs. Catherine Smith, 733 North Trumbull avenue, a resident of Chicago for 78 years, celebrated her 98th birthday last night surrounded by four generations of descendants.

In the group were three children, Mrs. Catherine Ford, John, and William Smith; six grandchildren, five great-grandchildren, and one great-great-grandchild, Frank Andreas, 1 year old.

Born in Mayence, Germany, in 1837, "Grandma" Smith came to Chicago with her parents in 1857, living at 105 East Delaware place from that time until 1929, a total of 72 years. During the last year of her residence there she won the annual Old Settlers' medal for unchanged residence.

For long life Mrs. Smith advocates six cups of coffee a day and three good meals. She has followed that regimen for most of her 98 years.

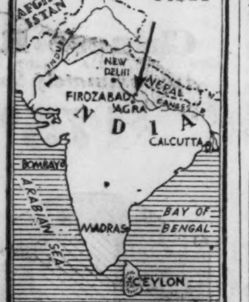
19 DIE, 35 HURT AS RELIGIOUS RIOTS SPREAD IN INDIA

NEW DELHI, India, April 14.—(AP)—Communal riots flaring throughout India took a week-end toll counted today at 19 killed, including 3 children burned to death, and at least 35 wounded.



The worst clash broke out at Firozabad, where smoldering antagonism between Hindus and Moslems flamed into fierce fighting during a Mohammedan procession in connection with the Muharram festival [first month of Mohammedan year].

Bricks were hurled from rooftops as the procession passed in front of a Hindu temple. This touched off a riot which was dispersed only when police fired thirty rounds into a shrieking mob. One Moslem was killed and seven combatants wounded. Three children and eight others were burned to death when trapped in a blazing house set afire by the rioters.

BONUS PAYMENT IN 1938 IS PLAN OF ROOSEVELT

Washington, D. C., April 14.—[Special.]—Prospects for early settlement of the bonus through a compromise providing full cash payment by 1938, and, in the meantime, substitution of interest bearing negotiable bonds for the present world war adjusted service certificates due in 1945, grew out of week-end efforts of President Roosevelt and administration leaders to remove the menace of this troublesome issue from the New Deal program.

The bonus problem was the subject of an extended White House conference late today between the President and Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi, to whom, as chairman of the finance committee, has been intrusted the task of spiking the "greenback" bonus bill already passed by the house.

Senator Harrison declined to discuss in any detail his conversation with the President, but he expressed the hope and confidence that the next few weeks would see an amicable settlement of the bonus problem.

ILLINOIS REVENUE BOARD URGED BY TAX COMMISSION

Report to Horner Asks Centralization.

Establishment of a new state department of revenue, to supervise virtually all of the revenue collecting functions of the state government, was recommended in the report of the state tax commission to Gov. Horner, the first instalment of which was made public yesterday.

The report, the first rendered by the present membership of the board—John C. Martin, Dr. Simeon E. Leland and Barnet Hodes—is the most comprehensive ever published by the commission, consisting of 708 pages. While statistics given are for the year 1933, the general discussion of tax problems in the state treats events up to last summer.

Contains 22 Tax Suggestions.

The recommendation of a department of revenue is one of 22 suggestions for legislative action to improve the state tax system. The report points out that at present 14 state agencies collect revenue for the state. All such functions except collection of automobile license fees and corporation organization taxes would be handled by the proposed new department.

A second important recommendation is that the legislature set up machinery to provide for protests against illegal tax levies before they are extended and bills rendered to taxpayers. Under the present system, only taxpayers who have filed objections to a levy which the courts find to be illegal are relieved of paying the tax. The non-protesting taxpayers have to pay the assessed levy. The report suggests that instead of such protests being filed in court, they be filed before extension of taxes with some semijudicial body, such as the commission itself, with provision for subsequent appeal to the courts.

Seeks to Extend Own Powers.

The commission also made a number of recommendations for the extension of its own powers. Part of these proposed changes would give it greater supervision over local taxing officials. Others would transfer to the commission assessment of certain types of property now assessed locally.

The report recommends that the present 1,454 local assessors in Illinois be greatly reduced in number, and that the offices of township collector, now filled in four counties, including the country towns of Cook county, be abolished.

SEE VENGEANCE OF GREAT SPIRIT IN DAM MISHAPS

Grand Coulee Indians Fear Famine.

Grand Coulee Dam, Wash., April 14.—(AP)—Older Indians hereabouts grunt knowingly and lift their eyes towards the home of the "great spirit" when accidents at the Grand Coulee dam are mentioned.

Eleven men have been killed and mishaps costing hundreds of thousands of dollars have plagued builders of the 63 million dollar power project in the Columbia river in the last year.

The contractors say accidents are bound to happen on such a project, where 3,000 men are employed. But the older Indians see them as an expression of divine displeasure against the white man for the salmon the structure will destroy.

"Dams killum salmon, no let um come up stream. Indians starve. Great spirit fixum," is the verdict of some of the Redskins.

The first costly delay was a million yard slide during preliminary excavating operations. This cost about $250,000. Then the railroad grade started sliding toward the river, causing relocation at a cost of between $200,000 and $300,000.

Then the great weight of the spoilbank, where excavated material was dumped, caused the highway grade to slip, making shipping hazardous and several times isolating the damsite.

Contractors building piers for the railroad-highway bridge below the dam ran into unforseen difficulties.

Another manirestation of the great spirit, some Indians said, was a 750,000 yard slide in the main spoilbank in Rattlesnake canyon. This damaged the long conveyor system and caused a two day shutdown of work.

Big ice floes attacked the temporary wooden bridge across the river, making necessary the construction of a $10,000 catwalk. Many accidents assailed the builder of the railroad to the site, holding up its completion for several months.

LILAC BLOOMS AGAIN TO CHEER SICK AND POOR

Annual Distribution to Be the Biggest Yet.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Lilac blossoms will be gathered again this year from flowerland in the Chicago region and brought to the city for distribution to hospitals, social settlements, and other institutions caring for the sick, crippled, and infirm.

Plans were announced yesterday for carrying out this project on a larger scale than ever before in the seventh annual "share your lilacs" campaign sponsored by the Chicago Plant, Flower and Fruit guild and THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

Committees for assembling the blossoms in suburbs and for distributing bouquets in the city are being organized in advance of the lilac blooming season, which usually is between May 10 and 20 in this area. In addition to having the coöperation of approximately 60 city and suburban garden clubs, as in former years, officials of the campaign will have the assistance of schools, parks, country clubs, and estate owners.

Blooms Brought to City.

The blossoms will be cut from the bushes growing around homes, clubs, in parks and elsewhere, and through various agencies they will be brought to local suburban railway stations. Then they will be transported to Chicago stations and from there hauled in TRIBUNE trucks to the hospitals and other institutions.

The Guild officials plan to distribute the lilacs on two different days. The actual dates will be announced later when gardeners can determine more accurately when the greatest number of blossoms will be open.

With the aid of more individuals and a more intensive effort, Guild officials expect to bring in hundreds of thousands of lilac blossoms, providing the buds are not injured by late frosts. Homes for the aged, orphanages and crippled children, along with more hospitals, have been added to the Guild's list of institutions where blossoms will be delivered free of charge. Another feature has been added to the plan this year, providing for blossoms to be turned over to the Visiting Nurse association for distribution to homes of the sick and poor.

Means More Blossoms.

Preliminary surveys of the territory indicate that there may be many more lilacs available this year than in former campaigns, because owners have learned, through the advice of expert horticulturists, that cutting the blossoms does not injure the bushes. Experience over the last few years indicates that where the blossoms are carefully cut off near the forks of the branches it actually stimulates the bushes and results in better flowers the following season.

At the proper time the Guild, through TRIBUNE stories and local organizations, will advise producers of lilacs when and how to cut the blossoms. Detailed information also will be given as to where they are to be delivered for shipment to the city.

Organization of the lilac campaign is under the supervision of the executive committee headed by Mrs. R. R. McCormick. Theodore V. Purcell, president of the Guild, and Mrs. Charles G. Dawes, honorary president, are serving on the committee. Mrs. James C. Carney, 83 Root street, Aurora, is suburban general chairman.

Chairmen in Suburbs.

The suburban divisional chairmen are:

MRS. K. E. THOLIN, 4541 Forest avenue, Downers Grove, Burlington railway division.

MRS. FRED A. RECORD, Barrington, Wisconsin division, Chicago and North Western railway.

MRS. J. E. CALLENDER, Calamus Lodge, St. Charles, Aurora and Elgin division.

MRS. W. H. SCHULTZ, 1519 South 7th avenue, Maywood, Galena division, Chicago and North Western railway.

MRS. M. R. MONROE, 7440 Phillips avenue, Chicago, Illinois Central railway division.

MRS. A. H. HARRISON, Bannockburn, R. F. D., Deerfield, Skokie division, North Shore Line.

MRS. CHARLES VAN DEURSEN, 1101 Forest avenue, Wilmette, Milwaukee division Chicago and North Western railway.

MRS. E. B. MASON, 10421 South Irving avenue, Chicago, Rock Island railway division.

The lilac distribution campaign was started by the Guild and THE TRIBUNE following an editorial, "Lilacs and What to Do With Them," which appeared in this newspaper in the spring of 1929. Since that time lilacs have been distributed each year to invalids, cripples, orphans, shut-ins and sick persons throughout the city. Lilacs were distributed to 27 hospitals last year.

LEGISLATURE STRIKES IN PORTO RICO; HITS U.S. 'DICTATORIAL POLICY'

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, April 14.—(AP)—Porto Rico's legislature went on strike today, leaders charging the federal government in Washington with a "dictatorial colonial policy." In what possibly was the first such walkout in history, the legislators quit 36 hours before the automatic end of the session, leaving much important legislation unenacted.

Spokesmen for the majority coalition in the house and senate said Oscar Chapman, assistant secretary of the interior, advised Gov. Blanton D. Winship to veto a bill creating a public corporation to supplant the recently organized rural rehabilitation corporation because it interfered with federal plans in Porto Rico, They forced through a resolution for sine die adjournment.

For weeks methods of carrying on island relief and rehabilitation have drown attacks from coalition members, who accused James Bourne, federal relief administrator, with political favoritism to the minority Liberal party, charges Bourne has repeatedly denied. Bourne was recently arrested and released under bail on a charge of libeling the legislature.

HOOVER SPENDS NIGHT HERE; SEES LEADERS ON TRIP

Herbert Hoover reached Chicago last night on his way to his home in Palo Alto, Cal. He spent the night with his friend, Arch W. Shaw, 50 Locust road, Winnetka, with whom he usually stays when passing through the city. According to Mr. Shaw, Mr. Hoover probably will leave today for the west coast. On his trip by motor from New York the former President met with Republican leaders at Thurmont, Md., and Wheeling, W. Va. Yesterday Mr. Hoover stopped in Fort Wayne, Ind., to visit Oscar Foellinger, a publisher, and at Winchester, Ind., to visit James P. Goodrich.

Robbers Compel Owner to Call Off Dog as They Work

Two robbers who entered the Veterans' inn at 914 North California avenue last night had to request the owner, John Korshak, to call off his dog Rover so they could loot the cash register. Korshak was ordered into a rear room and forced to lie on the floor. But when Rover refused to allow them behind the bar the bandits made the owner rise and hand them the money. Korshak was more afraid of pistols than the dog and gave the men $15.

St. Paul, Minn., April 14.—(AP)—Snared in the crime net spread by the department of justice a dozen persons—eleven men and one woman—will appear in the federal court here tomorrow to stand trial in connection with the $200,000 kidnaping of Edward G. Bremer, St. Paul banker, Jan. 17, 1934.

The prisoners include:

Arthur [Doc] Barker, alleged co-leader of the notorious Barker-Karpis mob. Alvin Karpis has not been seized.

Harold E. Alderton, Elmer Farmer, Byron Bolton, all charged with the actual kidnaping and hiding of Bremer at Bensenville, near Chicago.

Jess Dosle, Kansas City hoodlum; Edna [Rabbits] Marry, known as "the kissing bandit"; Oliver A. Berg, serving a life term in Joliet, Ill., prison; Bruno [Whitie] Austin, Edward E. Vilder, Philip J. Delaney, James J. Wilson and John J. McLaughlin, all of Chicago. They are accused of various rôles in the plot and handling of the ransom.

Vilder, a "bookie," was arrested in Chicago last summer and more than $8,000 identified as the ransom money found in his possession. Soon afterward McLaughlin, one time political power and former state legislator, was arrested, the government charging he was responsible for "changing" a considerable part of the ransom cash.

Those indicted for the kidnaping plot but still at large, besides Karpis, are Volney Davis, Harry Campbell, William Weaver, Harry Smawyer, William J. Harrison, Myrtle Eaton, Dr. Joseph P. Moran, and two others, names unknown.

Bremer was kidnaped after he drove his daughter to school. The kidnapers blocked his car at a street intersection and slugged him because he struggled. Walter W. Magee, his close friend, delivered the ransom money.

TWO IDENTIFIED AS MEMBERS OF ROBBERY GANG

Two more alleged members of the "Succas" gang of department store and electrical company robbers were arrested yesterday by Sergt. Jack Hanrahan of the detective bureau, and identified in two robberies. Their leader, Nick Succas, is in the county jail awaiting trial on six charges.

Michael Romanelli, 24 years old, 911 South Bishop street, was identified by Richard Rieckhoff, 8014 Maryland avenue, as one of three men who robbed the Westinghouse Electrical company plant of $885 on March 28. Romanelli was released on parole from the Pontiac reformatory last July after having served a year for robbery.

Joseph Phillips, 30 years old, 917 Vernon Park place, was identified by Stanley Klusack, office manager of the General Electric company at 350 North Ogden avenue, as one of the robbers who held up the office nearly a year ago.

3 RED OFFICIALS GET DEATH FOR STEALING FOOD

ROSTOV-ON-THE-DON, U. S. S. R., April 14.—(AP)—Three officials were sentenced to death today and seventeen others to prison for the systematic looting of supplies of the Rostov food products combinates.

Receiving the death penalty were the combinates' manager, Lomoff, State Collection Agent Reznichenko, and State Flour Mill Manager Mesheriakoff.

All were convicted of having had a hand in the appropriation of flour and other food supplies which were sold privately through speculators.

ETHIOPIAN ARMY TO DRAFT WOMEN FOR WAR SERVICE

Included in New Compulsory Training Decree.

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia, April 14.—(AP)—Black bearded Emperor Haile Selassie announced today the introduction of obligatory military service, including both men and women. The move was regarded as part of Ethiopia's answer to concentration of Italian troops in Eritrea and Italian Somaliland. The extent of the added military service was not specified.

In drafting women as well as men it was made plain that female military tasks will be confined to nursing and the like, with little probability that women would be actually trained for fighting.

Ethiopia was obviously still somewhat nervous regarding the dispute with Italy, now in the hands of the league of nations for settlement at the request of Ethiopia after direct negotiations had been broken off. While hoping that a "just" decision would be reached, it was stated in official quarters that a "state of defense" will be declared if no agreement materializes.

ARMY OF 1,000,000.

Figures as to the possible strength of an Ethiopian army have ranged as high as 1,000,000 men, all hardened desert folk, for whom the transformation from peaceful citizens to soldiers would be comparatively simple.

Italy now has upward of 30,000 men on African soil. Mussolini's troops are building roads toward the Ethiopian frontiers, where border clashes have caused the existing trouble.

As recently as April 4 Emperor Haile Selassie was reported to be moving 100,000 well armed and well equipped troops closer to Eritrea and Italian Somaliland. Authoritative sources have said the Ethiopian army is equipped with the latest type of rifles and plentifully supplied with machine guns, ammunition, and other stores.

To Recruit 75,000 Workmen.

ROME,, April 14.—(AP)—More than 75,000 skilled workmen will be sent to Italy's East African colonies to supplement thousands already dispatched, the ministry of colonies announced tonight. Some 5,700 of these already have been recruited and hundreds more are offering their services daily, attracted by the comparatively good wages and security of employment.

SEEK UNION OF CUBAN RADICALS TO BACK REVOLT

HAVANA, April 14.—(AP)—Leaders of the Cuban revolutionary party revealed today that plans for a new revolt movement against the government of President Carlos Mendieta are being pushed on two fronts.

Former President Ramon Grau San Martin, head of the "Autentico" party, is now in Miami and his aids here said he has been in conference there with Dr. Antonio Guiteras, chief of the radical secret society, "Joven Cuba" [Young Cuba].

The avowed purpose of the Grau-Guiteras conferences is to bring about a union of the two groups for the purpose of overthrowing the government.

The merging of the forces of Grau and Guiteras would result in a strong leftist front against the present government. Observers believed it would be the most potent and militant obstacle ever to confront President Mendieta.

The "Autenticos" are strong in numbers, but they have never been considered dangerous because of their lack of arms and fighting equipment. The "Joven Cuba" group, on the other hand, observers say, probably could put its hands on sufficient field equipment to cause considerable trouble.

SOVIET SCIENTIST FINDS SOLAR DAY VARIES IN LENGTH

TASHKENT. U. S. S. R., April 14.—(AP)—Prof. Voronin of Tashkent observatory announced today a study of movements of the planet Vesta convinced him the solar day varies in length.

The change from day to day is only a small fraction of a second, he said, but would make an appreciable difference in calculation of the distance to farther stars, since the length of the day as a unit of time enters into such calculations.

His conclusions, he explained, agreed with those of Prof. Ernest William Brown of Yale university.

DETROIT STARTS QUIZ ON RISES IN FOOD PRICES

Housewives Will Talk Before Judge.

Detroit, Mich., April 15. — (AP) — Housewives of Detroit will desert their dishwashing and dusting Thursday to attend a grand jury investigation into the rising price of bread, milk, meat and other items in the household budget.

Housewives' complaints have swelled to a city-wide clamor over a cent a quart jump in milk and a two cent jump in bread, with other commodities moving skyward in proportion.

Charges Price Raising Plot.

Prosecutor Duncan McCrea, in petitioning Judge Henry S. Sweeny of the Recorder's court for the grand jury session, expressed his belief that the increased prices are a result of price fixing conspiracies and combinations in violation of the state anti-trust laws.

Judge Sweeny recognized the housewives' interest and announced that the one man grand jury will be as "open as possible." He himself will conduct the investigation. The cent a quart increase in the price of milk will be the first topic of inquiry. Bread will be next.

"Other situations," Attorney McCrea said, "will be inquired into." Officials pointed out that the language of the petition was broad enough to cover an investigation of the price of meat, gasoline or any other commodity distributed by dealers banded together in a trade organization.

Milkmen Under Inquiry.

Attorney McCrea told the court he attributed the increase in the milk price to an alleged conspiracy on the part of the Metropolitan Detroit Milk Dealers association and the Michigan Milk Bottle exchange.

The directors of the association are now under bond awaiting trial on charges of violating the anti-trust law which McCrea filed several weeks ago when he opened his drive to ease the housewives' burden.

Meanwhile Attorney McCrea has served notice on the Michigan Bakers association that prosecutions are on the way unless the price of bread returns to 10 cents. Some of the bakeries already have reduced to that level.

Assistant Prosecutor Robert Peretto reported that one concern which reduced its bread price to the 10 cent level found itself a target for a boycott demand in the retail grocers trade journal and that 1,000 stores dropped the product.

Food Rises in Quincy.

Quincy, Ill., April 14.—[Special.]—the prices of foodstuffs have more than doubled in Quincy in the last eighteen months. In many instances those on relief are better fed and better clad than others. Some of the relief clients are sleeping on mattresses for the first time in their lives. The mattresses are being furnished free by the relief organization.

THE ILLINOIS LEGISLATURE AND FEDERAL RELIEF.

The sales tax increase has run into difficulties in both chambers of the Illinois legislature. The growing opposition indicates that the two-thirds majority needed for an emergency act will be difficult, if not impossible, to obtain. The house of representatives refused a bare majority. It would be strange if the legislature took orders passively without protest and it is creditable to the objecting legislators that they will not.

Illinois has been arbitrarily informed that it must raise 36 million dollars for the support of its unemployables. The dubious national work relief act, otherwise known as the political campaign fund, is supposed to take care of persons who can and will work. Illinois officials have tried to find out from Mr. Hopkins in Washington how he figures the Illinois load, but have not been successful. They were told what they had to do and they passed the order on to the legislature. Local estimates cut Mr. Hopkins' figures about in half, but orders remain orders.

One thing is certain. The national administration discriminates between states and plays favorites unblushingly. The figures for 1934 show that Florida, for instance, as a state contributed nothing toward emergency relief. Local funds amounted to $11,307. The federal government paid $18,048,000, or 99.9 per cent of Florida's emergency relief. Continuing the examination of the states, it is discovered that in Georgia the federal government paid 95.5 per cent of the relief cost, in Arkansas 94.8 per cent, Oklahoma 95.3 per cent, Louisiana 97.9 per cent, Mississippi 98.1 per cent, New Mexico 99.1 per cent, North Carolina 98.6 per cent, North Dakota 92 per cent, South Carolina 97.3 per cent, South Dakota 93.7 per cent, Tennessee 95.6 per cent, and Wyoming 97.7 per cent.

Illinois legislators, aware of this favoritism, based of course on the activities of the favorite state congressmen in Washington, display a most commendable independence when they refuse to run the state of Illinois at the dictates of New Yorkers in posts of authority in Washington. If the Illinois congressmen had anything like the spunk of the members of the general assembly it wouldn't be so easy to put Illinois in the submissive list.

The country seems to be divided into two classes of states, one running the show and taking the profits, and the other doing the work and paying for it. Unless the state governments of the second class protect their own people the people will continue to get a very raw deal, with the worst yet to come.

THE MENACE OF SYPHILIS.

Dr. Cutter's discussion the other day of the prevalence of syphilis must have come as a shock to most laymen. He reported that each year half a million new cases of the disease occur in this country. Between 1921 and 1929, he reported, the number of cases of syphilis exceeded the number of cases of tuberculosis by nearly a million.

The record is an appalling one, particularly in view of the devastating nature of the disease to those who contract it and to their offspring. The rapid spread of the infection suggests defective education in prevention and treatment. How defective this education may be is further suggested by the recent disclosures of sexual promiscuity among students at the University of Iowa, Kenyon college, and elsewhere. Perhaps lectures on the prevention, recognition, and cure of syphilis ought to be given in the senior year at high school.

Plainly the subject is one which ought no longer to be passed over in silence. It is absurd to spend hundreds of millions of dollars for the conservation of the country's physical resources while neglecting the most valuable of all natural resources, the human mind and the human body. The taboo on public discussion of syphilis ought to be broken down as speedily as possible.

Perhaps the birth control leagues and similar organizations whose activities have not tended to diminish sexual promiscuity might turn their attention now to the prevention and cure of the disease. The decline in the birth rate has been so rapid in the last few decades as to suggest that the knowledge of methods of birth control is pretty well disseminated through the population, or at least through that part of the population which wants it. As recently as 1921 the birth rate for the country was 24.2 per thousand of inhabitants. In 1933 the rate had declined to 16.4. The syphilis rate has been climbing steadily.

The grand objective of the birth controlers is an improvement in the quality of the population. The prevention and cure of syphilis would serve the same end.

A CLERGYMAN'S PHILOSOPHY OF HUMAN PROGRESS.

Dr. Gaius Glenn Atkins of the Auburn Theological seminary, New York—if we understand from excerpts at hand the trend of his remarks at the Sunday Evening club—will not enjoy the favor of his radical clerical brethren. We have heard from these shepherds a gloomy report of our condition to which we are invited to subscribe as an inducement to the prompt adoption of their proposals for revolutionary reform. But Dr. Atkins seems to favor a philosophy of human progress which will suggest to any Marxian the socialist conception of religion as the opium of the people, for it recommends a perspective or sense of proportion which will hardly support violent and sweeping judgments or utopian panaceas.

"Half of our discouragement tonight," said Dr. Atkins, "is because we are not getting on faster in regions where our father's father never expected to see us at all. The streets of Chicago are paved with realized ideals. There are any number of things we here tonight accept as a matter of course which were once distant hopes toward which men struggled at sore cost, whose realization they sometimes despaired of seeing. Every ideal carries a battle flag, and it must be won against opposition. Take the long view. Our progress does not belong to days or even decades, but to the centuries. We have been halted before; we have come a long, hard way. We act as if there had never been any trouble in the world before, whereas there is no disaster into which you and your time have fallen which the human race has not looked upon and lived through. We need perspective; you cannot see clearly until you have set your hopes and fears against the vast backgrounds of history."

And this is not the worst. Dr. Atkins seems not to believe in the abolition of human error by statute. We suspect he is not impressed by the myth of the benignant state. He must have consulted human experience, for he declares that "in the individual lies the hope of accomplishment of the great ideals represented by Palm Sunday. We have not won social justice, but we can be just in our personal dealings. When enough of us want social justice, and work for it, we can secure it. We have not set good will upon the thrones of the nations, but we can enthrone good will in our own purposes. When enough of us want peace we can secure it. We have not won the war against war yet, but we can help to secure peace in our own lives. When enough of us want the Christian order in the world we can establish it."

Obviously this must postpone the millennium and gives cold comfort to the impatient idealist who sees a short cut by way of politics to the solution of all our social problems. But Dr. Atkins apparently believes in his job and in the job of the church, which is to inspire men to better things and thus to better society and government. This is the high function of the church in human society. It does not promise the millennium through political machinery. It goes to the root of human betterment and points the only way, a long way, an arduous way, but the only way that will arrive.

COLLEGIANS AND THEIR OPINIONS.

A college undergraduate is supposed to be an inquiring sort of person. He has matriculated at his school, in theory at least, because he is full of curiosity and wants to know a great many things he will need later in life for his own profit. Part of what he gains by applying this curiosity he'll use to make a living, and part of it he'll use for his internal satisfaction.

The fact that many collegians are enjoying four years of pleasant club life can be ignored. The collegiate state of mind is affected by that, but it is not an influence in the matter now being considered. A status of active curiosity is not to be found along with a status of profound convictions. An intelligent and really curious undergraduate would not trust any of his convictions. He would think that a definite conclusion was contradictory of his purpose. He would be skeptical of everything he was inclined to regard as definitive because he would say to himself that he was in a period of inquiry and was endeavoring to gather the information upon which later he would base his decisions, when those decisions would affect not only his own life but the conduct of his community, and, along with the decisions of his fellows, the future of his nation.

Youth is inclined to resent the conditions of this preparation. Its skepticism does not turn upon itself but rather upon the experience and opinions of the world that have preceded it. That world seems to invite a fresh young attack upon all the errors with which it is beset. In all colleges everywhere there has been for centuries this young revolutionary movement, very little critical of its own mental process and of its own information and violently critical of what has preceded it.

The decisiveness of these young opinions does not square with the fact that the undergraduate is where he is and is engaged in what he's doing on the theory that he is preparing himself for the exercise of mature judgment. If he has already arrived at these mature judgments he is wasting his time in seeking a basis for them. He will discover that within ten years, if he has been worthy of his training, he has modified all those opinions, and within twenty years he may have completely reversed them. At all times, if his education has taken effect, he will preserve a curiosity which will test his opinions before he imposes them on his own mind or on any one else's.

THREE-YEAR LICENSES.

[Peoria Transcript.]

A California legislator proposes that automobile licenses in that state be issued for a period of three years instead of one year as at present. This is part of a general plan to reduce taxes on motorists.

Although a practical test might reveal objections, the plan appears to have merit. Coupled with a reduction in automobile license fees, it might save money for motorists and government alike.

By issuing a three-year license at the present cost of a one-year license the state would save two years' expense, which is no small item. Motorists would benefit not only by reductions in costs but by elimination of the annual bother of making out applications and swearing to them.

The three-year period also seems to be the logical length of time for issuing license plates. Most persons use a car three years and then trade it in on a new car. Used cars are seldom used more than three years and then are junked.

The plan is worthy of investigation and a test by some forward looking state.

IT WAS "Be Kind to Animals" week last week. Now let this week be a "Be Kind to Republicans" week. Goodness, the way the Democrats ride them around is just too awful and they have to suffer terrible pangs every time they think of that five billion dollar work relief bill and realize that they could have done it, too, but they never thought of it. And everybody gives them the raspberry and all the joke writers use them in place of the mother-in-law joke the plumber-forgetting-his-tools joke, and the big-fish-that-got-away joke. Billions and billions of dollars poured out in Washington and the Republicans have to stand around and watch the Democrats lapping it up like a cat lapping cream. So let's all let up on the poor things for this week, at least. Remember now, this is "Be Kind to Republicans" week. Lay off 'em, you big brutes, they've suffered enough!

What is this flame between us that I go
Quiet along my ways, wearing a face
Like a strange mask, dusty and lacking grace,
And underneath it, in a kind of glow,
Feeling myself not young again, but so
Enchanted that in some unguessed-at place
I shall come on a mirror and retrace
My steps to see a girl I used to know?
This is not love as I know love, but rather
A fire that burns away the falling years,
And leaves me secret and secure and shaken,
Not any more a woman lost, forsaken,
But the shy girl who feared to stop and gather
The bittersweet of wisdom and its tears.

Very well, then meet me this afternoon at three o'clock at the corner of Michiganski avenuotti and Vanni Burenni.

THE CULBERTSONS and the P. Hall Simses have ended their great bridge match in New York. It doesn't interest me that the Culbertsons won and that Mrs. Sims said when asked to speak over the radio at the end of the contest, "I can't, I can't, after flopping that slam." Historic words truly, that will go rattling down the ages with Mme. Pompadour's famous wail, "After us the deluge." I don't play bridge myself or know anything about it, but I have read every day with breathless interest the recitals of the great bridge contest, not to find out the scores, but to know whether Mr. Culbertson slammed Mr. Sims over the head with the sofa, or if he hit him with the table. And I have been greatly surprised and deeply disappointed that Mr. Sims did not poke Mr. Culbertson in the nose and that the ladies did not pull each other's hair hourly. From my newspaper reading I thought bridge was always that way. This must have been a most unusual game.

AND THIS IS THE LAST week in Lent. After this week you can resume again what you gave up for Lent. Of course, you didn't give up whatever it was for more than a couple of days, but you can make a grand gesture about taking it back. And don't feel sad because you're such a slimy little hypocrite. Aren't we all!

THE GOVERNMENT IS GOING to eliminate grade crossings at railroads, which is a splendid thing and should have been done long ago, but this government or no government is going to educate our demon drivers so they will be able to read. Take that little word "STOP" on the signs at country cross roads. They can't read it. The motor laws ought to be revised so that every motorist will be required to buy a dictionary and a spelling book when he gets his car. Then he should step up to one of the signs and read it right out loud to the examiner, "S-T-O-P," and then he should tell the meaning—to come to a full pause—to remain in a stationary position—to cease movement, etc., etc., etc. Illiteracy among car drivers is a fruitful source of accidents. Something should be done about it. Write to your congressman today.

THIS IS SPRINGTIME and the water in the lake must be much warmer than it was in January when it was full of icebergs. Wonder why the Polar Bears who love to get photographed swimming in the lake in January never seem to care about swimming in the lake in April? Gosh! people don't do anything nowadays unless it's spectacular.

PRESCIENCE OF FROST.

With slowing step he meets each winter night.
The path that spans the barnyard and the glow
Of friendly open fire and soft lamp light
Grows long; his gallant heart has come to know
He shall not tread a furrow in the Spring
Nor ever climb again the cedared hill
Or rest his eyes on wild plums burgeoning
Along the lowlands he is won't to till.

Upon the winds of April there will ride
New silvered harbingers of life to come
(For fifty years his heart has gently cried
A welcome to the first delphinium).
The hedge he planted by the pasture bars
Will bloom once more. The poplars in the lane
Extend their stately heights more near the stars
And who shall mark their loveliness again!

HOW THE STOMACH WORKS.

EVERY now and then some one will insist that the stomach really does not count for much as a digestive organ; that it serves merely as a receiving pouch for food. While it is true that the stomach does not wholly dissolve all forms of food, yet it plays an important part in digestion.

We are advised quickly enough when things go wrong with the stomach, when painful contractions occur, or when the organ fails to empty with its wonted regularity. On such occasions we give the stomach assiduous attention, even to the point of loading it with concoctions that are guaranteed to digest tin cans, tenpenny nails, or what have you.

Physiologists have added much to our knowledge of the behavior of the stomach in health and in disease, and as a result we have greater respect for this important portion of the digestive tract. Not the least of its functions is the production of gastric juice. When this fluid is unmixed with food it looks like water and consists of hydrochloric acid and certain enzymes (substances that help to dissolve food), pepsin, and rennin. In the absence of food the secretion is greatly reduced, but whenever food reaches the stomach the walls distend and secretion is accelerated. Formation of gastric juice is also stimulated by a nervous reflex, such as the sight, odor, and taste of food, and by substances that are liberated by partially digested food.

About fifty years ago Samuel Fenwick, an English physician, called attention to the fact that atrophy (shrinking) of the glands of the stomach is accompanied by anemia. He said: "It seems not to have been sufficiently borne in mind that the anemia that so rivets the attention of the practitioner is only a symptom and may arise from an imperfect performance of the functions of any of the organs engaged in the formation of blood."

More and more we are learning that body functions are dependent one upon another. For example, a certain process in digestion may not occur unless a preceding or preparatory step has been properly completed. Even though an automobile is provided with a perfect chassis and a marvelous engine, it will not perform unless the spark plugs are in order and the timing device perfect. So it is with digestion. One of the essential conditions is that the stomach shall produce hydrochloric acid in proper amount. The absence of acid is a factor in the production of anemia and, conversely, its presence has something to do with the maintenance of blood in its normal state.

In a very interesting experiment W. B. Cassel administered beefsteak daily to patients with anemia. No improvement whatever occurred until the meat was treated with gastric juice prior to feeding. As soon as this was done the same patients improved rapidly.

The symptoms of deficient acid in the stomach may be so mild and may exist for so long a period that correction of the condition is not thought of. Nevertheless, the lack of acid is followed sooner or later by an impaired state of nutrition and failure to absorb certain essential foods, vitamins, and minerals. It may well be that this lack is the beginning of many of our deficiency diseases, such as scurvy, pellagra, beriberi, and one or more types of anemia.

Whenever a patient shows signs of anemia or of imperfect digestion we must determine with fair accuracy the amount of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. While this is a relatively simple procedure, yet it may have to be repeated several times under varying conditions in order to obtain reliable data. Whenever the appetite is failing, particularly if there is an aversion to meat, if there is slight but gradual weight loss, if the tongue is even slightly sore, and if loose bowel movements are common, absence of hydrochloric acid must be investigated.

If acid is needed it may be taken with meals as prescribed by the physician.

PROLAPSED OVARY.

D. C. writes: In a recent article you stated that the serious effects of prolapsed stomach were greatly exaggerated. What harm can result from a prolapsed ovary?

REPLY.

It is very difficult for the ovary to sink down into the pelvis, as the structures of the pelvis normally interfere. Sometimes the ovary will greatly enlarge because of a tumor or cystic growth, and the weight will cause dragging on the tubes and ligaments, causing it to become somewhat dependent. Diseased ovaries require attention.

RABIES.

J. C. writes: Is it possible to declare a quarantine on dogs because of the prevalence of hydrophobia?

REPLY.

Yes. The state department of agriculture has declared a quarantine on dogs in Sangamon county, Ill. The health departments of many states are vested with this power. Rabies in Illinois is now more prevalent than at any time since 1928.

INHERITANCE TAX.

Wilmette, Ill., April 9.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I am one of three executors for a Wisconsin estate which was probated in that state eighteen years ago. At that time we paid an inheritance tax to Cook county, Ill., and I hold a receipt for the payment of $225.01. The attorney who represented us said the total payment was $291.11 and that it constituted an inheritance tax deposit fund to be held by the trust company, drawing interest at 3 per cent until the termination of the trust. This termination occurred Jan. 1 last and the estate is now distributable to the four original heirs, all of whom are living. The attorney further told us that if two or more heirs were living on Jan. 1, 1935, the entire deposit with interest would be returned to us by order of the court. If this statement was and is true, can you tell me what must be done to obtain the refund and how to go about it?

E. O. E.

Where a will creates contingent interest, the statute directs that an inheritance tax be paid on the assumption that the contingencies happen in such a way as to produce the maximum tax, but that after the course of events has shown how the contingencies actually do happen, a refund shall be allowed to adjust the previous payment with the actual facts. It is not clear whether your letter relates to such a refund or to rights dependent on the wording of a trust instrument.

In general, the attorney who gave you the original information would be in a better position to advise you than we are if he is still available. If he is not available, we advise you to employ another attorney to ascertain the facts and take appropriate action.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

INHERITANCE.

Riverside, Ill., April 9.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Under Illinois law can a person refuse an inheritance? 2. If the debts and judgments against the estate are liable to amount to more than the assets, would it be advantageous to do so, as in my case? 3. The widow and children have already refused it, and I would be next in line. 4. What legal form is required?

R. E. B.

1. Yes.
2. Ordinarily the inheritance is not turned over to the heir until the debts have been paid.
3. It seems probable that exceptional facts are involved which you have not adequately stated.
4. If there is a will, we should have its wording before us in order to advise you.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

PARIS TODAY

By MAY BIRKHEAD.

PARIS.—You have all heard the joke about the American who saw the sign on a Paris shop, "English spoken." He went in, found no one could understand him, and remarked, "I guess the only English spoken here is by the customers." Yet the French, and particularly the Parisians, are going in more and more for English words and phrases. When it comes to eating France lends many more terms than she borrows. Still, in any one of a dozen centrally located restaurants you will see club sandwich on the menu, and the waiters take few liberties with its English pronunciation. The same is true of welsh rarebit. For several years the cocktail has had quite a vogue here and the word is pronounced about as at home; but some purists suggest that it might be coquetel.

In sport, in dress—especially men's—and in the radio, the theater, the movies, English terms have been steadily creeping in. Two Frenchmen, playing tennis, will cry out "quinze a!" or "trente a!" meaning fifteen or thirty all. But they have not anglicized deuce, which they call égalité [equality]. Large motor vehicles carrying many passengers they call an autocar, although for the ordinary machine they say automobile or voiture.

The term "week-end," with all it implies of holiday visiting, has come into wide use. The French formerly talked much of the semaine anglaise—literally English week—but that meant the Saturday half-holiday for workers.

Latterly, for the radio, Paris has been debating what to call the announcer. That is, what the announcer can be called that is fit to print. The French word nearest to it, annonceur, means an advertiser. So the word speaker got a vogue; and the question is now what to call a woman speaker. The outcry against speakerine has been tremendous, but a good many here figure that speakeress would do, although some would like to drop the English word altogether and substitute lectrice [a woman reader].

Several well known brands of American cigarets are much smoked here. You will hear Frenchmen asking at the tobacco shops for "Lookies" or "Looky Streek"; they pronounce Chesterfield without pronouncing the D; Camel they ask for as an American would, except that the accent is on the last syllable.

What we call at home a dinner jacket or tuxedo is universally known here as a smoking, with the stress on the end. The term manager, with a French final twist, is thought very up-to-date for any one who has charge of a stage, screen, or boxing star—or flop. At the race track you will hear dead heat, which is Frenchified into four syllables—de-ad he-at.

Every one here knows—and many say—"O. K.," which Maurice Chevalier introduced on coming back from his first trip to Hollywood.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, The Tribune.

FROM VIRGINIA'S MOTHER.

Oak Park, Ill., April 10.—Dr. Trowbridge has just assured me that Virginia is better. You can't imagine the great joy that fills my heart as I write these lines.

Only a mother whose child had been stricken with a similar disease might understand the bitter agony I endured as I prayed God to spare me his most precious gift—my beloved daughter.

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE was the first to come to our aid when Dr. Trowbridge said: "Unless we find donors recently recovered from scarlet fever or erysipelas and of the same type of blood, Virginia cannot possible live."

I cannot find words that will tell you how grateful and thankful we are. Were I to say it a thousand times it would not be enough.

Virginia said: "Say to THE TRIBUNE that I shall study and work hard, and some day make them proud and glad of the life they helped to save."

MRS. CHARLES P. HOWARD.

HELPED BY MRS. BEVANS.

Chicago, April 6.—As I read the Voice of the People it seems to me that most of the articles are in criticism of some one or something. Perhaps this column was created for the purpose of giving one a chance to air his grievances. Personally I want to express my appreciation. I find a great deal of help through the articles written by Mrs. Gladys Huntington Bevans on child and adolescent psychology.

RUTH B. HUNTER (Mrs. W. E.).

GROCERS AND THE SALES TAX.

Chicago, April 10.—The action of the state legislature today proves conclusively that our lawmakers are fully informed on the attitude of retailers and the general public on the sales tax. While 8,000 Chicago independent grocers and 10,000 from downstate are complying with the letter of this law, they have, through their association, consistently opposed extension of it and the present proposed increase in rate. In this they now have the support of more than one million of their customers who are voters. Grocers know more about the need of relief than any other line of business, but they also feel that a state with an annual income of $170,000,000 should be able to economize somewhere sufficiently to meet this added relief burden without increasing an already unpopular and inequitable tax.

H. F. STICKNEY,
Executive director, Chicago and Cook County Retail Grocers and Butchers' Association.

TAX YIELDS COMPARED.

Chicago, April 10.—On the financial page in your issue of April 5, it was said that the income tax collections for 1934 amounted to $321,726,348; for 1933, $230,348,089; that the increase amounted to $91,378,258, or 39.7 per cent.

There appears to be a fallacy in these figures in that the word "dollar" is used as the same measure of value for both years. This is not so. If we revise the figures on the income tax collections for the two years, using 59 cent dollars as a common measure of value, the results show a decrease of $67,561,348, or 17.3 per cent.

B. A. SHEEHAN.

FOR A BRIDLE PATH.

Chicago, April 10.—What's the reason we cannot have a bridle path in the forest preserve in Ryan's woods on 87th and Western avenue? We folks on the south side in Beverly Hills would appreciate it very much. The expense to the county would be trifling. All it would require would be cinders.

C. R. P.

OPPRESSION IN SLOVAKIA.

Chicago, April 8.—On behalf of the Association of Slovak Newspaper Men of America allow me to voice our disapproval of the series of articles that are being published in the Sunday editions of your esteemed newspaper and which are written by Mr. Alex Small. The articles are entirely unfair to the Slovak people and their struggle for self-government. The spirit of the articles is too one-sided and they fail to properly evaluate and interpret conditions as they exist in Slovakia. The Slovak people and their ambitions are not as ridiculous as Mr. Small portrays them.

THE CHICAGO DAILY TRIBUNE and its publisher have long waged a fight for freedom of the press and for the preservation of the principles of democracy. We, too, are interested in these principles and it grieves us to see your correspondent approving the acts of the Prague government, which has instituted rigid press censorship and limited the freedom of speech to a minimum.

FLORIAN V. TYLKA,
Secretary, Association of Slovak Newspaper Men of America.

EASY MONEY.

Chicago, April 8.—THE TRIBUNE has printed many cartoons and editorials pointing out the evil results of so much federal money being distributed to the states and various communities. It has roundly criticized the five billion dollar pork relief bill just put through. It has shown how these gifts are gradually sapping the independence of the states and centralizing all authority in Washington. Yet, when Mayor Kelly goes down there to get a hunk for Chicago, THE TRIBUNE makes no comment, but actually tones its news reports of his visit to show how cordially he was received and what an important personage he appeared to be. Does this silence imply endorsement of his action? Does it mean that THE TRIBUNE thinks it is all right for Chicago to grab off a lot of this easy money and all wrong for other states and cities to do the same? Or is it just that THE TRIBUNE wants to stand in with the mayor? Certainly after all the uproar you have created about such loans your silence can imply nothing less than what I have suggested.

J. E. REMINGTON.

WATERWAY BENEFITS.

Chicago, April 10.—As Mr. Dooley used to say, I see by the paper that due to cheap waterway transportation it is possible to bring Argentine oats into Chicago for shipment to Cedar Rapids, Ia., in competition with oats from Illinois and Iowa.

Quotation from THE TRIBUNE of April 10: "This is unusual, in that most of the foreign grain imported so far has gone into consumptive channels in the seaboard territory."

It would be interesting to know how the waterway advocates can justify such an economic condition.

LESLIE R. PYLE.

FIVE MEN TO ONE COLT.

Escanaba, Mich., April 7.—Your writings by Mr. Ridgway on the doings at the experimental farm are funny, to say the least. Imagine it taking five men to break, or even hitch up a big draft colt.

R. G. ELLIOTT.

CRITICIZING THE CLERGY.

Chicago, April 12.—I enter my protest against Ham Fish for singling out Protestant clergymen for criticism. Not one of them is any worse than the Rev. Mr. Coughlin.

STRIKES MENACE WESTERN PORTS, LUMBER REGIONS

Radicals Appear Again on Pacific Coast.

San Francisco, Cal., April 14.—(AP)—Strike clouds reminiscent of those preceding last summer's Pacific coast maritime strike and the spectacular mass walkout of labor here loomed again today in the far west.

Fear that 75,000 loggers and lumber workers might walk out was expressed by Charles W. Hope, Seattle regional labor board director.

Concern over the coast shipping situation also centered at Seattle. There representatives of 35,000 maritime workers will meet tomorrow to consider support for striking oil tanker seamen.

Indications the Seattle maritime union meeting might develop internal conflict between left and right wing factions were strengthened by a statement from E. B. O'Grady, president of the Maritime federation of the Council of Marine Crafts, the organization calling the meeting.

"If control is wrested from me a marine strike is inevitable," said O'Grady. He called the meeting to consider "possible concerted action in the tanker strike."

Other troubles, such as a threatened strike by 1,000 San Francisco bakers and a walkout of 350 warehousemen at Stockton, Cal., added gloom to the general picture.

Fears Big Lumber Strike.

Hope, Seattle labor board director, explained he had been on an "opinion sounding" tour of the vast lumber region spreading into five states. He declared: "Should the strike go ahead, it will be more far-reaching than the longshore strike last year."

Director Hope said his reports were from Washington, Oregon, California, Idaho and Montana and that he was informed employers were contemplating closing their plants unless "a happy medium" was reached on the workers' demands. The strike, led by the United Timber workers, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, tentatively has been set for May 6.

"I fear that company unions of lumber workers may strike in sympathy," Hope declared. He said the men are demanding a 36-hour week, increase of the minimum wage from 45 to 75 cents an hour and pay and a half for overtime.

Workers Ratify Rubber Pact.

Akron, O., April 14.—(AP)—Union rubber workers in the Goodyear, Goodrich, and Firestone tire plants ratified today an agreement averting their threatened strike.

The agreement was reached in Washington last night between labor leaders and officials of the three companies following conferences arranged by Secretary of Labor Perkins, and was subject to the ratification of the three local chapters of the United Rubber Workers' union, an A. F. of L. affiliate.

It provides that the companies will meet with representatives of any group of employés for collective bargaining. It also postpones strike action pending final court tests of orders by the national labor board that Goodrich and Firestone should hold immediate elections for representation in collective bargaining.

Each union chapter met separately at closed meetings. Coleman Claherty, president of the rubber workers' council, announced first that the Goodrich local accepted the agreement during a morning meeting. Firestone union workers were next to agree. The Goodyear local then followed.

TWO CIRCUSES READY TO OPEN HERE SATURDAY

The year's first circus is coming to Chicago today and for those interested persons who miss the preliminary show of unloading animals and paraphernalia, a second circus will arrive tomorrow and begin similar preparations for the competitive opening of both big shows here on Saturday.

The Hagenbeck-Wallace and Forepaugh-Sells Bros. circus will be the first to put in its appearance, arriving today on the Pennsylvania and beginning its unloading on the tracks at Wood street, four blocks from Chicago Stadium where it will stage a 16 day engagement. This will be the first time a circus troupe has given performances in the Stadium.

Tomorrow morning the Cole Bros.-Clyde Beatty circus will arrive over the New York Central lines and will be moved immediately into the Coliseum from the tracks at 18th and Clark streets. Rehersals will be held for four days before the opening. The circus will leave its headquarters in Rochester, Ind., tonight.

Spike O'Donnell Bodyguard Faces Inquiry on Assassins

Police said that when he recovered he would be taken before the grand jury and questioned under oath on the identity of the man or men who shot him. Gimp, the bodyguard of Edward [Spike] O'Donnell, refused to give the police any information concerning the assassins.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

With the avowed purpose of improving the radio programs of the country, the recently formed Woman's National Radio committee, claiming to represent 10,000,000 club women, picked the four "best" programs on the air the other day. As recorded here, they were the NBC Sunday evening Symphonic hour with guest conductors and soloists, the Columbia Concert Hall [not heard locally], the March of Time, and the You and Your Government series.

Plenty of listeners will disagree with these selections but it must be admitted that all of these programs are worth while, several of them distinguished. But there are several others of great merit that were not mentioned.

In their report the judges admitted that they gave only classical music consideration, apparently on the theory that 10 million club women would be unlikely to indorse anything else.

Lawrence Tibbett lost out, it was said, because he "often included very light selections, instead of singing the musical literature that brought him recognition." The ladies apparently forgot the fact that the movies as well as opera helped him on the road to fame. Tibbett knew last fall when he began introducing such things as "St. Louis Blues" on his broadcasts that he would offend those he called "musical snobs" but he didn't mind.

Among the notable musical programs the judges did not mention in their final deliberations were the New York Philharmonic orchestra, the Chicao Symphony orchestra and the Detroit Symphony under Victor Kolar's direction, the Metropolitan Opera, or the Opera in English broadcasts.

In awarding the March of Time first honors in the nonmusical division the judges explained that the NBC Sunday Afternoon Radio theater was ruled out because of "long, tiresome announcements which seriously interfered with the enjoyment of the excellent dramatic productions."

"Immortal Dramas," a Bible series presented from Chicago, and "One Man's Family" were cited as excellent examples in the nonmusical category.

The only comedy programs mentioned were Stoopnagle and Budd, and the Itty Bitty Kiddy hour, both given to satirizing other radio programs. The ladies concluded their report with a warning to sponsors, declaring that only enemies are made by "lapel seizing" announcements. And right they were in this contention.

The judges were Fannie Hurst, Eva Le Galliene, A. Walter Kramer, Mrs. A. Walter Kramer, Mrs. Oliver Harri-Le Gallienne, A. Walter Kramer, Mrs. A. Walter Kramer, Mrs. Oliver Harri-Naumburg, and Mrs. Elmer James

When the Musical Clock celebrates its 5th anniversary on WBBM from 7 to 9 a. m. today Halloween Martin, its voice, will round out five years without missing a broadcast—except for vacations. . . . The Hoofinghams, comedy serial heard over WENR nightly, will go network over WMAQ-NBC at 10:45 p. m. beginning tonight.

Stoopnocrats Organize to Do Good with Fun

100 Society Folk Enroll as Charter Members.

BY JUDITH CASS.

IF you chance upon any of a hundred society folk these spring days greeting one another with a cheerful "Hello, Herman," don't think they're cracking wise or suffering a mental lapse. They're only Stoopnocrats.

This means they're members of the Society of Stoopnocracy in New York City, founded not so long ago as a worthy counterpart of Ye Ancient Order of Froth Blowers for the sole purpose of helping "charity with hilarity."

Having already contributed more than $1,800 to national charitable organizations through the New York membership, the charter "Stoops" are now issuing invitations to their friends in other cities to join them. Considering the fact that the Froth Blowers, founded in 1924 by Sir Alfred Fripp, late surgeon to King George V. of England, have enlisted more than 800,000 members throughout the British empire and given away more than $1,000,000 to British charities, the Stoopnocrats think their future looks bright.

Richard Bentley, Ayres Boal, William Burry Jr., Arthur M. Barnhart, Lawrence K. Callahan, Mrs. Keith Carpenter, Champ Carry, Miss Jean Defrees, daughter of the Donald Defreeses, Edison Dick, and Arthur Dixon III. are some of the Chicagoans who have already accepted invitations to be members of the Society of Stoopnocracy.

Other Members of Chicago Groups.

Others are Mr. and Mrs. George W. Dulany Jr., Mrs. Ogden West, George Corson Ellis, William B. Freer, Mrs. John W. Gary, Stephen Y. Hord, Walter Hoving, Robert Maynard Hutchins, Russell P. Kelley, and Henry A. Knott Jr. Also James Waller Marshall, John J. Mitchell, Mrs. Bartholomay Osborne, J. Sanford Otis, Stuart H. Otis, William H. Potter Jr., Francis S. Rickcords, Robert T. Sherman, Louis E. Tilden, Edward K. Welles, Barrett Wendell Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Jay N. Whipple.

"Stoopnocracy achieves its purpose through humor, fun, and conviviality. It believes that good can be done with a smile rather than a long face," explains W. R. K. Taylor Jr., the New York society president, in his letter of invitation. "A person joining the society receives a silly membership card, an amusing matching coin, incredible privileges, a feather in his or her hat for being a good fellow, and a gay acknowledgement."

Every member becomes a life member of the society whether he joins for $1 as a natural born stoop; $5 as a foundling stoop; $10 as a front stoop; $25 as a back stoop; $50 as a veranda; or $100 as a porte cochere. But once a member every Stoopnocrat must call every other Stoopnocrat "Herman."

In addition to Mr. Taylor the New York directors of this "good deed in payment for a laugh" society include Frank A. Vanderlip Jr., George Barr Baker, Joseph Bame, Ludlow S. Fowler, Mrs. Newman Plaut, Walter C. Stearns Jr., and T. F. Davies Haines.

Bryn Mawr Alumnae to Mark Anniversary.

Tomorrow Chicago is going to share something else that has its origin in New York when most of the Bryn Mawr alumnæ in town and in the suburbs gather at one of four teas to hear a radio broadcast that is part of the eastern city's celebration of Bryn Mawr's 50th anniversary. Hostesses at the teas here will be Mrs. Cecil Barnes, Mrs. James A. Field, Mrs. James L. Houghteling, and Mrs. Richard Bentley.

The New York celebration is to be a "grand fête" with three important features at Rockefeller center. One of these will be a trousseau fashion tea and monologues by Cornelia Otis Skinner, widely known Bryn Mawr alumna, between 3 and 6 o'clock. Another will be a buffet luncheon and bridge between 12:30 and 4:30 at which Ely Culbertson will appear and still another an exhibit of table settings from 10 in the morning through 9 in the evening. The general chairman is Mrs. F. Louis Slade.

Invitations are going into the mail today for the Centennial May ball to be held the evening of May 17 at the Drake hotel to celebrate socially the 100th anniversary of the Episcopal

CARLETON SMITH, in and out of town lecturing after spending the latter part of the winter in New York and Florida, made an address at Dixon, Ill. When he arrived in town, the program chairman of the organization before which he was speaking, and a friend who is professor of English literature at Rockford college told him about some research they had been doing in connection with lectures made at Dixon by Ralph Waldo Emerson and William Cullen Bryant. They mentioned particularly the report of Emerson's lecture as given in the Dixon Telegraph. It was a little discouraging to the young lecturer, for the newspaper account said:

THERE were several distinguished visitors in town over the week-end. Princess Chavchavdze, dark eyed and stormy browed daughter of the Grand Duke Mikailovitch of Russia, who married Princess Marie of Greece, sister of the late King Constantine, stopped for a short visit on her way from Arizona to New York. She is a sister of Princess Xenia, who is divorced from William M. Leeds Jr., a cousin of Prince Rostislav of Chicago. Her husband is a cousin of Princess Rostislav.

One of the arrivals at the tiny cocktail party Prince and Princess Rostislav gave for her Saturday afternoon was another dark eyed beauty, Gloria Braggiotti of New York. Miss Braggiotti and Princess Chavchavdze had both been in Tucson recently and were surprised to meet in Chicago. Both departed for New York yesterday.

M. Boutet de Monvel, French painter, distinguished, handsome in gray tweeds with a dark red carnation in his lapel, also was in town Saturday. He was entertained at the home of the lady whose charming portrait by him adorns her drawing room.

The Paulist choir, which will give its 31st annual concert at Orchestra hall April 30, boasts of quadruplets—in the four LeBeau brothers, Richard, Thomas, Willis, and Donald, all of whom will sing in the concert . . . Angel Gardian was responsible for some flower exhibits at the recent garden show. . . . George White	By Himself

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

The "George White Scandals of 1935" isn't dirty. SO—it's better than the "Scandals of 1934."

While the familiar backstage plot is the nucleus around which the singing, dancing and gagging revolve, the plot has a slightly different twang.

Twang—Mr. White [himself] en route to Florida for a rest is intrigued by a sign he reads while the train stops at a jerkwater station. Sign says that White's "Scandals of 1934" is on display at the local theater.

SO—George and the temperamental dancer, Manya, who's on the train with him—nothing wrong about it, she's just on her way to play a night club engagement in Florida—stop over to see whatever White's "Scandals" are doing in this burg. . . . AND—to be brief, at the show, sponsored by a local character, ELMER White, the New York producer discovers the folks who become his Broadway headliners. Namely, Alice Faye, James Dunn, Cliff Edwards, and Ned Sparks. . . .

Such happenstance isn't, of course, probable, but nobody expects probability in a revue plot. Sometime—mebbe—a genius will concoct an honest to goodness, rip-snorting yarn to put to music [I suspect that Harold Stokes is doing that little thing right now with his new operetta]—and THEN we'll have something new!

This "Scandals" moves along quite pleasantly. Miss Faye lusciously fulfills the double requirements of heroine and singing star. Though the rôle isn't exactly built for him, James Dunn qualifies neatly [though unremarkably] as the boy who loves her—but temporarily falls for a siren. Lyda Roberti, as a good-hearted, temperamental bright light is fun at times. So is Ned Sparks as Elmer White, the unsmiling producer-ticket-seller-ticket taker-master of ceremonies and stage doorkeeper who makes Big Time under the guidance of the other White. George White is competently here, there, and everywhere. Emma Dunn and Cliff Edwards, with his ukulele, contribute homely charm of sorts.

The ensembles are fairly effective. The key song, "It's an Old Southern Custom," was, I thought, rather run to death.

But—all in all, if you care for revues, the chances are you will regard Mr. White's 1935 hullabaloo as satisfactory entertainment.

197,300 Attendance Total Is Reached as Flower Show Ends

The Chicago flower show, which ended last night at the Navy pier, was the most successful of the nine annual shows given by the Garden Club of Illinois, according to Mrs. O. W. Dynes, general manager. A total of 197,300 persons viewed the exhibits.

Mrs. Dynes announced that after all bills are paid enough money will be left to start next year's show and to contribute to the yearly state project of the clubs, which this year is the 80 acre Lincoln Memorial garden at Springfield. The show is an amateur enterprise, managed entirely by women and organized on a not for profit basis. More than 120 garden clubs in the state participated.

The executive committee for this year's show included Mrs. Dynes; Mrs. Euclid Snow, president of the Garden Club of Illinois; Mrs. John T. Pirie, Mrs. Willard Jaques, Mrs. Dean Workman, Mrs. George Plamondon, Mrs. Howard Countryman, Mrs. G. McStay Jackson, Mrs. Mark Cresap, Mrs. George Warren, and Mrs. Raymond Knotts.

Stunning Springtime Togs Await Late Easter Shopper

BY RHEA SEEGER.

There won't be much time to listen to the birdies sing this last lap of the pre-Easter shopping season, especially if you have lagged behind the crowd and left your buying till the last week.

However, in a final spurt of activity the stores and shops of Chicago are hanging about last minute selections that will take your best adjectives.

For instance, the very different looking spring coats collared with snow fox, that dusted-with-white black fox that will make you think of our April snowstorm.

Or the monkey fur that has staged rather an unusual revival without much ballyhoo. Knee-length capes of black wool boasting bands of shiny black monkey fur are tremendously smart affairs.

Swagger coats of black wool with high fluffy face framing collars of the snow fox are equally new and smart. So with the two new spring furs to pep up the coat and cape showings the last minute Easter parader will find plenty of shopping interest.

We still like to rave about all the stunning furless coats around the shop. Trick backlines that flare because of the circular cut or achieve a fullness with deep inverted plaits and other good dressmaker details distinguish most of the latest arrivals. They have swanky pockets and wide revers that ripple flatteringly around the neckline. If a successful Easter saunter down the boulevard can be wangled with the perfect coat find this is the week to get that coat.

An Easter bonnet gone smartly flat is pictured today. The straw is of hand woven Shantung in a new shade called amber and is trimmed with a bow of mascara velvet. The large artificial carnation comes in all colors and white is the typical corsage or lapel nosegay this spring. Or you can wear real carnations in a pair or three at a time in deep maroon color. The hat is available in a Chicago shop.

Women at Best in Concluding Symphony Year

Final Concert Devoted to German Composers.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

The Woman's Symphony orchestra concluded its season at the Studebaker theater yesterday afternoon under the sponsorship of the Germans of Chicago with a concert that gave much encouragement for what it will do in future seasons. Six concerts were given in the series, none better played or with better tone and more musical ability than this one. In fact, it came near to being the high mark of the orchestra's existence.

As might be inferred under the circumstances, it was a program entirely of German composers. Brahms was represented, likewise Wagner, Schubert, and Schumann, also the two Strausses, who do not happen to be related, Richard and Johann. What made it all enjoyable was the disciplined control exhibited under the baton of Conductor Ebba Sundstrom. Her desires and her beat were absolute, and the orchestra followed her as if its members were one woman. Elsa Hootinger was the soloist, a Chicagoan not heard so frequently as she should be. Though a contralto, she had the range and control to present Senta's soprano ballad from Wagner's "Flying Dutchman" with excellent effect, also a group of songs later.

Jan Kubelik, the violinist, returned for his second recital at Orchestra hall yesterday afternoon with quite as much success as he had enjoyed at his first a few weeks before. Goldmark's Concerto in A minor was his first number, a composition played with extreme fluency, freedom, and the typical Kubelik manner of detached restraint. There were other numbers in an interesting program, sonatas by Handel and Tartini, and shorter works by Tschaikowsky, Suk, and Paganini, all receiving lavish applause from the audience. His son, Rafael, was his accompanist, evidently a pianist of such gifts and development that a solo program by him would be a future event well worth anticipating.

The joint dance recital by Ruth Page and Harald Kreutzberg at the Studebaker theater last night—before a capacity audience, by the way—contained so many interesting features of the modern dance that one feels like stating its arguable aspects first. Unquestionably it stressed the note of the bizarre in color, costume, and dance design. There were times when the back, even the shoulder blades, seemed as desirable a plane of bodily support as the soles of the feet. There were other occasions when the title and the dance seemed to have only remote connection with each other. At least one person in the audience has yet to discover anything bacchanalian in the "Bacchanal" to music by Malipiero.

And yet, even in this elusive "Bacchanal," there asw always something fascinating about the dance design, something that satisfied the eye and made an accurate fit with the musical phrase, so that it stimulated the imaginaion. And generally in the case of Miss Page and always in that of Mr. Kreutzberg there was so fluid a line of motion, such feline grace and control, that it made one rejoice at the possibilities of the human body.

Keep Away from Water

By Alice Campbell.

SYNOPSIS.

Sarah MacNeil, young American living in London, accepts a post as companion to Miss Christine Venables, who spends most of the year at Ste. Brigitte in southern France. Miss Venables has been receiving mysterious death threats through the mail. Mrs. Mark Venables, stepmother of Miss Venables' adored nephew, Harry, dies suddenly. She had been treated by Dr. Gilcrest of Ste. Brigitte. Miss Venables tells Sarah that she and Maj. Frampton were both threatened by two oriental drug sellers they had had prosecuted. Shortly after Maj. Frampton was killed in a fall down an elevator shaft. She believes he was murdered. Miss Venables' particular friends in Ste. Brigitte, besides Dr. Gilcrest, are the Baron Henri de Bellesnaves and Bimi, his beautiful wife; Beryl Tomlins, town librarian, and a few old residents of the resort hotel. Sarah gathers that Dr. Gilcrest is in love with the baroness. Beryl Tomlins is taken suddenly ill and dies. She had taken medicine prescribed by Dr. Gilcrest. Miss Venables receives another threatening letter, telling her she has one more day to live. The fatal day passes safely. Miss Venables takes her medicine and retires. She dies during the night, after declaring that she was poisoned. Sarah tells Dr. Gilcrest that it is up to him to demand a post mortem. It is made but discloses nothing, though the doctor's reputation is damaged. Then the baron dies, apparently a suicide. Dr. Gilcrest conducts a private investigation. The baroness is taken ill and Sarah agrees to stay with her. She distrusts her and the doctor and plans to investigate. That night the baroness has a secret caller. Sarah has hidden behind curtains in the baroness' room. The caller is Harry. He and the baroness are secret lovers, and responsible for the five deaths. Sarah's presence is discovered. She is about to be the next victim when she is rescued by Dr. Gilcrest.

INSTALMENT LV.

NO PROOF OF GUILT.

"What was this illness of hers? I knew she did it on purpose to get me there, but how was it managed?"

"I can't tell you that, though the moment she was sick I tumbled to the conclusion that she had taken something. I knew that whatever she'd been told about the dogs—and Venables must certainly have rushed straight to her with his information—she was not one whit alarmed for her safety. I'd still be in the dark but for your explanation. So she was jealous of you, was she? I don't wonder—and in her type jealousy amounts almost to madness. She was well aware Harry must be making up to you, but unable to stop it. He was losing his nerve, too, and what was to prevent him sliding out of the whole business and leaving her high and dry? To denounce him was to denounce herself—and she'd argue that you, like herself, were after his money. Wasn't that her notion?"

It was hush money he was after.

Sarah admitted it, suppressing the fact that the baroness' keen eyes had seen where her heart interest lay, and that herein lay another cause for jealousy.

"That being so, her only means of re-attaching him to herself was to remove your influence. It must have driven her frantic to see the two of you about to go away in each other's company."

Said Sarah sedately, "How right it is for her to be wrecked by her own mistake! She told you, of course, that I was there?"

"Told me? Not a word! Nor did the old woman mention it. No, I should never have known you hadn't left with Venables—I saw you, in the distance, with your luggage on the car—but for Demosthenes. It has he—"

"Demosthenes!" She laughed shakily. "O, how funny that is! He told you? When? Why?"

"That same evening, very late. I was here, sorting out papers, preparatory to clearing out; when Demosthenes blundered in on me, drunk as a lord, spinning a wild yarn about paying the baroness back in her own coin. I was about to boot him out when he mentioned your name. What were you doing up there? I was worried. And then something he said made me prick up my ears again. It was hush-money he was after—and Venables was the person he meant to fleece—Venables, whom he'd seen only the week before conducting a secret rendezvous with the baroness, at midnight, in the grounds! All at once I realized that just possibly this fellow might hold the key to what otherwise was locked and sealed, and if he did . . . I questioned him, and here is all I got: Venables hadn't gone by the evening train. Demo solicited my aid in an enterprise which, quite simply, meant lying in wait near the villa and catching the lovers redhanded."

"But you—! He really expected you to—"

"Evidently." Gilcrest looked away. "You see, he was assuming I, too, might be feeling revengeful . . . Well, I got rid of him by means of a hundred francs and half a bottle of whiskey, and just as soon as I'd satisfied myself he was in no state for activity I pushed quietly off to do a little snooping on my own account."

I left my two-seater behind the clump of palm trees at this end of the beach, and making my way through the grounds toured the whole outside of the villa. Not a sound—nothing amiss. Back I went, to find one of the library windows unlatched. Henri's body lay inside. I crept past it, went all over the house listening at doors, and still drew a blank. As I stole into the open again I noticed the creeper badly torn away from the wall—and on the ground I found—what do you think? This—and if I hadn't been looking closely, with a lighted match, I'd never have seen it."

It was a small grip-slide he had taken from his pocket—one of several used by Sarah to hold her hair in place during the night.

"O!" she cried. "You knew it was mine?"

"I felt sure the baroness didn't need them. She hasn't got waves. It must be yours—and I was horribly frightened. I raced about, heading in the main towards the water—for obvious reasons—and about the middle of the grounds I fancied I heard something. Oar-locks. Someone was rowing to or from the yacht; but when I reached the boathouse all I saw was the dinghy, moored to the landing steps. And then, thank God, you screamed. Just once . . . If I'd stopped even to throw off my coat before diving in—but we won't speak of that."

"And the baron?" Sarah asked. "Why did you know he was murdered?"

"By the message he was supposed to have left. O, it wasn't forged! That would have been easy; but those two short sentences—you recall them? —L'affaire se termine. Inutile continuer—had a strangely familiar ring. I could have sworn they had occured in a letter I'd received from him while I was in England, and that they referred to his futile attempt to find a serum for the bulldog's asthma. I was also struck by the placing of the line—high on the paper, straight across—in fact, more like a continuation of something else than a detached fragment scrawled by a man about to end his life. Last, the ink-blot—which in my judgment clinched it. Henri, you see, was the sort of person who, having spoiled a sheet, would throw it away and take another."

"And only you saw these things!"

"Only I had seen the original letter—and that, worse luck, had been destroyed. No, here again I had no proof—none. If I'd risked mentioning my suspicions, I'd have incurred severe censure and maybe a libel action into the bargain. Even with what you've told me I should very much doubt if we shall be able to establish this one crime." He was speaking to himself. "It's our word against theirs," he muttered.

She gazed at him for a moment, her face falling. Was it possible those two might yet skin through?

"But—isn't their running away and hiding an open admission of guilt? I should have supposed—Aren't they going to be arrested?"

He examined her face with a keen, professional eye.

"There's something I haven't told you," he said quietly. "But first, remember this: You're safe, it can't touch you, whatever happens. You see, they haven't tried to escape. They're under arrest now, but Venables was halted at Calais, and the baroness—"

"O, where?"

"At a private mental asylum in Toulon. She made no resistence. It is generally believed she was quite out of her mind."

Sarah's eyes flashed. "Do you believe it?" she demanded.

"Certainly not—but she's an excellent actress. Do you want to hear the story Venables and the two servants are giving out?"

"The servants too! They must have been bought . . . What is it?"

"To begin with," said Gilcrest slowly, keeping watch on her reactions, "all you overheard is categorically denied. It's your own malicious invention. Their version—well, here it is."

GASOLINE ALLEY—JUST ANOTHER COMPLICATION

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: Just in Time to Be Too Late

Housewife Is Vulnerable to Snacking Habit

Temptation to Eat Puts Weight on Figure.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Housewives often tell me they can't understand why, with all the work they do around their homes, they still put on weight, especially around the waist and abdomen.

For one thing, housewives are more tempted to eat than are business women. They're closer to the ice box. Then, in order to make the youngsters eat what's good for them, they sit in and set the example. Also, the exercise the average housewife performs does not exercise sufficiently the abdominal muscles. Walking around from room to room doesn't do this, nor dish washing, cooking, etc.

Another fault of the home woman is going around without a good corset. Often she abandons the wearing of one entirely for her housework, or she wears an old one out of which all support is gone. That spare tire of flesh bulging over the girdle top is the toll for such indulgences.

On the other hand, the housewife has more opportunity during the day to take five minutes, or ten, off for a couple of exercises that will keep away that roll of flesh atop the girdle rim, at the same time strengthening abdominal muscles so there won't be any protruding tummy. I will give you two right now. One is fairly easy, the second you must not overdo at first, but it surely will toughen those abdominal and waistline muscles and make fat pretty unwelcome over the diaphragm.

First: This is just the simple business of standing erectly, raising hands high overhead and bending at waist, bending forward and backward with hands still raised as far as you can go without strain. Bend from waist only, keeping knees from bending.

The other exercise requires that one lie on floor, face down, arms at sides, legs together. Bend knees and reach back with hands to grasp the ankles. Keep this hold and pretend you're a rocking horse and go through rocking horse rockings back and forth, back and forth.

The DEBUNKER

By John Harvey Furbay, Ph. D.

The common idea that all lizards are poisonous and dangerous is quite absurd; for out of the 2,000 or more known kinds of lizards, only two are considered at all dangerous. These two are the gila monster, found in western United States, and the beaded lizard, found chiefly in Mexico. Two of the commonest lizards are the gecko and the chameleon. Lizards are distinguished from salamanders by their scaly skin. Salamanders, which are amphibians, go through a tadpole stage, and always have a smooth skin. Lizards have no tadpole stage. The largest lizard is the alligator. The smallest lizards are so tiny that a dozen can be held in one's hand. Many lizards are used for food.

FREEZONE does it! Puts the corn to sleep—deadens all pain—and soon makes it so loose in its bed of flesh that it lifts right out! Hard corns or soft—all are quickly ended by FREEZONE. Calluses, too. Get a bottle at any drug store and walk in comfort!

FREEZONE

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

You remember that last fall one of our great beauty houses, feeling that new customers might hestitate to buy three preparations to try a method of skin care for the first time, brought out what it called a facial package. Regular sizes of the products in this package would cost $3 to $4. With the little kits this house made it possible for women to experiment with its preparations at a very small cost.

In these you have the specialized facial treatment compactly presented. There is one for the oil or normal skin, another for the dry, with preparations specially compounded. And you can get some twenty treatments out of the contents of each kit.

The cleansing cream for dry skin is of fairly heavy texture, one that lubricates as it removes the grime. The treatment cream for this type of skin has a special texture and is intended to be used for the sole purpose of oiling and massaging. Dry skins respond immediately to it. The lotion is a mild one, with a pleasant orange flower flavor that tones but does not dry.

In the kit for oily or normal skins there are quite different preparations, although the treatment is designed along much the same lines. The cleansing cream is a light weight one of the liquefying type—efficient as a cleanser, but not inclined to add to the skin's oil burden. The treatment cream is called a "suppling" cream and is ideal for massage. The lotion in this case is an astringent.

It's simple, with these packages, to follow an uncomplicated, completely intelligent method of home treatment. And it's refreshingly inexpensive.

BY MARY MEADE.

Bacon has an inspired manner of adding flavor from unexpected vantage points. So many other meats, sandwiches, breads, fruits, salads, vegetables, fish, and other edible devices of nature have possibilities of profiting by an addition of its salty cured meat flavor. Also its flavor is available in handy, easily added form. Besides the talking point of its flavor, it provides such a ready means of lending needed fat to dry meats and such.

Without much thought of order or continuity, we've been jotting down ideas for using (and using well) the bacon that the master of the house may take it into his head to tote home. Here they go:

Baconized Meat Balls.

- 4 slices bacon
- 1 cup cracker crumbs
- ½ cup hot water
- 1 pound ground round steak
- 1 egg
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- ¾ teaspoon onion salt
- ⅛ teaspoon celery salt
- ¼ teaspoon sage
- 2 tablespoons flour

Cut the bacon into bits with the kitchen scissors and cook them slowly until crisp. Combine these with all of the ingredients except the flour and form in small balls. Roll these in the flour, brown them in the hot bacon fat, add a little water and a cover to the skillet, and let them cook gently until tender. Serve with a gravy made from the drippings.

Bacon and Apple Slices.

- 1-3 pound sliced bacon
- 4 large baking apples
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- ½ cup cornmeal
- 1 tablespoon sugar

Cook the bacon until crisp and remove to a hot platter. Meanwhile slice the apples thickly and dust each slice with a mixture of cornmeal and pepper. Fry these in the hot bacon fat and serve with the bacon, lightly sprinkled with the sugar.

Bananas and Bacon.

- ¼ pound bacon
- 6 small bananas

Roll half lengths of the peeled bananas in strips of bacon, securing the latter with wooden pins. Broil in a hot oven (450 degrees F.) for about fifteen minutes or until the bananas are tender and the bacon is crisp, basting at least once during the cooking.

Veal and Bacon Salad.

- 2 cups cold cooked veal, diced
- ½ cup crisp bacon bits
- 1 cup diced celery
- ½ cup mayonnaise
- 6 small tomatoes

Toss together (always an intriguing phrase—makes you feel so carefree) the veal, bacon, celery, and mayonnaise, adding such seasonings as you deem necessary, and chill. Pile the mixture lightly into the hearts of the tomatoes, which have been cut down in several sections so that they open flower fashion.

No room for more recipes, but into the tag end of space let's crowd more suggestions. They may be self-explanatory, but if you'd rather begin on them with a real honest to goodness recipe in front of you just drop us a line and we'll be delighted to send actual working plans for any of 'em. Here goes: Peanut butter and bacon sandwiches, grilled supper sandwiches with bacon, tomato and cheese, stuffed baked heart with bacon, bacon muffins, bacon cornbread, sweetbreads and bacon en brochette, olive and bacon appetizers, creamed potatoes and bacon, bacon stuffed peppers, cheese and bacon rarebit, bacon seafood grill, and baconized meat loaf. Which list isn't more than a starter, but we'll be glad not only to furnish any recipes for those dishes but to tack on other suggestions if you feel your bacon repertoire needs modernizing.

New York, April 14.—(AP)—The Four Aces, a team of bridge players, tonight hurled a new challenge at the Ely Culbertsons and boosted the side bet to $20,000, promising to donate half of the purse, if they win, to a babies milk fund. Jewish Observance of Passover Opens Wednesday Evening

Jews will commemorate the exodus of Hebrew forefathers from Egyptian oppression in Passover celebrations beginning Wednesday evening at sunset. The feast period continues until sunset April 25. The exodus from Egypt was led by Moses about 3,500 years ago. The first two nights of the festival are known as sedarim, when members of families gather about their tables and recite the ancient exodus story.

While the sedar feasts are primarily of a family nature, many synagogues will hold community sedarim. Rabbi Elias Gamze, spiritual leader of the new loop synagogue, 10 South Clark street, will conduct the ritualistic service on Thursday night.

BY NANCY CABOT.

"Crazy Star Quilt" is a miniature version of the beautiful old pattern, "World Without End." The block is used as an all-over design which is set block to block to form a kaleidoscopic pattern or joined with a 3-inch band of white insertion. It is a simple matter to piece this block, yet the coverlet is a beautiful one. The completed pattern measures 12 inches square, and 42 of them are used in a quilt.

With her second book of quilts, Nancy Cabot now offers 10 patterns of her own choice at a combination price of 10 cents (12 cents by mail). The booklet alone is 5 cents; by mail, 7 cents. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

Gossipers Couldn't Fool Mrs. Pierce
SHE LOST 50 POUNDS OF FAT

Feel full of pep and possess the slender form you crave for. You can't if you listen to gossipers who'd secretly hate to see you take off ugly fat but notice that Mrs. Pierce had a mind of her own.

Here's a treatment—tested and proved SAFE for years—not only to take off excess fat but also a health corrector: take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a cup of hot water every morning (tastes fine with juice of half lemon added).

Mrs. L. W. Pierce of Tiffin, Ohio, writes: "I've taken off 50 lbs. with Kruschen in 6 months. I was 236 and intend to continue till I'm 154." If one jar (lasts 4 weeks and costs but trifle) doesn't take 12 lbs. off you—money back.

diocese of Chicago. The ball will also serve to keep alive the idea of a great cathedral for Chicago and the funds raised will go to this end. The cathedral fund has existed ever since the days of the old Cathedral of SS. Peter and Paul on the west side. Approximately $25,000 has been accumulated to date.

Some of those interested in the ball are Mr. and Mrs. Theodore W. Robinson, Col. and Mrs. Albert A. Sprague, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Ranney, Mr. and Mrs. William M. Collins Jr., Bishop and Mrs. George Craig Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Edward K. Welles, Dr. and Mrs. Duncan H. Browne, Dr. and Mrs. Dudley S. Stark, and Mrs. Robert B. Gregory.

Anna Armiger to Wed Vernon Balch June 5.

In the same setting in which her mother was married many years ago, Miss Anna Armiger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Howard Armiger of Oak Park, Ill., will become the bride of Vernon Stephenson Balch, son of O. B. Balch, also of Oak Park, Wednesday evening, June 5. The service will be read in the living room of the Armiger home at 174 Marion street in Oak Park, which is also the home of Mrs. Armiger's mother, Mrs. Christiana Miller. Since the Victorian day when this house was one of the show places of the village to the west, Mrs. Miller has watched the town grow up around her.

Dr. Albert Buckner Coe of the First Congregational church of Oak Park, where the three generations of the family have worshiped, will read the ceremony at 8:30 o'clock, with a reception following.

Miss Armiger's roommate at Smith college, Mrs. Howard H. Harpst, is coming from Toledo to be her matron of honor. The bridesmaids will be Miss Elizabeth Taylor and two more of her Smith classmates, Mrs. Wardell Nelson Cronwall and Miss Frances Crandell. Morton P. Balch of Jacksonville, Fla., will serve his brother as best man, and ushering will be Avery Balch of St. Paul, Minn.; Era Houser, and Charles Lofgren.

Lawrenceville Headmaster to Be Guest of Durbins.

Arriving today for a five day visit in Chicago will be Mr. and Mrs. Allan V. Heeley, who will be the guests of the Fletcher M. Durbins of Astor street during the time they are here. Mr. Heeley is the new headmaster of the Lawrenceville Preparatory school, and he is coming here to be present at a dinner former students of the school will give for him Wednesday night at the University school. Mr. Durbin and his son, Winfield, who now is studying law at Harvard, went to Lawrenceville before going to Williams college, where young Mr. Durbin was graduated last June.

Mrs. Robert R. McCormick returned on Friday from an extended vacation in Palm Beach, where she had a house for the winter season.

The University guild will hold a day of remembrance today for four of its most prominent members who have died during recent months, Miss Cornelia Gray Lunt, Mrs. James A. Patten, Mrs. Frank L. Richardson, and Mrs. Thomas F. Holgate, in the auditorium of the school of speech at Northwestern university. Following a series of reminiscences by members, tea will be served in Harris hall.

The Rev. Theodore C. Hume will speak on "The Munitions Business" at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon in the residence of Mrs. Augusta A. Carpenter, 1130 Lake Shore drive. This is the first lecture in a series of three which the Rev. Mr. Hume will give on "International Coöperation" for the benefit of the Lake Shore League of Women Voters.

CONQUERING CONTRACT

By P. HAL SIMS

THE LAWS OF CONTRACT.

This would be a good article to clip out and paste above your mirror. When it comes to a question of a penalty in rubber bridge, the palm usually goes to the side with the loudest voice. It's surprising how many people don't even know the penalty for such a common mistake as an insufficient bid.

And while I'm on the subject of the insufficient bid, I might as well give the law in that case first. If the bidding goes one spade, two no trumps, two hearts, your partner has made an insufficient bid. He is inadvertently playing the one-under-one system. One of three things may happen to him. He may correct his bid quickly, before either opponent has a chance to say anything to him. If so, there is no penalty. Or, one of the opponents may bid over him before attention has been called to his irregularity. His insufficient bid then ranks as sufficient, and the whole matter is quickly dropped. But if an opponent has a chance to cry "Insufficient!" before either of the above mentioned things has happened, then he gets the full penalty. His partner is barred from the bidding for the next round and presumably gives him a malevolent look. The offender is, however, given the privilege of making his bid sufficient in any suit or at no trumps. If he overcalls one heart with one diamond, and then makes his bid sufficient by bidding seven no trumps, that is perfectly correct. He must remember that the bidding will probably stop dead after he makes his bid sufficient, so he often has to take a chance on a dubious game rather than run the risk of not bidding enough.

The second biggest argument occurs when declarer exposes his hand and claims the rest of the tricks. The rule is as follows:

When declarer throws his hand face-up on the table and claims either all or some of the remaining tricks, he must make a full statement or indicate by touching certain cards, just how he intends to play the hand; what finesses he plans to take and so on. Naturally, there is no play to most exposed hands. The declarer usually has nothing but trumps left in his hand or unmistakable high cards. But some players are prone to expose their hands carelessly, when there may be a question about the possible line of play. For example, holding five clubs to the ace, king, queen, jack, with three small ones in dummy, a player might easily expose his hand, and claim five club tricks. Then it develops that one opponent holds five clubs against him. Of course, if, as in the above instance, you have declarer hooked, you can simply show him your taking trick, and tell him to be a little more careful in the future. But it often transpires that the question of a finesse arises. You know from your holdings that this finesse will work. Declarer, however, did not mention it, when he spread his hand and said, "The rest are mine." You may ask declarer to amplify his statement, but you are afraid that he will smell a rat, and finally realize that this finesse must be taken. If he does not mention it, of course, you may make him play the hand as you direct. Perhaps your partner is also helping you considerably by holding his hand poised above the table, ready to drop it at an instant's notice.

Both partners should sit tight for a minute, after declarer exposes his hand and study the cards. Then, if one of them feels that he might possibly gain a trick, he may request declarer to play the hand out, without naming the particular suit he wishes led.

There is no objection to profiting from an opponent's mistakes in defensive play; therefore, we should certainly stand up for our rights as far as penalties are concerned. If you once concede a trick, or tricks, to the adversaries, you cannot take them back, even though it may be proved later that you are entitled to them in the actual play of the hand. Presumably declarer would have made the same errors in judgment, had he played the hand out. Simply because he exposes his cards is no reason for you to help him out on the subsequent play. After all, you cannot play successfully with two partners at the same time.

Saving Confirmed Drinker Too Great Task for Girl of 17

BY DORIS BLAKE.

At 17, taking on a boy friend of 23 and trying to reform him of the drink habit, doesn't seem 17 year old business to us. This boy has been drinking for a couple of years, which is a pretty shocking record for his age, you'll agree. Really drinking, too, so that he has his mother and dad completely broken up over his drinking vice. Has no job. Never looked for one. The 17 year old girl, still in high school, feels she is the one and only person in the world who would have any effect on the chap.

But a year of having him break dates with her and seeing him turn up intoxicated at all hours has not had any encouraging effects for her yet. Besides, the girls and boys in her school and social group are beginning to talk about her and leave her out of things since it means tagging the boy along, whose sobriety apparently cannot be guaranteed for an evening.

That's parents' business trying to get that boy straightened out. They should see that he gets in the hands of a good doctor or psychiatrist. It does not seem quite fair that, just because a young woman becomes imbued with a missionary spirit, she should ruin her good name by keeping company with such a boy. Naturally, if it gets about that that's the kind of boy she chooses for company, she will be ostracized by young people whose pleasure pursuits do not conform to drinking requirements.

Of course, it's a tragedy for a boy of 23 to be a confirmed liquor addict. The normal impulse would be to lend a helping hand. No one wants to see a youth condemning himself to the damnation bowwows. But we repeat, it is not a job for a 17 year old girl. It's for older hearts and heads to handle. It's just as important that a young woman of 17 get beauty and joy out of her romantic age as it is that that boy gets straightened up for future good citizenship.

Kindliness Is First Requisite in Child's Nurse

Mothers Must Use Great Care in Selection.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

And every time she came on the scene, didn't you just bless Peggoty and her warm, loving heart, because you couldn't bear the thought of what little David Copperfield's life would have been without her? And could you help feeling sure that the reason why she finally agreed to wed her bulky suitor when she discovered that "Barkis is willin'" was because he had a horse and could drive her often to see her little boy?

If you could know of as many mothers as I do, whose work necessitates their leaving the children in the care of maids, you would wish with me that the world had many, many Peggotys in it. Or perhaps I should say that more of its Peggotys could be discovered. Because there are many women of middle age or near it who love children and who would fit into such homes as I have been describing and are needed there.

Many young nursemaids are kind, clever, and responsible, and fit well into homes where the children need, as Robert Louis Stevenson put it in speaking of his beloved nurse, Alison Cunningham, "a second mother." But not all young girls fill the bill. Many absentee mothers have found this out and one of them writes:

"I have no work now, but when I have I engage middle aged married women who have been mothers, and I find it works out better. Children need the warm, human touch."

And let me add a suggestion—if you have to choose between some one who has a pleasant personality, and likes and knows children, and is a good simple cook—and one who keeps an immaculate house and can make chicken in aspic and fancy canapés and gorgeous desserts and serves with swank and éclat and all the rest of it, but isn't pleasant and doesn't like children, choose the former.

Many nurses write in to us for our various leaflets on managing the young child. Please remember that each one requested requires a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

BEAT GIANTS! MANAGERS CRY AS RACE STARTS

American Pilots See Open Fight.

New York, April 14.—(AP)—Not even the extraordinary fanfare of major league baseball's opening salute Tuesday can obscure the fact that exactly 16 men will carry the main burden of proof into the 1935 championship campaigns.

They are the managers who will welcome the crowds and the tumult, but whose jobs carry the full weight of responsibility, not for any single ceremonial occasion, but for the entire 154 game season.

Will Mickey Cochrane's Tigers or Frankie Frisch's Cardinals repeat? How has the outlook changed since the last world series?

The Evidence Is In.

The combined testimony, received from 15 out of 16 major league managers, is at hand. In substance the answers are:

1. That it will be a wide open race in the American league most of the way, with the odds favoring a three-cornered finishing drive among the Tigers, New York Yankees, and Cleveland Indians;

2. That the New York Giants, strengthened in vital spots and possessing the best four man pitching staf in the National league, have an excellent chance to turn the tables on the Cardinals; and—

3. That numerous player changes, notably Babe Ruth's switch to the Boston Braves, will add greatly to the general interest as well as to the uncertainty of the races.

Last season Manager Bill Terry of the Giants lived to regret the day he jestingly asked "Is Brooklyn still in the National league?" The Dodgers administered the crowning blow to Terry's bid for a second straight pennant. Now Casey Stengel, pilot of the Dodgers, turns the other cheek by picking the Giants to regain the championship.

Beat the Giants.

Stengel's prediction is shared by Charley Dressen, manager of the Cincinnati Reds. Terry admits the 1935 Giants are the best he has managed and his outstanding rival, Frisch, concedes New York is the club to beat. Most leaders think it will be a miracle if the Dean brothers come close to repeating their 49 victories of last year.

Cochrane alone among the American league chieftains declined to comment directly. He did not conceal his confidence in training camp, however, where he said his Tigers can repeat and that he considers the Yankees a stronger threat than the Cleveland Indians, picked by a majority of baseball writers to finish first.

Walter Johnson believes he has the best club he has ever managed, but refuses to be put on the spot and agrees with the remaining managers that it will be a wide open race.

Here Are the Views.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

BILL TERRY, GIANTS—This is the best team I have ever managed and I like its chances for the pennant. The Cardinals will give us plenty of opposition, but I do not expect the Dean brothers to have the success against us they did last year. The Pirates rate about third, with the Cubs bothersome, as usual, especially in their home park. Stengel's Dodgers are improved and may force their way into the first division.

CHARLEY GRIMM, CUBS—I figure we will battle it out with the Giants and Cards. If one more pitcher comes through for us—Henshaw, Joiner, Root, Kowalik, Casey, or Bryant—we may surprise the league. Lindstrom adds punch to our lineup. Young Phil Cavarretta looks like a sensation at my old job, first base. Our team is younger and faster.

FRANKIE FRISCH, CARDS—We had a fine spring training season and

DODGERS POUND ALLEN; DEFEAT YANKEES, 7 TO 6

New York, April 14.—(AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers hammered Johnny Allen in the first two innings today to win the second and final game of the pre-season exhibition series with the New York Yankees, 7 to 6.

Lou Gehrig's second home run in as many days was one of the eight Yankee hits off three Brooklyn pitchers. Dazzy Vance, veteran right hander, yielded three runs in his first Brooklyn appearance of the season.

The Dodgers scored all their runs off Allen in the first two innings, hammering the right hander for five singles and taking advantage of three bases on balls and a fielding error by Allen himself. Score:

PHILS, 7; ATHLETICS, 4.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 14.—(AP)—Jimmy Wilson's Phillies won the annual spring exhibition series today, defeating the Athletics, 7 to 4, in the fourth game of the weather hampered meetings. The victory was the third for the Phils against one for the Athletics.

Originally it was intended to play five games but the contest scheduled for last Wednesday was canceled because of rain.

WONDERBOLTS BEAT ST. LOUIS, 3-2; TIE SERIES

The Wieboldt Wonderbolts soccer team yesterday defeated the Centrals of St. Louis, Mo., 3 to 2, after two overtime periods at Sparta stadium, 21st street and Kostner avenue, before a crowd of 2,500 fans.

The game was the fourth played in a series to determine the western champion in the national challenge cup competition. The Wonderbolts and St. Louis each have won one contest, two being tied, and will meet next Sunday at St. Louis to determine which will face the eastern champions for the national title.

Referee Has Tough Day.

Referee Davie Evans of Detroit incurred the wrath of followers of the St. Louis eleven and had difficulty avoiding clinkers which were thrown at him throughout the game. Following the contest, enraged fans attacked the official, who was rescued without serious injury.

St. Louis built up a 2 to 0 advantage in the first half on goals by Gonsalves, who connected from 25 yards out, and Patnaude. The Wonderbolts had several scoring chances, but the shots were missed. Monroe finally scored from a penalty kick in the second period, and then the Chicago team put on the pressure. Monroe again had his chance after a penalty and again slammed the ball past the St. Louis goalie for the tying point.

Hill's Goal Decides Game.

Play was rather even in the first overtime session, although Lillie and Neilson almost scored for the Wonderbolts. With seven minutes remaining in the second overtime period, Hill drove hard for the St. Louis goal. Gregg, who had been substituted for Nolan, St. Louis, diverted the ball, which slipped past Goalie Hamm for the deciding point. A few moments later the Wonderbolts again scored on a shot by Hill, but the point was disallowed because of offside.

Allison Defeats Grant for Atlanta Net Title

Atlanta, Ga., April 14.—(AP)—Wilmer Allison, top ranking United States amateur, today won the Atlanta invitational tennis tournament, defeating Bryan Grant of Atlanta in straight sets, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4. Allison, Austin, Tex., player, displayed a far superior game to that of Grant, who failed to extend the Texan at any time. Only last Sunday in the Houston, Tex., tournament Grant won over Allison in four sets.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BAER AND LOUIS.

WHEN Joe Louis, sometime future opponent of Heavyweight Champion Max Baer, climbed through the ropes into his corner at the Stadium Friday night to fight Roy Lazer, Baer was at the ringside, sitting between Townsend Netcher and Dick Greiner. To them and to those in the immediate vicinity, Champion Max wisecracked and grimaced in the most approved Baerian manner.

One of Baer's comments, to no one in particular, was: "When Louis meets Champion Baer, if he doesn't carry that right guard higher, Maxey will clip him one on the chin with a left."

While Louis was engaged in his three round task of polishing off Lazer and all eyes were on the principals we again looked at Baer. With no comments now necessary to his neighbors, Max was studying intently the young fellow he expects to meet in the not distant future. What he thought, of course, it was impossible to divine. But he was missing no action, rather storing up what he saw anent that future.

As the gloves were being fixed before the bout Barney Ross, Golden Gloves graduate now lightweight champion, and Baer entered the ring to be introduced to the crowd. Louis' normally inscrutable face brightened just a tiny bit with interest as he sort of peeked around from behind his second to get a better view of Baer. Then the latter stepped over to shake hands. Louis acknowledged the greeting, half smiled, and a few seconds later again was absorbed in the tying of his gloves, the incident apparently forgotten.

Louis acted as if he will be one opponent not nervously awed by the prestige of Champion Max.

Joe's fight against Lazer was another exhibition of his terrific hitting power. With his bobbing and weaving, Lazer was an elusive target. Perhaps that's why Joe missed so many shots in the second round. When we last saw Louis against Ramage in Los Angeles, the former Golden Glover did not miss a blow during the entire two rounds the bout lasted.

Louis continues the most interesting and the most promising of those eligible for a crack at Baer's title after the latter meets Braddock—if Louis defeats Primo Carnera. Even if Carnera should be returned winner, Louis is young and coming, not likely to be permanently removed from contention.

Buddy Baer's Buildup.

Corn Griffin, who contributed a two round knockout to Buddy Baer's buildup record last Friday, was hailed about a year ago as a promising heavyweight prospect. He was one of Carnera's sparring partners when Primo was preparing for Max Baer. Griffin appeared in a preliminary of that card against Jim Braddock. Braddock surprised by stopping Griffin, thereby starting the comeback which has resulted in his being matched against Max for the heavyweight title.

REDS TO RETURN MIZE TO CARDS; SAVE $50,000

Cincinnati, April 14.—(AP)—Charlie Dressen, manager of the Cincinnati Reds, announced tonight he will return Johnny Mize, rookie first baseman, to the St. Louis Cardinals. The decision was reached on the eve of a deadline set for a deal which would have meant the payment of $50,000 if it had been completed.

Mize, highest priced rookie ever to enter the Cincinnati camp, was obtained from Rochester of the International league, a Cardinal farm, where last year he hit .339, including seventeen home runs.

This year he gained Dressen's praise as "the greatest rookie first baseman I ever saw."

Decision to return Mize followed the report of several physicians that a leg injury, suffered last year, would be permanently healed only through an operation. Mize would face several weeks of idleness, they added.

International Golden Gloves

Mail orders are now being accepted for the amateur boxing bouts between the champions of Italy and Chicago's Golden Gloves winners at Chicago Stadium, May 22. Address applications to Golden Gloves Ticket Manager, Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill.

There will be no increase in prices. The ringside and center sections of the mezzanine are priced at $3.30. Thousands of other choice seats are available at $2.20, $1.65, $1.10 and 55 cents. All are reserved.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Cubs yesterday afternoon fought courageously before 17,000 in an effort to ward off the crushing power of the White Sox and salvage one favorable decision out of the four game spring city series. But valiant as the National leaguers were, they were forced to take another socking, 5 to 2, the same tabulation the Sox registered against them in Saturday's game.

The Cubs probably would have won but for two circumstances: Their pitching wasn't nearly so good as that of the Sox and the Sox hitting was so much better than theirs that there was no comparison. In physical condition and in jauntiness in wearing their uniforms the teams were about equal.

One Hit Off Earnshaw.

George Earnshaw pitched the first five innings and was disappointed in his ambition to equal Charley Ruffing's record of last Monday, when Charley pitched six hitless innings for the New York Yankees against the Cubs and retired. George was able to hold the snorting Cubs hitless in the first four innings only, and left the game at the end of the fifth crestfallen because a single had been registered off him. This was knocked by Hartnett, and Gabby promptly was excused as a reward for his power and skill.

After Earnshaw went away the Cubs pounded out three hits off Vernon Kennedy to lift their total for the day to four. Those who solved Kennedy's stuff were Ken O'Dea, Billy Herman, and Freddy Lindstrom.

Bonure, Hayes Hit Homers.

The Sox, in completing their sweep of the series, made 14 hits for 23 bases against two of the Cubs' Big Four pitchers. Two of the licks were homers, the first by Zeke Bonura off Bill Lee with one on base in the third inning to give the Sox a 2 to 1 lead, and the other by Jackie Hayes off Tex Carleton with none on in the sixth.

Doubles were propelled by Ray Radcliff, who also knocked two singles, Bonura, as a taper off the next time at bat after his homer, and by Kennedy, who knocked the ball over Cuyler's head to the score board. Every player in the Sox lineup and two of the three replacements hit safely, ex-

The Cubs, while not especially gratified by their helplessness against the Sox in four 1935 games in which the scores were 5 to 0, 9 to 8, 5 to 2, and 5 to 2, were not especially discouraged by their prospects in their own pennant race which opens tomorrow. Their natural philosophy has been that the Sox are a jinx team and that their historic foldups against the southsiders are not real tests of talent. They felt this so strongly that they ran out on challenging the Sox for the city title last fall, and there are reports that the Cubs want no more of the spring torture from a team they consider inferior, evidence to the contrary notwithstanding.

As balm to their wounds the Cubs last night reflected that they had enjoyed a rather impressive exhibition season. If they hadn't had to play the Sox four games their record would have shown 16 victories and only 5 defeats. The victories include two from the Pittsburgh Pirates, one from the Washington Senators, and one from the New York Yankees. Thus against major league opposition they split even. Against bushers they won 12 and lost 5. The Sox won 17 out of 27, mostly against major league foes.

Warneke to Start.

The Cubs this morning will have forgotten all about the White Sox ogre and will meet at their ball park to scheme their strategy for the three game series with the world champion St. Louis Cardinals. Vice President Grimm last night definitely announced that Lon Warneke will pitch the opener tomorrow. The announcement scarcely came as a surprise.

Not a member of the Cub outfield got a hit yesterday and Cuyler is the only one who did any hitting against Sox pitchers in two days. A shakeup in the outfield might be expected but for Frank Demaree's illness and the strange coma that has hovered over Tucker Stainback for weeks.

Cubs Score Without Hit.

In the second the Cubs got a run home without the semblance of a hit. Klein walked. Then Cavaretta slammed a double play ball at Dykes. Jimmy promptly gummed up the works by making a wide throw to Hayes, Klein reaching second and Cavaretta first. The pair moved up on Hartnett's sacrifice. Jurges shot what should have been a leisurely double play ball for Appling. Luke punted and Klein scored, but after Cavaretta had rounded third Appling located the ball and threw to Dykes. Cavaretta then was run down, the play being recorded Appling to Dykes to Ruel to Dykes to Ruel to Appling. Jurges reached second while they were getting Cavaretta, but the hitless parade halted when Lee fanned.

The Sox leaped to the fore in the third inning in this manner: Radcliff led off with his second hit, a double to the right field screen. Lee threw out Hayes and Simmons fanned again. Then Bonura slammed his homer into the right field bleachers, scoring behind Radcliff.

Sox Get Another.

The run which the Sox got in the fifth was produced in a hurry. Bonura doubled to the screen in right center and tallied on Washington's single.

A great cheer went up from the Cub fans when Hartnett made that hit off Earnshaw to start the latter half of the fifth. After Gabby had acknowledged the ovation, he retired and Warneke was put on to run for him. Nothing more happened.

Kennedy was wild in his first inning, the sixth, walking two, but a pair of spectacular catches by Conlan, who had replaced Simmons, staved off trouble for the Sox cause.

Well, Well, a Run.

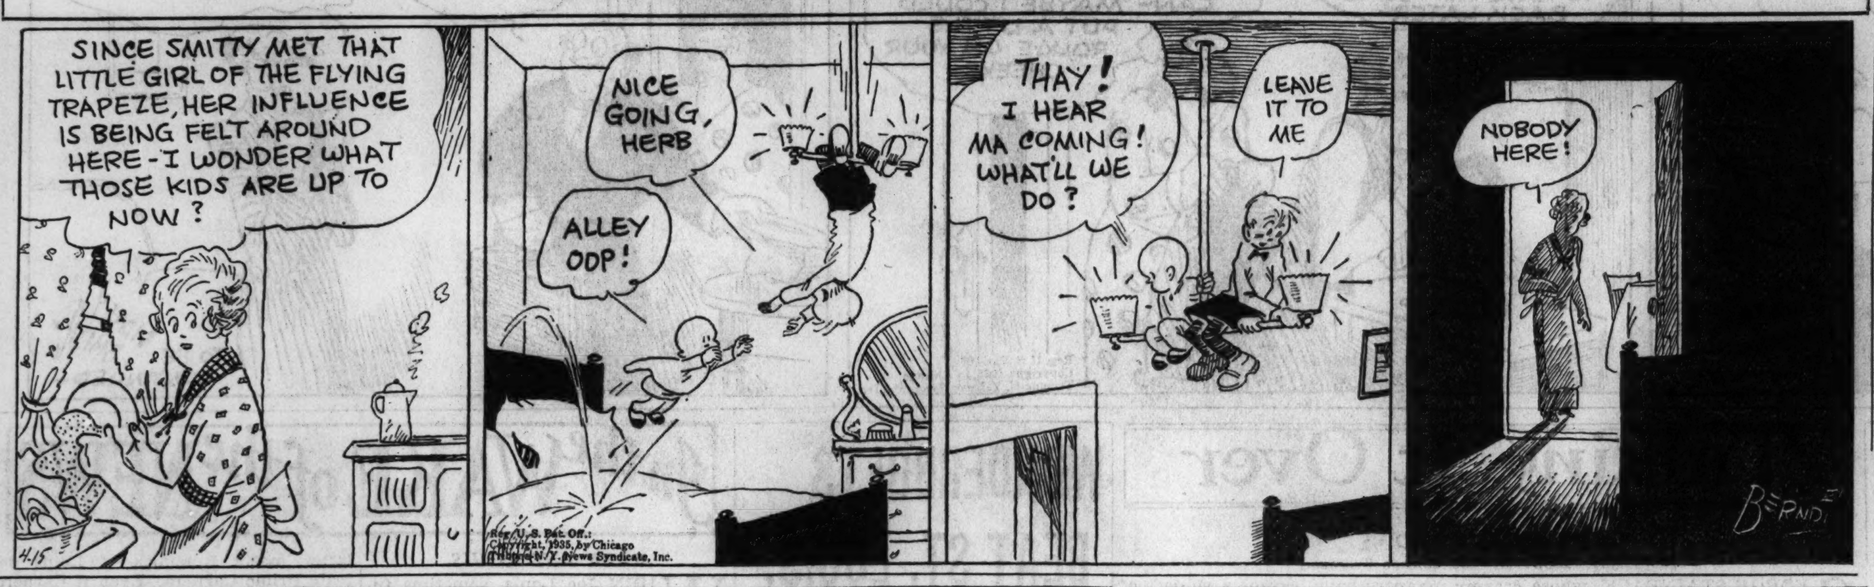
TERRY AND THE PIRATES—BUILDUP TO A BREAKDOWN

SMITTY—THE GREAT DISAPPEARING ACT



Sox Leave for Detroit; Jones to Pitch Opener

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The White Sox departed last night for Detroit, where they open the season tomorrow against the American league champions. The Sox will work out on Navin field this afternoon. Sam Jones is still slated to pitch for the Hose in the opener.

There was plenty of open space yesterday in the grandstand at Wrigley field but not in the bleachers, where even the standing room was in use. Weather and economic conditions explain this.

The Cub fans, not to mention the Cubs themselves, had a chance to speak harshly to Manager Jim Dykes in the first inning. Dykes didn't make proper allowance for wind on a pop foul off Lindstrom's bat and the ball dropped to the ground. The error in judgment didn't hurt because Lindstrom followed with a fly to Radcliff.

Because of Chuck Klein's sad showing against two of the Sox rookie pitchers in Saturday's game, Vice President-Manager Grimm dropped him from third to fifth place in yesterday's batting order. Cuyler was promoted to the third notch.

Round Robert Lewis, the Cubs traveling secretary, now acts as overlord of the Wrigley field pass gate. Robert has his own office adjoining the free entrance and all who think free tickets have been left in their name must interview the secretary.

Manager Dykes doesn't expect to release any of his rookies until the Sox return to open their at home season April 23. Pitcher John Rigney and Catcher George Caithamer will be sent out under option. One or two of the doubtful pitchers may linger a while.

CLASSIC LEAGUE LEAD WIDENED BY MONARCHS

The Monarchs increased their lead to seven games in the Classic league yesterday and the Pabsts and Budweisers are now tied for second place as a result of the double-header at the Lorraine arcade and the Harding alleys. The Monarchs defeated the Budweisers twice in the afternoon, and the Vrba Motors twice in the evening.

The Vrbas were high in the afternoon with 3,140. They also had the high individual series, Brichetto rolling 696. In the evening matches the Monarchs collected 3,060, 735 pins of which went to Leo Faetz, their leadoff man. Faetz's second game was 268, the same score Brichetto made in the afternoon. Howell, Detroit Rookie, Shows Steady Gain

Lynchburg, Va., April 14.—(AP)—Millard [Dixie] Howell, former Alabama football star and rookie outfielder with the Detroit Tigers, was slowly improving tonight from injuries sustained when struck in the head by a batted ball. X-ray photos have shown that no bone depression exists, and doctors said that unless infection sets in Howell will be able to leave the hospital within three weeks.

Giants, Indians Play 6-6 Tie in Final of Series

New York, April 14.—(AP)—The Cleveland Indians and New York Giants played a 6 to 6 tie in the final game of their spring exhibition series at the Polo grounds today. The game was called in the second half of the tenth inning because the Cleveland team had to catch a train for St. Louis.

Hal Trosky's home run with two aboard in the eighth enabled the Indians to overcome a three run deficit, incurred earlier when the Giants pounded Willis Hudlin.

San Francisco, Cal., April 14.—(AP)—Led by the rough riding Cecil Smith, nine goal star, the Texas Rangers won the third and deciding game from a picked California polo team today, 9 to 8. Cardinals Whip Browns in City Series Final, 10-4

St. Louis, Mo., April 14.—(AP)—Frankie Frisch's world champion Cardinals today added a new title to their collection—the St. Louis city baseball championship — by defeating the Browns, 10 to 4, in the fourth and final game of a spring series. The Cardinals took all except one of the contests.

A five hit rally in the fifth inning, aided by Browns' errors, paved the way to the Cardinal triumph. After rough going early in the game Bill Walker steadied and held the Browns to eight hits in eight innings. Dick Ward hurled the final inning. The Cardinals collected 15 singles off Jack Knott, Jimmy Walkup, and Fay Thomas.

Braves Defeat Red Sox, 3-2, Boston Series

Boston, Mass., April 14.—(AP)—Although Babe Ruth contributed little, the Boston Braves managed to gain a 3 to 2 victory over the Red Sox today in the final game of the city series. The Babe played five innings at first base and was an easy out on each of his three trips to the plate.

The Sox managed to push over runs in the fifth and seventh innings, and appeared to have the game clinched until the eighth, when George Hockette relieved Henry Johnson. The Braves belted Hockette for four hits and three runs.

California Still Is Given Chance at Poughkeepsie

Oakland, Cal., April 14.—(AP)—Far western rowing laurels for 1935 belong to the University of Washington today by the margin of two-fifths of a second, but California, although beaten, still remained a formidable contender for national intercollegiate honors.

Climaxing a day that saw northern shells make a clean sweep of the annual regatta, the two varsity boats yesterday engaged in one of the most spectacular races since the classic was established in 1903.

Washington, crossing the finish line of the three mile pull with an advantage of approximately six feet, was timed in 16 minutes and 12 seconds, with California two-fifths of a second back.

The finish was so close both flags dropped almost simultaneously.

The official public address system first announced California as the winner by two feet, but after a prolonged check with judges Washington was declared the victor.

While the victorious varsity, junior varsity, and freshmen crews of Washington were headed homeward today California followers recalled the Bear first string shell lost to its northern rival last year but later came through to win the national championship at Poughkeepsie.

"On the basis of what happened yesterday Washington should beat us at Poughkeepsie," Ebright said. "However, the national regatta is something else again and I think California has a chance to win it."

New York, April 14.—[Special.]—Mrs. C. V. Whitney announced today that Sidney J. Holloway of Berwyn, Pa., will train her stable of steeplechasers this coming season.

Beat Giants! Managers Cry as Race Opens

CASEY STENGEL, DODGERS—I do not look for any one team to be a standout. The Giants and Cards may have an edge on the Cubs, Pirates, and other teams, but that does not mean they cannot be headed off.

JIMMY WILSON, PHILLIES—The Phils are the dark horse of the National league. In Ethan Allen, George Watkins, and Johnny Moore I believe we have the best outfield in baseball. New York, St. Louis, and Chicago are the only teams that have anything on us now.

BILL McKECHNIE, BRAVES—The Braves are stronger because we have no cripples. I refer especially to Ben Cantwell, who promises to be just as available as he was two years ago, when he won 20 games. Babe Ruth has never worked harder. He is in better shape than he has been for several seasons and will be used to the best advantage.

PIE TRAYNOR, PIRATES—The Pirates will be improved. I look for better pitching, with the addition of Bush, Weaver, and the splendid form of Hoyt.

CHARLEY DRESSEN, REDS—Before the spring training season I liked the Cards. Now I prefer the Giants. I don't think the Dean brothers can win 50 games.

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

CONNIE MACK, ATHLETICS—The race will be wide open and I think the Athletics are going places. Our principal change, with Jimmie Foxx behind the bat, gives us a real fellow in a vital position.

WALTER JOHNSON, INDIANS—It looks like an open race. I do not think there is an outstanding club. Our team is inexperienced in some spots, but has lots of ability. It is the best club I have ever managed.

BUCKY HARRIS, SENATORS—I regard the Yankees, Tigers, and Indians, in the order named, as the toughest to beat. If our pitchers click, we will be contenders.

JIMMY DYKES, WHITE SOX—The race should witness a furious stretch drive among Detroit, Cleveland, and New York. The addition of Pitcher Pat Malone makes the Yankees contenders. Detroit has wonderful pitching and the Indians will be right up. The other five clubs should have an interesting tussle.

ROGERS HORNSBY, BROWNS—It will be a good race. The clubs seem well equalized. Whether I'll play much depends on how things stack up and on the weather. The Browns will have more punch this year.

JOE McCARTHY, YANKEES—The Yankees will be a stronger, better balanced club than the one that won 94 games last season. The out field has been improved. So has the infield, with Rolfe at third base. It looks like an open race, with Detroit and Cleveland appearing now as the clubs to beat.

JOE CRONIN, RED SOX—We feel the American league is going to see a wide open race. If we can stay within striking distance anything might happen.

BRISKO WINS MIDGET AUTO FEATURE RACE

Frank Brisko of Indianapolis won the 25 lap feature midget automobile race last night, beating Ronnie Householder of Los Angeles before a crowd of 7,500. A field of thirteen cars started.

Brisko won two other races and was defeated once. He won the Class A 15 lap event, beating Householder. His other victory came in a ten lap sprint.

FEATS OF FIGURE SKATING STARS THRILL 10,000

Applaud Three Hours of Ice Rhythm.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

International figure skating stars performed again at the Stadium last night. More than 10,000 attended the symphony of color and action, the second engagement on successive Sabbaths. This is convincing proof of the calibre of the entertainment.

If possible, last night's show moved with greater rapidity than the one a week ago which was witnessed by 16,000 and caused the Chicago Figure Skating club, the Norwegian American club and other Chicago organizations to insist that the Canadian and European skaters unite once more with the best of Chicago's skaters to give all an opportunity to enjoy their skill and grace.

Clamor for More.

Many last night had not seen the first performance. To the uninitiated a three hour program, composed entirely of figure skating and lacking a competitive angle would seem to be of too long duration. Yet gauged by the rounds of applause that all the skaters received, the repeated demands for encores, this supposition has no foundation.

The setting was magnificent. Spotlights blazed through the Stadium's darkened arena, or again, a battery of multi-colored lights, high overhead, were reflected from the varied designs painted into the rink's frozen surface.

It is unfair, perhaps, to compare the work of last night's stars. They had only the fundamentals of skating in common, for with the aid of color and sound each worked out a different routine. None approached, in point of serious interpretive effort, the translation of Brahms' Hungarian dance by Vivi-Ann Hulten, Sweden's champion. Miss Hulten's every movement was in response to the crashing chords or change in the mood of the music.

Skating Imps Please.

The throng was generous with its appreciation. Before the intermission it had repeatedly asked for encores from Miss Nancy Meyer of Chicago, and her band of skating imps; had thrilled to the complete mastery of young Robin Lee, America's national senior singles champion; laughed at the antics of Shipstead and Johnson; applauded Chicago's Eleanor Berger, Ralph McCreath of Toronto; and Germany's champion, Ernest Baier, who was runner-up for the world's championship.

And this throng unstintingly cheered the Misses Hazel and Dorothy Caley of Toronto's Junior Skating club. These girls—Hazel is 16 and her sister is 15—moved through a rigorous routine as if one mind controled their movements.

Second Part Scores.

Idi Papez and Karl Swack, Austria's title holders, again scored with their excellence. Then, after the intermission, Canadian's champions, Louise Bertram and Stewart Reburn, who were outstanding in their first exhibition a week ago, raced through their act with the same abandon which had stopped the show at their initial appearance. Maxi Herber's twisting twirls, which have won her Germany's national title for three years, reached a crescendo which caused the audience to birng her back three times with its vigorous appreciation.

NORTHWESTERN, CARLETON NINES TO MEET TODAY

The Northwestern university baseball team makes its second start of the season this afternoon, clashing with Carleton college, Northfield, Minn., at Roycemore field, Evanston.

The Wildcats returned from a disappointing road jaunt Saturday, four games with Little Nineteen teams in southern Illinois having been canceled because of rain. The Purple came home in poor condition, but Coach Paul Stewart has hopes that a five game program in the next eight days will send the team into Ann Arbor for the Big Ten opener with Michigan in fair shape.

Ray Kimbell, veteran right hander, and Tom Woods, a southpaw, will do the Wildcat pitching today. Capt. Ralph Claborn will catch, and the infield will be composed of Walsh, Henikoff, Merrell, and Collins. The outfield will have Pederson in right, Arnquist in center, and Shannan in left.

ALIX'S CONDITION O. K. AFTER LEG INJURY IN RACE

Berkeley, Cal., April 14.—(AP)—Neree Alix, University of Michigan distance runner who suffered a compound fracture of his right leg here yesterday during the track and field meet with California, was reported as "in satisfactory condition" today at the University infirmary.

Hospital attachés said the swelling had been reduced. Alix will be confined for two weeks or more. The youngster was leading in the two mile run when he turned his ankle and fell heavily, breaking his leg just above the ankle.

Radio Plans Private Title Bout for Baer

New York, April 14.—(AP)—Ancil Hoffman, manager of Max Baer, today confirmed reports of a title bout with Max Schmeling in London this summer, viewed with a skeptical eye the proposed Braddock match, and revealed a new idea in the fight business.

Hoffman said Baer was ready to meet Schmeling for Promoter Walter Rothenburg at Wembley some time late in July or early in August. Rothenburg has suggested Aug. 17, which Hoffman thinks is too late. All that is holding the bout, Hoffman said, was final arrangements for handling Baer's $300,000 guarantee.

Rothenburg has offered to place $30,000 on deposit in a New York bank when the match was signed and $270,000 in an English bank before the bout. Hoffman wants all of the guarantee deposited in New York banks.

Ah, a Private Fight.

Conversations with Rothenburg have disclosed no objections to this, he said, and Hoffman now is waiting for a cable informing him how and when the money will be put up. The $300,000 guarantee is net, the promoters agreeing to carry the English tax against Baer's earnings.

More intriguing was Hoffman's disclosure that he is entertaining negotiations to sign Baer for a "private radio fight."

"We would put on a title fight privately for some broadcasting company," Hoffman explained. "Nobody but invited guests would attend. We'll fight, all right, so long as the guarantee is okay. An advertising sponsor would put up the money."

Hoffman said the matter was in process of discussion now and he could not divulge any other details.

Meets Johnston Today.

Tomorrow he meets with his lawyers and Jimmy Johnston of Madison Square Garden to consider the Garden's proposed match with Jimmy Braddock who signed yesterday. He wasn't specific about the purpose of the attorneys.

This morning Hoffman talked with Col. John Reed Kilpatrick of the Garden, but he was prompt to declare he and Baer had not agreed to the match.

"It's a matter of judgment," Hoffman asserted. "We must decide whether there is enough public demand for a match with Braddock. After we talk with our lawyers tomorrow morning we'll try to decide the matter with the Garden."

TOM LOUGHRAN STOPS ARGENTINE IN NINTH ROUND

LIMA, Peru, April 14.—(AP)—Tommy Loughran, Philadelphia heavyweight, stopped Vicente Parille of Argentina in the ninth round of a ten round bout today.

Boxing in top form, Loughran cut Parille so badly about the face that the French referee, Chauny, stopped the fight to save the Argentine from further injury. But the 7,000 spectators booed heartily.

Loughran outboxed his rival from the outset and eventually opened three cuts on Parille's face with his sharpshooting left hand. The former light heavyweight champion finished almost as fresh as he started. Parille protested vigorously when the fight was stopped, but finally went to his corner after Loughran had argued with him to accept the referee's decision.

Austrian Takes U. S. National Ski Title

Mrs. Armstrong Wins 4th Southwestern Golf Title

Sid Brews Will Bid for U. S. Open Crown

New York, April 14.—(AP)—Sid Brews, South African professional who finished second to Henry Cotton in the 1934 British open, will be among the 149 contenders for Olin Dutra's American open golf crown at Pittsburgh in June.

In drafting plans for the 1935 tournament, to be played at Oakmont June 6, 7, and 8, the United States Golf association has reserved ten places in the field for foreign professionals. Six of these already have been assigned to the team of Japanese invading this country next month. Now Brews has definitly assured the U. S. G. A. he also will compete.

Wins South African Open Five Times.

Until his fine performance in last year's British open, Brews was best known for his exploits in South Africa, where he is attached to the Durban Golf club in Natal. Brews won the South African open championship five times and the native professional crown thrice. Although better than average off the tees and through the fairways, he is known especially for his deadly approach shots.

With only three weeks remaining before the entries close, the list of American contestants in the British amateur tournament at Royal Lytham and St. Anne's, starting May 20, has grown to seven.

The invading contingent will be led by William Lawson Little Jr., defending champion, whose stock in the golf world jumped several points on his showing in the recent Augusta invitational tournament. Remembering his crushing 14 and 13 defeat of Carpenter Jim Wallace in the finals last year, British followers of the game already have posted the husky Californian as the favorite, despite the fact that only twice in history has the same player won the title in successive years.

Tailer May Compete.

The other Americans entered include Dick Chapman, Greenwich, Conn.; Robert W. Knowles Jr. of Boston; Guy Hayes of North Andover, Mass.; John H. Forsman of New York; Robert A. Stranahan of Toledo, O., and Capt. A. Bullock-Webster of Monterey Park, Cal.

REBUILD MUTUEL DEPARTMENT AT AURORA COURSE

Other Improvements Are Near Completion.

When President Robert S. Eddy drew up his first plans for improving the Aurora race course he expected to go no farther this season than rebuilding the stands in modernistic concrete. When he arrived from New Orleans a few weeks ago he decided that this year would be as good a time as any to pave the entire lawn and to erect a new stewards' stand of steel and plate glass. And now, as long as the concrete mixers and the workmen are on hand, there seems no stopping him. He expects to build an entire new mutuel plant before the Aurora meeting opens the Illinois racing season May 1.

Remodeling the Aurora mutuel plant entails numerous important changes. At present the mutuel main line is of the standard two-sided type, with sellers' windows facing toward the track and the cashiers' windows on the side away from the track.

Gives Betters More Room.

President Eddy plans to rip out the two-sided mutuel plant and to replace it with a single line—sellers' windows filling one-half of the space and cashiers' windows taking up the other half. Carrying out this plan would move the entire mutuel plant back some 40 feet farther from the front of the grand stand and would make the space beneath the Aurora stands a larger unencumbered area than is available at any other Chicago track.

Work on the other physical improvements, in progress for a month, is moving steadily toward completion, and the remodeling job should be done several days before the opening. The concrete paving of the lawn in front of the grand stand is in, and the end of this week should see the completion of the new stand for the officials.

Replace Grandstand Seats.

The construction of the concrete ramps leading from the lawn into the stands and from the stands to the betting ring beneath, will require more time, and after they are completed there still will remain the job of replacing the bench seats in the stand with the thousands of theater type seats shipped from the dismantled Jefferson Park at New Orleans.

Meanwhile, with the racing strip rapidly nearing racing condition, more and more horses are arriving daily to start training for the first meeting of the Chicago season. Slightly less than 1,000 are expected to be on hand when the track throws open its gates two weeks from Wednesday.

NORTH AND SOUTH TENNIS TOURNEY TO START TODAY

Pinehurst, N. C., April 14.—(AP)—Wilmer Allison, top ranked American amateur, will face a field of Davis cup and regional stars in the first round of the seventeenth annual north and south tennis tournament opening here tomorrow.

Allison, who was beaten by Frank Shields in the final round of the event last year, will come here from Atlanta where today he won the Atlanta invitational title by defeating Bryan Grant, a Davis cup prospect also is entered here.

Other Davis cup players entered include Gregory Mangin, Newark, N. J., Gilbert Hall, Orange, N. J., and Marcel Rainville and Laird Watt, Canadians.

The tournament will be watched by members of the United States Davis cup committee who must make replacements to the team, because George Lott, Lester Stoefen, and Ellsworth Vines turned professional. Howard Voshell, New York, a member of the committee, will be referee.

It will be the first outdoor tournament of the season for Mangin, Rainville and Watt.

NEBRASKA HAS PROSPECTS FOR LIGHT, FAST TEAM

Lincoln, Neb., April 14.—(AP)—A lighter team, a fast team, and an aggressive team is the way Coach D. X. Bible tonight sized up the University of Nebraska football prospects. The huskies completed their spring training routine with an inter squad game yesterday.

"Our biggest task is to develop reserve strength at tackle and guard, particularly at tackle," Bible said. "We are fairly strong at end and have good reserve strength at that position. Morrison gives us an experienced man at center.

"I believe there is enough competition for all starting positions to give us an aggressive, fighting team, one that should be a marked improvement over last year's squad. We have uncovered some excellent sophomore replacements, and have an abundance of above average back field material."

Most men who merit consideration for varsity berths next fall reported for spring practice. The exceptions were Lloyd Cardwell, half back, who has been competing in track; Sam Francis, full back, out with an injured knee; Bernie Scherer, end; Henry Bauer, quarter back, and Virgil Yelkin, end, who have been carrying heavy scholastic schedules, and Ron Douglas who has been bothered with bad ankles.

Complete Wrestling Card for Marigold Wednesday

Promoter Fred Kohler has completed the wrestling card at Marigold Gardens, Wednesday night. Bert Ruby and Jack Brown, rival light heavyweights, will clash in the windup, scheduled for 90 minutes. Al Williams, Fox Lake light heavyweight, is matched with Lou Talaber in the 30 minute semi-windup. Frank Malcewicz, Utica, N. Y., brother of Joe, is to meet Johnny Silvy in another 30 minute event. Charley Peterson, north side veteran, will face Max Martin, a newcomer from New York. Enrico Marchi and Emanuel Cortez will open the show in a 30 minute bout.

MIDWEST LEAGUE MEETS.

The Midwest Baseball league will hold its weekly meeting at 30 North Wells street tonight.

C. Y. O. Juveniles Meet Tonight on 70 Bout Program

Competition in the second annual Catholic Youth organization juvenile boxing tournament will be resumed tonight at the C. Y. O. center gymnasium, 31 East Congress street. More than 70 bouts are scheduled for two rings. The opening fight will get under way at 7 o'clock.

After six nights of warfare the original entry field of 1,450 boys seeking one of the 20 C. Y. O. juvenile championships has been cut considerably, but hundreds still remain who have not engaged in their first round match yet. At the end of tomorrow night's boxing the committee expects to have run off in full the first round of the tourney.

Competition in the juvenile meet is limited to two rounds of one minute each, and no contestant is allowed to box more than once on any night. As a result, the tournament so far has been free of injuries. The C. Y. O. staf of trainers and doctors always is at the ringside to prevent injury to the boys.

Following tomorrow night, activity will be discontinued because of religious obligations marking Holy week. The winners will return to the C. Y. O. gym April 24 and 25 to resume their battles, T. F. O'Connell, director of boxing, announced yesterday.

Tony Klimas Win C. Y. O. Table Tennis Singles Title

For the second successive year Tony Klimas, from St. Theodore's parish, won the men's singles title in the C. Y. O. table tennis tournament yesterday. Irene Kurek of St. Hyacinth's finished first in the women's division. Other winners were:

Men's doubles, Klimas and Bartolini [St. Theodore]; women's doubles, Weber and Tracy [St. Mary's, Evanston]; mixed doubles, Jack and Ruth Kinsella [St. Ethelreda].

TROUT STREAMS LOCATED WITHIN 240 MILE DRIVE

Wisconsin Waters Offer Sport for Anglers.

BY BOB BECKER.

Although a trout fisherman naturally cannot expect to find as good fishing fairly close to Chicago as he can get in the country farther to the north, there are a few spots within a fairly easy drive where one should be able to catch a few brooks, browns, and rainbows. Here are a few tips on spots in Wisconsin that are between 215 and 240 miles from Chicago.

One of the most promising areas in southern and central Wisconsin is in the area around Wautoma. One of the streams is Willow creek, which is open to fishing from the first bridge below the head of the stream to the town of Redgranite. Redgranite is ten miles west of Wautoma on state route 21.

Pine River Worth Trying.

Another stream in this area worth a try is the Pine river, which is best entered anywhere between the city of Pine River and Poy Sippi. The river runs in a southeasterly direction about thirteen miles north of Wautoma. Browns and rainbows are in this stream.

There is a trout club which controls about six miles of the stream and charges 25 cents a day for fishing. This is an interesting enterprise. It's the only one we have heard of in southern Wisconsin. One-half of the money taken in by the club goes for propagating fish in the stream and the other half goes to the farmers through whose lands the stream flows.

Rainbows in White River.

Another good trout stream in this district is the White river, which has both browns and rainbows. This stream starts near Wautoma and runs into the Fox river some twenty miles away. It can be entered either at Wautoma, which is on state route 21, or at Neshkoro, which is on state route 73.

The Mecan river, which has brooks, browns, and rainbows, originates a few miles above Richford, on state route 21 and flows through Germania into Lake Puckaway. The only town of any size nearby is Coloma, which is five miles west of Richford. There is also a trout club on this stream which operates in the same way as the Pine River club.

Other Good Streams.

A little farther north and west there is the Big Roche-A-Cri creek, which flows into the Wisconsin river eight miles west of Friendship. This creek can be entered at the bridge where it crosses state highway 13. There are brooks and browns in the creek, and the entering place mentioned is eight miles north of Friendship.

There are several other pretty good streams in this general area, including the Oxford, which we fished last year.

CHATT BREAKS CASTING MARK WITH 282 FEET

Howard Chatt set a new record, with an average cast of 282 feet, to lead the opening of the weekly outdoor fly casting events sponsored by the Illinois Casting club, at the Washington park pond yesterday. The old record was 272 feet.

Chatt, in one attempt, cast a distance of 307 feet. He also tied for first place with Nick Schroeder in the five-eighth ounce accuracy bait event with a 97 per cent score, and finished second in the dry fly with 93. Results:

LAKE FOREST TO OPEN CARD WITH CHICAGO TODAY

Lake Forest college will open its 1935 baseball season this afternoon when it meets the University of Chicago nine at Lake Forest in the first of a two game series. Tomorrow the Gold Coasters will travel to the Maroon field for a return engagement.

Coach Ralph Jones has built a team of almost all new men, as only three veterans returned for service this spring. Doug Shaus of Milwaukee, Wis., will probably draw the opening pitching assignment against the Chicago nine and is likely to be opposed by Bill Haarlow.

Tomorrow the Lake Forest pitcher probably will be Evert Larson, Iron Mountain, Mich. George Gruendel, former Lake View prep player, has clinched the catching job. Christensen will be at first, Gottlieb at second, Eiserman at short, and Fuchs at third. In the outfield will be Lefty Rouse, Bade, and Emery or Roberts.

Handball Champions to Meet in Match Wednesday

Three National A. A. U. handball champions will take part in a feature match at the Community Recreation center, 4719 West Madison street, Wednesday night. The California team of Joe Gordon and Andy Berry, who recently won the 1935 National A. A. U. doubles title, will meet Joe Platak and Bob Weiller, Chicago. Platak and Weiller have just returned from Washington, D. C., where Platak won the A. A. U. national singles crown and, paired with Weiller, finished fourth in the doubles.

Play 1st Title Games in W. Side Tourney Tomorrow

U. S. CALLS LAST LIBERTY BONDS OF WORLD WAR

Finishes 8 Billion Refunding Plan.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 14.—[Special.]—The last of the Liberty bonds, floated to pay America's bills during the world war, were today called for retirement on Oct. 15. The call was issued by Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau.

"The last of the Liberty bonds have now been called. And so in this seventeenth year after the armistice, these famous securities move from the realm of government finance to the pages of history," Secretary Morgenthau said in a formal statement accompanying his order.

Finishes Refunding Program.

Calling of the last war time bonds completes an 8 billion dollar bond refunding program which the treasury has been carrying on for two years. When the bonds called today are retired on Oct. 15, there will be no more government bond refinancing until 1940.

Approximately 100 million dollars a year will be saved because this 8 billion dollars in Liberty bonds has been refunded into securities bearing lower interest rates, Secretary Morgenthau estimated. He pointed out that the bonds called today carry 4¼ per cent interest, whereas the average government interest rate now is 2.86 per cent.

The bonds called are all Fourth Liberty loan bonds whose serial numbers end in the digits 3 or 4. They aggregate 1 billion 250 million dollars and are the last of what was once the largest government loan in history.

Totaled 7 Billions.

When the Fourth Liberty loan was floated in 1918 it amounted to approximately 7 billion dollars. All these bonds, except those called today, as well as those in the other Liberty loan, have already been refunded or called.

Sometime between now and Oct. 15, when they will cease to draw interest, these last Liberty bonds may be exchanged by their holders for a new government bond bearing a lower interest rate, Secretary Morgenthau explained. When this refunding offer will be made he did not indicate.

Morgenthau hailed the completion of government bond refunding until 1940 and the prevailing easy money rates as a sign of improved business.

"The great importance of cheap money to improve business conditions," he said, "is not generally realized. The great corporations came into the market to attend to their necessary financing. The financial pages of your newspapers reflect the impressive change in the dimensions of their operations. Let me give you the figures.

Private Refunding Grows.

"During March, 1934, the total volume of corporate refunding amounted to only $12,500,000, with no lowering in the interest rate. But during March of this year, corporate refunding exceeded $112,000,000—or nine times as much as during the previous March. And the interest rate on the new issues this year shows an average decrease of almost 1½ per cent, which meant a saving of more than one and a half million dollars. That is REAL refunding. It shows conclusively that the financial log-jam has been broken.

"These developments have a very definite meaning in your every day life. They affect not only the taxpayer but every stockholder, producer, consumer, and worker. We are now just on the eve of seeing the substantial benefits of this fundamental change. There is no longer any reason why capital should not flow normally into the arteries of business."

Stresses Interest Saving.

The saving of 100 million dollars a year in public debt interest through the 8 billion dollar bond refunding was stressed by Secretary Morgenthau. He said that 65 million a year had been saved already and that another 35 millions had been netted by refundings now under way, including the one launched today.

Admitting that the New Deal has run the government into debt deeper than it has ever been, Morgenthau pointed out that the prevailing easy money policy has kept interest rates so low that public debt costs are actually lower than when the debt was lower.

"The annual interest cost on today's debt amounts to 800 million dollars," he said, "and you would naturally suppose, in view of the fact that the debt is the largest in our history, that the interest cost must also be the largest. But it is not.

"We are carrying the greatest national debt in our history for less money than it cost back in 1925 when the national debt was smaller by 8 billion dollars."

Discuss Expenditures.

Secretary Morgenthau also attempted a justification of the New Deal's unprecedented expenditures. Recalling that President Roosevelt had estimated that the two years ending June 30, 1935, would cost 9 billion 300 million dollars, Morgenthau said the total would actually be lower by 2 billion dollars.

Approximately 1 billion 700 million dollars of the money "spent" is in loans on which "we may expect repayments in substantial amounts," Morgenthau said. The largest item of expense has been 3 billion 400 million dollars for relief.

Price of Burley Tobacco Moves Slightly Upward

The average price of air cured burley type tobacco was 16.5 cents a pound during the week ended April 13, compared with 16.4 cents in the preceding week and 16.5 cents a pound in the same week last year, according to the H. A. Stich Tobacco Index.

They May Be Old, but What Young Ideas!

Applications to the Burlington railroad's publicity stunt of carrying 44 sets of twins on its new twin Zephyr trains today included one from two sisters, 73 years old. Officials were somewhat worried that the high speed the trains attain might prove too much of a strain for persons of advanced age. Suggesting politely that possibly the old ladies might not be able "to take it," they were somewhat astounded at the reply:

"O! That won't bother us. We always travel by airplane."

Another incident in connection with the selection concerned an Aurora woman who applied, insisting she looked exactly like her sister. Repeated questions of where her sister lived brought the same statement of resemblance. The applicant finally admitted her sister had been dead for some time, "but I looked exactly like my twin sister when she was living."

The Townsend plan would subsidize 50,000,000 persons in enforced idleness, says Joseph A. Rushton, partner of the brokerage firm of Babcock, Rushton & Co. With a population of 124,000,000 persons in this country this leaves 74 million, he says. But of this total 60,000,000 are ineligible to work because of child labor laws, leaving only 14,000,000 of which 13,999,998 are unemployed.

"This leaves just you and me," says Rushton, "and I'm all worn out."

North Western railway officials are chuckling over results of a semi-publicity gag. The last car of the North Western Limited has been painted with a shining coat of aluminum which contrasts sharply with the balance of the train. Inquiry as to the purpose brought the answer: "To make people ask questions."

The car recently was air conditioned and the Pullman company suggested the new color. The startling contrast has produced the desired results, for every one seeing the train has been extremely puzzled over this departure from conventional garb.

A mite of comfort for the man who finds that Father Time is doing a bit of silverwork on his hair was contained in some remarks by Fred W. Sargent, president of the North Western railway, at the recent stockholders' meeting.

"We measure the value of a man to our organization not by his age, but by the amount of energy he puts into his work," Mr. Sargent said. "Many a gray haired man in our company puts as much energy into his work as any young man.

"I have in mind several railroad engineers who in a short time will reach the age of seventy when, under the rules, they must retire. This is a remarkable group of men. Each is in fine physical condition and is capable of giving at least five years more of service."

HUDSON MOTOR EARNS A PROFIT IN FIRST QUARTER

Operations of the Hudson Motor Car company during the first quarter of 1935 were on a profitable basis, Roy D. Chapin, president, stated in issuing the annual report for 1934. Last year the company showed a net loss of $3,239,201, after all charges, compared with a loss of $4,409,929 in 1933.

The company's production during 1934 was double that of 1933 and the amount of wages paid increased from $6,000,000 to $12,000,000, the report states. Although working capital increased by $1,000,000 during the first quarter of this year, Mr. Chapin said, the directors thought it advisable to increase working capital further, so the company sold privately $6,000,000 of notes.

CROP DAMAGE, INFLATION HINTS SEND WHEAT UP

Speculative Attitude Changes in Week.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

The violent upward reaction in wheat prices in the Chicago market last week found its impulse in developments in Washington and in the southwestern winter wheat country. While nature was deflating crop prospects the national administration, by a series of maneuvers, was doing its best to inflate values by monetary tinkering of the type that made conservative folk shudder in the days of William Jennings Bryan.

The week witnessed one of those curious changes in the attitude of speculators that cannot be explained on the basis of news developments alone. A week ago wheat at 91 cents a bushel [new crop futures] looked overpriced to many traders. At the close of the market Saturday wheat at a dollar a bushel looked cheap—at least to a great many people. The mental outlook of traders appeared completely changed.

Imagination Is Big Factor.

It was in the imagination of the speculators themselves that wheat suddenly assumed an added value. The imponderables of the speculative mind cannot be assayed as can other price making factors with reasonable accuracy.

It was the combination of a pessimistic appraisal of the crop prospects and the implications of the President's action in lifting silver prices that fired the speculative imagination.

The prices posted Saturday on the new crop wheat futures represented an appreciation for the week of 8 to 9 cents a bushel. Seldom in recent few years have values been ballooned to that extent in so short a period.

Good Spring Wheat Crop Needed.

At this time the winter wheat crop is placed in the neighborhood of 436 million bushels. Last year the crop aggregated 405 million bushels. The prospective increase, however, cannot be reckoned as favorable when it is considered that 1934 was a year of extremely poor crops. Normally, the United States produces in excess of 600 million bushels of winter wheat, although that mark has not been reached for the last two years.

Nor will the total crop, including spring wheat, meet domestic requirements unless the northwest spring wheat territory produces a good crop.

BELGIAN GOVERNMENT WILL MAINTAIN GRIP ON EXPORTS TO U. S.

Washington, D. C., April 14.—(AP)—To prevent Belgian producers from flooding the American market with low priced goods as a result of devaluation of the belga, the Belgian government has informed the state department it will supervise exports through price fixing and export licenses.

The Belgian ambassador, Count Robert Vander Straten-Ponthoz, in a memorandum made public today, informed Secretary Hull that a system of export licenses designed to limit shipments of cotton and wool rugs, cement, bricks, tableware, and crushed stone within reasonable amounts would become effective immediately.

Similar licenses might be required for the export of other articles from Belgium, the ambassador explained, if it became necessary to protect American goods from unreasonable detrimental competition.

The Belgian government, unable to maintain the belga, or Belgian franc, on the gold standard, devaluated the currency 28 per cent immediately after announcement of the signing of a new reciprocal trade agreement with the United States. The new pact reduces tarifs an average of 24 per cent on 47 Belgian products, in return for Belgium making reductions averaging 35 per cent on 22 American products and granting the United States quota and tax concessions.

OVER 7½ BILLION U. S. SECURITIES MATURE IN YEAR

New York, April 14.—[Special.]—Obligations of the United States government in the hands of the public which will mature within twelve months amount to $7,683,766,480. They consist of treasury bonds, consols, notes, and noninterest bearing discount bills.

The Fourth Liberty 4¼s outstanding have been reduced to approximately $1,300,000,000 with the payment of $315,430,700 in cash as the balance of the bonds of this issue previously called for redemption. The remaining block has now been called for redemption on Oct. 5.

FOREIGN BANKS TO HELP CHINESE IN SILVER CRISIS

Agree to Suspend Metal Exports.

SHANGHAI, April 14.—(AP)—Foreign bankers operating in China pledged their coöperation today to Chinese financial authorities in their efforts to meet the nation's accentuated monetary problems growing from America's boosted silver prices.

In a conference with T. V. Soong, new chairman of the board of directors of the Bank of China and former minister of finance, the foreign financiers, it was understood, agreed to undertake no transactions derogatory to China's efforts to maintain the silver standard.

Most important in this respect, it was reported, the foreigners agreed not to attempt further exports of silver, although a handsome profit is available, despite the national government's silver export and equalization fees.

Good Profits Reported.

During recent months, however, the foreign banks allegedly exported a majority of their silver holdings, realizing neat profits on the transactions. Many Chinese believe the foreign banks, by their alleged silver exports, are chiefly responsible for the present silver shortage and resultant tightened credits.

An American attending today's conference was J. A. Mackay, assistant vice president of the National City bank of New York and manager of the institution's local branch. Mackay, along with others at the conference, was reticent concerning details but it was indicated the foreign banks are agreeable to coöperating with the national government's efforts to preserve the stability of the currency.

Chinese Finances Disturbed.

America's climbing silver prices have gripped the keenest attention of the Chinese government and of private financiers, because as American prices ascend China's difficulties in controlling its silver dollar increase correspondingly.

With a great disparity between the Chinese and world silver prices the urge to smuggle Chinese silver abroad is increased.

Nanking dispatches indicate the national government is cognizant of this danger and has therefore ordered customs authorities to tighten their anti-smuggling vigilance.

The reaction among China's fiscal experts and economists to the United States' latest silver action is gloomy. They feel China's trade and commerce are doomed to further depression and dislocation.

WHEELER TO ASK U. S. OWNERSHIP OF RAILROADS

Washington, D. C., April 14.—(AP)—Outright government ownership and operation of the railroads, beginning next January, was proposed today by Senator Wheeler [Dem., Mont.], chairman of the senate interstate commerce committee.

Wheeler's plan for a federal corporation to take over the nation's carriers is embodied in a bill that he has prepared for introduction tomorrow. The corporation would exchange its stock and debentures for the existing securities of the railroads on the basis of their current market value and the 1930 earnings.

Wheeler, long an advocate of public ownership of utilities, has been working on the bill since before congress convened. In drafting it he has conferred with Joseph B. Eastman, federal coördinator of transportation.

Wilfred W. Fry to Address Rotary Club Tomorrow

Wilfred W. Fry, president of N. W. Ayer & Son, Inc., one of the country's largest advertising agencies, will speak before the Rotary club at the Hotel Sherman at noon tomorrow. His subject will be "Whither Business."

BUSINESS IN CHICAGO IMPROVES; WHOLESALE LINES LEAD MOVEMENT

Chicago business turned upward last week with wholesalers leading the procession, according to the Chicago Association of Commerce. Middlemen found conditions spotty, due to curtailed interest in parts of the middle west adversely affected by dust storms and floods, but volume in general was said to be satisfactory.

Cotton goods, rugs, and Easter finery encountered the best demand from buying retailers. Along State street and other commercial centers bad weather held trade in check for several days. Saturday, however, found the consumer back in real action.

Mail order houses reported another good week. In all lines—wholesale, retail, and mail order—collections and other trade signs revealed an easier credit condition.

Utilities reported another good week. Railroad business continued ahead of last year. Steel production is holding fairly well with belief expressed that May will register a pronounced upward trend.

GAINS REPORTED IN COLLECTIONS, CREDIT SALES

St. Louis, April 14.—(AP)—Collections and credit sales in the United States continued to increase during March despite unfavorable weather in many sections, a monthly survey by the National Retail Credit association disclosed today.

Average increases of 5.1 per cent in collections and 3.9 per cent in credit sales were shown. The survey covered 21,744 retail stores in 73 cities.

Hattiesburg, Miss., with a rise of 50 per cent, led the fifty-six cities reporting increased collections. The 38 per cent jump registered by Hutchinson, Kas., was the greatest among the fifty cities having larger credit sales. Eleven cities reported decreases in collections and credit sales declined in sixteen.

Collections and credit sales were only fair in the eastern states. Collections were good but credit sales only fair in southern states like Florida and South Carolina. Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, and Illinois reported substantial increase in collections and credit sales. Slight increases prevailed throughout the southwest. Credit sales were "spotty" throughout the far west, with mining regions reporting generally improved business conditions.

NEW LIVE STOCK SERVICE GIVEN BY MILWAUKEE

Live stock of shippers located within 10 miles of Milwaukee road stations, intended for shipment to Chicago, will be picked up in motor trucks and hauled to the railroad without charge, effective May 1, it was announced yesterday by E. B. Finegan, freight trafic manager.

The service will be available on shipments of 1,000 pounds or more to be forwarded in carload lots at present carload rates. Shippers doing their own hauling will be allowed 3 cents per 100 pounds.

The move is a further experiment in providing live stock shippers railroad service as convenient as that now offered by motor truck freight lines handling live stock, Finegan said. Sixty-four stations in Illinois and Iowa will be offered the service for the trial.

A. E. Lawrence Goes with Federal Life Insurance

A. E. Lawrence has been named head of the group life, health, and accident department of the Federal Life Insurance company, Isaac Miller Hamilton, president, announced yesterday. Growing interest in industrial accident protection and wholesale insurance are making this division one of the most important in the business, President Hamilton said. Mr. Lawrence for the last four years has been associated with Continental Assurance company, and prior to that was with Travelers Insurance company.

Gain in Income Reported by Superheater Company

The Superheater company reports that its net income for the first quarter of 1935 totaled $160,990 compared with $101,233 in the corresponding 1934 quarter.

Detroit Edison Company Net Income Shows Drop

Net income of the Detroit Edison company in the 12 month period ended March 31 amounted to $5,369,572, compared with $6,921,111 in the preceding 12 months.

Airline Unit to Be Used on Regular Train

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

A two car, articulated streamline passenger unit which can be attached at the rear of conventional trains is being constructed at the Chicago works of the Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company, officials of the company announced yesterday.

The unit, which is expected to be ready next fall, is being built for experimental purposes and to demonstrate the advantages of the latest fashion in rail passenger travel in those sections of the country that have not yet seen the new equipment, officials stated.

Light weight steel alloy will be used in the structure and outside plates of the cars, while the interior finish and trimmings will be in aluminum. The unit will resemble closely the new high speed passenger train being built in the same shop for the Chicago-St. Louis passenger service of the Illinois Central system.

Will Have "Duplex" Sleeper.

There will be a radical departure from streamlined equipment built thus far in the forward section, or car, of the unit. This section will be a sleeper of the "duplex" type now in use in standard equipment on the Pennsylvania railroad on heavily traveled runs. It will contain 15 single bedrooms, eight of which will be "upstairs" and seven on the regular level. Each room will have a traverse bed which will form a sofa by day and each room will have individual lighting, heating, toilet and air conditioning facilities.

The first two cars of this type were built to contain duplex arrangements at each end. They are on the Philadelphia-Pittsburgh service. Two years later, in 1933, the Pennsylvania took two cars each with eight rooms on each tier. They are on the New York Washington run. Pennsylvania officials say the cars have been very popular with travelers.

Buffet In Rear Car.

The rear car will contain rooms, buffet and lounge, the latter extending to the rounded end used in the streamline trains of the Union Pacific. There will be four double bedrooms in the forward half of the car, one of which will have longitudinal beds, lower and upper. Light refreshments will be served in the buffet. The lounge will take up the remainder of the car, about a half, and will seat 26 persons.

Pullman officials claim a number of advantages for the articulated unit. One is a saving in weight resulting from reduction in the number of trucks there being one set of wheels between two cars. Another advantage is improved riding qualities by eliminating motion between cars. A third is reduction of friction, and also maintenance costs, because of the lesser number of trucks.

The cars will be 9 feet 1 inch wide, the regular Pullman standard, and they will be 64 feet in length. They will be slightly shorter than standard Pullmans.

FEDERAL LAND BANKS REPORT 3,664 FARM SALES

Washington, D. C., April 14.—(AP)—Sales of farms by federal land banks were reported today by W. I. Myers, governor of the Farm Credit administration, to have totaled 3,664 during the six months period ending Feb. 28, 1935.

During the comparable six month period of a year previous, he said, only 1,968 farms were sold. This increase, Myers said, reflects a renewed interest in farm ownership.

The St. Paul Land bank led all others with 849 farms sold, an increase of almost 100 per cent over the corresponding period of the preceding year. Other sales were:

LETTERS

Letters of not more than 200 words, addressed to the Financial Editor, will be printed in these columns from time to time.

We Did Read It.

Chicago, April 12.—Please read my letter of a few days ago to your editorial editor before you print any more nonsense on what you call the silver racket. You appear to worry about what will happen if the treasury should try to sell some silver on the open market. Why don't you consider what must happen to the price of gold when the United States stops buying foreign gold at any price? The gold racket is costing the U. S. treasury billions of dollars, while the silver racket costs almost nothing and the silver coins do not wear out.

LEROY L. HUNTER.

The Export-Import Bank.

Chicago, April 10.—It is with extreme interest that we note an article on your financial page of April 9, under the title "Plan Liberal Loans to Aid Trade Abroad." We would be very much interested in learning what was the basis for the information contained in this article. We have endeavored to secure help in financing our export business, and have contacted our own bank as well as the Export-Import bank, particularly with a view to getting our bank to carry an account after our foreign customers have paid the money to their bank in that country, and where that country has restricted the export of dollars, causing delays in transmission to the export control board of that nation.

We believe employment and business would be considerably improved if the Export-Import bank would actually set about to pursue a liberal policy in aiding the exporter, instead of just getting out a lot of publicity. We have been unable to secure any coöperation whatsoever from the Export-Import bank.

NATHAN GOLDMAN,
President General Transformer Corporation.

STEEL OUTPUT EXPANDS AFTER RECENT DECLINE

Rate Rises to 45 Pct.; May Go Higher.

After four consecutive weekly declines, steel mill operations last week met greater resistance and advanced 1 point to 45 per cent, says the magazine Steel. In steel circles there is a belief that another peak in production will be realized this quarter.

The impending freight rate advances have not encouraged speculative buying, the journal says, but after carefully analyzing the effect of the new rates on production costs, the steelmakers are seriously considering a price increase for the third quarter. If this should develop, the review continues, there may be a repetition of the industry's experience last year, when a buying movement to rebuild stocks ahead of price increases for the third quarter carried the steel operating rate up to 63 per cent in June.

Output in Line with Shipments.

"Ingot output now has been brought more in line with finished steel shipments," says the magazine, "and any expansion or contraction in consumer requirements should become more quickly reflected in the steel works operating rate over the next several weeks.

"Consumers have been showing a tendency to close the gap between material stocks and finished products, particularly in the automobile industry. While automobile assemblies are still on the increase, 109,000 units having been built last week, or 1,000 more than in the preceding week, steel releases have shown a slight but progressive reduction."

Cities Federal Funds.

The government's work relief program will not develop actual needs for steel until after July, the review says, but thousands of cities and smaller communities are rushing construction projects to obtain a slice of the huge federal appropriation.

Operations last week rose 5 points to 55 per cent at Youngstown, 2 to 34 at Buffalo, and ½ to 50½ at Chicago. Detroit production was off 6 points at 82, New England 1 at 52, and Cleveland 5 at 64. Pittsburgh was unchanged at 34, Birmingham 55½, Wheeling, 76, and eastern Pennsylvania 29½ per cent.

BRITISH TRADE MOVES FORWARD DURING MARCH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 14.—Board of trade returns issued today show that March was the best month this year for British industry, revealing a substantial improvement in exports and imports. Not only were figures substantially higher than for March, 1934, but they also exceeded those of January this year.

Comparative export totals were: March, 1935, $179,758,720; February, 1935, $170,487,505; January, 1935, $177,405,490; March, 1934, $165,342,650. These totals show that the figures for March advanced by $9,271,365 on February, $2,353,380 on January, and $14,416,220 on March of last year.

Of the increase, $12,157,485 was in articles wholly or mainly manufactured, the largest totals and increases being in the iron and steel industries, electrical goods, machinery, cotton yarns and manufactures, woolens and worsted yarns and manufactures, and vehicles, including locomotives, ships, and aircraft. In addition to these, coal has shown a big upward tendency in exports, totaling $12,613,215, an advance of $1,131,450.

LOWER PRICED BONDS STRONG IN ACTIVE TRADE

Better Grades Affected by Refunding Plans.

New York, April 14.—(AP)—The bond market gave a good account of itself last week, despite the fact that refunding programs monopolized the attention of traders and investors for several days.

Trading volume fell below the $10,000,000 mark on both Monday and Tuesday when investment circles were absorbed in placing the new $162,000,000 federal land bank refunding issues, but when this was out of the way existing issues returned to something approaching their old time popularity and daily sales picked up.

Top Grades Slow.

High priced bonds, however, continued under the spell of the refunding idea, which has been gaining prestige rapidly over the last two or three months. Many of the best type bonds now on the active trading list are selling above their callable price and an attitude of caution prevails among institutions and other investors in casting about for this type of security. The almost superabundance of money now lying idle in banks or invested in short term government bonds that afford little income has caused a general rush among corporation executives to call in their outstanding obligations where possible and refund with securities at a lower interest rate. Among other developments of the week in this connection was the statement of Bethlehem Steel officials at the annual meeting that consideration was being given to refunding that organization's large bonded debt.

Low Priced Issues Lead.

Low priced railroad and utility bonds continued the most active groups, and despite temporary setbacks on one or two occasions when profit taking appeared, substantial advances were made by the leaders.

United States government bonds had an uneventful week and slipped back when the federal land bank bonds, which also enjoy tax exempt privileges, offered some competition in the low yield field.

The foreign section was fairly active and quiet recovery was the rule in many of the issues that had been unsettled by the political and economic tension prevalent in Europe during recent weeks.

American Home Products.

Investors' Guide: I would appreciate it very much if you would please send me information concerning stock of American Home Products.—H. P.

Answer: American Home Products corporation is a holding corporation, formed in 1926 as a merger of established units. For the succeeding six years it expanded vigorously through acquisition of going concerns purchased with its own stock.

It is one of the leading producers of drugs and drug accessories. Some of its products are Kolynos, Cascara, Freezone, Petrolagar, and Anacin. No one item accounts for more than one-fifth of total volume.

Although net sales in 1934 increased $1,500,000 over 1933, net income increased only $36,000. This reflects increased competition in the trade and the greater expenses of selling under such highly competitive conditions. The four year record of earnings follows:

	Net sales.	Net income.	Inc. per share.
1934	$16,171,000	$2,031,000	$3.02
1933	14,707,000	1,996,000	2.97
1932	15,356,000	2,644,000	3.93
1931	16,492,000	3,374,000	5.52

Current position at the close of 1934 was strong. The company could have paid off all liabilities out of current assets and still have had a balance equal to about $6.70 a share on the 672,100 shares of $1 par capital stock. The stock currently pays 20 cents a month. It deserves a fairly good rating.

No Exchange Offer Yet.

Investors' Guide: Will you kindly advise me when the proper time is to exchange United States Liberty bonds that are called for in June? I asked my local banker the above question and he said that the exchange would be in June.—K. L. H.

Answer: There has been no announcement on the part of the United States treasury as yet that there will be an offer to exchange the Liberty bonds called for payment June 15, 1935, for new bonds.

In the event that there should be an exchange offer later the time limit in which bondholders will be able to take advantage of it will depend on regulations set down by the treasury department.

Out of Business.

Investors' Guide: Can you tell me if stock of Kelvin Sultana Copper company has any value? It was incorporated in Arizona.—B. F. H.

Answer: Kelvin Sultana Copper company was incorporated in Arizona in 1910 with $5,000,000 capital stock. Its office was at Keloni, Ariz., and it owned mineral lands at Riverside, Ariz. It went out of business in 1916. Its stock, we believe, is worthless.

INFLATION TALK AGAIN COLORS WALL ST. VIEWS

Silver Mining Shares Lead General Advance.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 14.—Inflationary psychology is to the front on the stock exchange once more. The administration's new "jiggle" in silver early last week set off a buying movement in the white metal and other so-called inflationary shares that carried unchecked through the four succeeding trading sessions and redounded to the substantial benefit of the whole list.

United States Smelting, the leader of the silver group, improved its big board rating by more than $12 a share on the week. Cerro de Pasco finished the week $7 higher [after selling to the highest level in five years], Howe Sound advanced $4.50, American Smelting rose nearly $5, and International Silver $7.50 a share.

Other Shares Advance.

Industrial, railroad and utility shares shared in the advance, although on a somewhat lesser scale. The "average" on fifty representative issues shows a rise of about 2 points on the week. The week-end figure of 84.63 on the index is the highest since February.

Business volume picked up sharply, the total for the week amounting to 4,829,004 shares, or an average of about 850,000 shares daily as compared with the average of a half million or less for some time prior to the announcement of the government's new silver price "prime." Yesterday's turnover of 701,820 shares was the largest for a Saturday this year, and the week as a whole was the second most active of the year.

Bullish Sentiment Grows.

Commission house comment indicates a gradual growth of bullish sentiment in speculative circles in spite of such fresh bearish developments as the midwest duststorms, wiping out wheat crop prospects, the government's unpromising estimate on winter wheat, a renewed reduction in the steel trade's output, and a less favorable comparison of railway freight loadings.

Nor is the improved state of feeling due entirely to the presidential order jacking up the price of silver. Many traders feel that a marked expansion in trade activity is on the way in spite of the present admittedly "obscure" outlook and the standard trade reviews seem to agree with them. The current Dun & Bradstreet summary carried optimism on this point to its peak by predicting that "the near future" will bring about the "sharpest rise that has been witnessed in business in the last quarter century." The fact that the traditions of the seasons have been repeatedly upset, as for instance last year and the year before, when the early summer witnessed the unusual spectacle of an emphatic industrial expansion, affords no little consolation to some of the prophets of this forward looking school.

Other Favorable Factors.

Subsidence of European "war talk" and the resolute attitude maintained by the "gold bloc" countries after Belgium's abandonment of the gold standard were additional factors in the improvement of speculative sentiment. Railroad shares were further aided by expectations that the Supreme court will hand down a decision tomorrow holding the railroad pension act unconstitutional. True, the street anticipated the decision last Monday and even the Monday before, but, as commentators have been at pains to point out ever since the poet penned the phrase, hope springs eternal in the human breast—particularly in Wall street.

Preferred stocks had a "good" week and rather sharp runups occurred in a scattering of miscellaneous stocks.

United Air Lines Trafic Gains in First Quarter

Passenger trafic of the United Air Lines in the first quarter of 1935 totaled 29,161 persons, compared with 27,324 in the same period last year, W. A. Patterson, president reported yesterday. Niles Trammel, vice president of the National Broadcasting company, Chicago, and A. M. Burden of Scudder, Stevens & Clark, New York, have been elected to the board.

BRITISH ABANDON HOPE FOR SLASH IN INCOME TAXES

Realize Cost of Defense and Social Laws.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 14.—All hope that Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, will knock another six pence off the income tax rate has now evaporated. Although he has a pleasant surplus of more than £7,000,000, that will go automatically to the reduction of debt.

Moreover, there is a general recognition of the fact that the national government is committed to a heavy expenditure, both for national defense and social legislation. In fact, the treasury "spokesman" remarks that this year, for the first time in his memory, not a single delegation has sought personally to lay its views before the chancellor of the exchequer, although the whisky people have submitted their views in writing so as to keep their record straight.

Stock Markets Subdued.

This subdued attitude toward the budget is reflected in the stock markets, where British government stocks oscillate without inspiration. They have recovered a little on foreign buying and stand about where they did a month ago.

Commodity prices are cheerful at the moment, but the board of trade index for March has been sobering in effect. At 86.9 it has fallen to 1.2 per cent below February, and is the lowest since July, 1933. This is all the more remarkable because these prices are measured in paper pounds and the pound depreciated heavily through March. The moral is that very powerful deflationary forces are still at work throughout the world.

Double Gold Storage Charge.

A notable event during the week was an agreement reached among the big London banks to double their charge for storing gold for hoarders. To store a 400 ounce bar of gold—neatly wrapped in brown paper and marked with exact weight and fineness—now costs £2 18 shillings per annum with gold at the present price. Actually, the rate is one-thousandth of its value. The vaults under London's sidewalks are crammed with something like £350,000,000 of hoarded gold and space is naturally at a premium.

Considerable concern and annoyance are expressed here over the Roosevelt administration's further levering up of the price of silver. None of the papers says a good word for it, the chief criticism being the charge that it will demoralize Chinese economy and thus worsen world conditions.

Currency Troubles Watched.

Continental currency troubles naturally absorb the bulk of attention. It is recalled that last year when the guilder came under pressure and the redoubtable Dr. Hendryk Colijn screwed down wages he had to get out machine guns in Amsterdam and Rotterdam to handle a communist uprising. One of the banks here told the press that the Dutch funds in London increased 25 per cent last week, but nobody has any useful estimates as to totals.

Reports Transit Revenues for Week in Small Drop

Transit revenues for the week ended April 6, as reported by a representative group of companies, were slightly less than a year ago, as shown by the "transit journal" indicator, which stands at 97.95 as compared with the corresponding week in 1934. For the week ended March 30, 1935, the indicator stood 96.90.

New Zealand Reports Surplus of £500,000

WELLINGTON, N. Z., April 14.—A surplus of £500,000, attributed mainly to increased receipts from inheritance taxes and higher profits on gold sales, was announced today by J. G. Coates, minister of finance.

Miscellaneous.

MAN TO MAN, HERE IS A SENSATIONAL NEW BUSINESS.

A new idea in line with a giant industry in the making which will mean a $5,000,000,000 industry in America. It is a mechanical invention that lends itself to a wonderful presentation with a large corporation in back of it and the greatest sales program that has ever been put in a salesman's hands; that will meet conditions as they are today with very liberal compensation to our dealers. This INVENTION is in Chicago LESS THAN 6 MONTHS and when you see the evidence of cash comm. being paid to our representatives you will be amazed. FOR EXAMPLE—H. C. BLACK drew over $1,000 for the first 4 weeks of January this year. A brand-new man with no selling experience, J. TERRY, earned his first 3 weeks in this business [Jan. 14, '35], $336.00 and has averaged $26 a day for his first 69 days in this business. Another man, P. LECUYER was paid $1,201.00 in the last 4 weeks.

Ordinarily a proposition as big as this would require the purchase of expensive equipment. But our manufacturing process has been so simplified that we can furnish you with everything you need, start you off making money the very first day—with no investment on your part whatsoever.

Absolutely no experience is required to quickly become successful in this fascinating business. We train you, tell you how to start—how to establish yourself quickly—how to operate the business the very first day you are ready to go. We furnish all necessary plans, systems and equipment. Any man with ordinary intelligence and a real desire to succeed is bound to make money.

Another feature that makes this business unlike any other is that it can be operated anywhere. You can establish yourself practically over night and start enjoying an independent income at once.

This is NOT AN ORDINARY JOB and may be your opportunity. All men who are aggressive and willing workers APPLY ON MONDAY. Hotel Sherman, Room 111 at 2 p. m. [sharp] no other time.
